

WORKSHOP PROGRAM

8:00 am Registration and browsing. Coffee and doughnuts will be available for purchase.

9:00 am Passenger Arrival Records, Colonial Times to Mid-20th Century John Philip Colletta
This lecture begins with a discussion of sources for discovering the arrival time and place—and perhaps the ship—of an immigrant to colonial America, exploring U.S. passenger arrival records, especially 1820-1957, available on microfilm and the Internet. Explaining step-by-step how to conduct that search, specific examples illustrate how to use Web sites, National Archives microfilmed indexes, book indexes, and other research tools.

10:30 am 2A: U.S. Military Pension and Bounty Land Records, 1776-ca. 1916 John Philip Colletta
Military pension and bounty land files in the National Archives differ from military service records. You need certain information to initiate a search for an ancestor's file, using a variety of websites, National Archives indexes and other finding tools, and a step-by-step procedure for locating, identifying and retrieving a particular file. Two cases, Revolutionary War and War of 1812, illustrate the process.

2B: O Canada! A Model for Genealogists Michelle Bray Wilson
The tools available to the French-Canadian researcher are second to none. Learn how to uncover vast swaths of forebears in a single afternoon. In addition to the French, we'll also touch on Canadian history, British Canada and military Canada.

1:00 pm 3A: U.S. Military Service Records, 1775-ca. 1916 John Philip Colletta
This lecture explains how the service records are housed in the National Archives. Revolutionary War, War of 1812 and Civil War case studies demonstrate the step-by-step procedure for locating, identifying and retrieving specific records. Finding aids include resources in state archives, key Internet sites, National Archives indexes, and published guides.

3B: 'C G A T' - Four Little Letters: Understanding DNA Michelle Bray Wilson
A clear understanding of the available DNA tests, how they work and what they can tell you is essential to the optimal deployment of your DNA dollar. Gain a firm understanding of what DNA can do for you, what tests to take, and how to begin your analysis.

2:30 pm 4A: Only a Few Bones: Case Studies in Assembling Sources to Reconstruct Real-Life Events John Philip Colletta
The biographical facts we discover about our ancestors did not happen in a vacuum. To reconstruct their lives, therefore, the facts we discover about them must be "situated" in the proper historical context. Three 19th-century case studies demonstrate how to use multiple sources to assemble vivid accounts of ancestral events and generate biographies that portray individualized ancestors.

4B: After You Swab: Getting the Most From Your DNA Test Michelle Bray Wilson
Go beyond the ethnicity pie chart by incorporating the simple Good Practices that can immediately boost your experience. Learn about the methodologies, company-provided tools and third-party tools that can help you authenticate your paper trail, uncover unknown parentage, and generally advance your genealogy efforts.

Space may be limited in some sessions.

There is a 30-minute break between the 1st and 2nd sessions and the 3rd and 4th sessions.

About the Speakers

John Philip Colletta, Ph.D., is one of America's most popular genealogical lecturers. Knowledgeable, experienced and entertaining, he resides in Washington, D.C. For 20 years, while laying the foundation for his career in genealogy, he worked half-time at the Library of Congress and taught workshops at the National Archives.

Today Dr. Colletta lectures nationally, teaches at local schools, and conducts programs for the Smithsonian Institution's Resident Associate Program. He is a faculty member of the Institute of Genealogy and Historical Research (University of Georgia, Athens) and the Salt Lake Institute of Genealogy.

He has also taught for Boston University's Certificate in Family History program and three genealogy institutes where he created courses: the National Institute on Genealogical Research (Washington, DC), the Genealogical Institute of Texas (Dallas), and the Genealogical Institute of Mid-America (Springfield, Ill.).

His publications include numerous articles, both scholarly and popular, two manuals — They Came in Ships: A Guide to Finding Your Immigrant Ancestor's Arrival Record and Finding Italian Roots: The Complete Guide for Americans — and one "murder-mystery-family-history," Only a Few Bones: A True Account of the Rolling Fork Tragedy and Its Aftermath.

Dr. Colletta appears frequently on podcasts and local and national radio and television. He is featured in Episode Four of "Ancestors," the ten-part KBYU-TV series, as well as its sequel. He has received many professional honors, including fellowship in the Utah Genealogical Association and distinguished service awards from the Dallas Genealogical Society and the National Society, Daughters of Colonial Founders and Patriots.

Michelle Bray Wilson has been active in the genealogy community for 10 years, lecturing throughout the Midwest on DNA, French Canadians, and other topics. An engineer by training, Michelle's DNA expertise comes largely through self-study. Her goal in presentations is to make complex topics plainly understood.
