

KEYS FAMILIES IN NSW PRIOR TO 1900

This is an attempt at reconstructing the KEYS families in NSW prior to 1900, based on entries in the NSWRG Birth and Marriage indexes. While it is part of a wide-ranging study of the KEYS families from Northern Ireland being carried out by a number of researchers, it includes ALL entries in the NSW indexes, regardless of their origin. Identification of a family's place of origin is made where known, and a contact is supplied where a researcher from that family is known.

Where possible, deaths have also been indicated when a positive identification could be made - the remainder of the deaths occurring in NSW to 1900 are listed at the end.

Surname variants considered are KEYS, KEYES, KEAY, KEAYS, KEAYES, and even a single KEAYZ! Other researchers on some of these lines have found family details under KEY, but I have not included this variant because of the volume, and the fact that MOST entries are genuine KEY, rather than KEYS.

The page is divided into four sections:

1. (Entries 1-117) Marriages of male KEYS where the issue retains the KEYS name
2. (Entries 118-124) Births to a KEYS mother without a father shown on the registration
3. (Entries 125-208) Marriages of female KEYS. In these cases, no issue is shown due to the likelihood of including incorrect entries when extracting from the indexes.
4. (Entries 209 on) Information supplied by other researchers, and which does not correlate with any BD&M index entries.

Within each section, entries are arranged alphabetically by christian name. All place names listed are places of registration for post-1855 events.

In the case of a family where births occurred post-1900, these have not been included.
