

Chapter Visit to the

DR. NATHAN THOMAS HOUSE

Schoolcraft, MI

July 16, 2016

The Dr. Nathan Thomas house is the only remaining Underground Railroad house left open for public tours in Michigan. It was built in 1835 a mile or so up the road from where it currently is located. Dr. Thomas constructed a much larger home for his family on the original site where they lived out their remaining years.

<https://www.nps.gov/nr/travel/underground/mi1.htm>

Members and Guests present

Dr. Nathan Thomas, his wife Pamela and two of their children—all living in the house at the time they assisted the escaping slaves through Schoolcraft

Access door to the hiding place within the attic

Girls' bedroom (the wall to the left is the wall hiding the fleeing families North and East to Canada)