Page 2:5 - A sad accident occurred Thursday morning at about half past six o'clock on board the schooner lying at Willards Dock near the Greenbush & Troy Railroad Depot. The Budget gives the particulars as follows: "Two young men, brothers named William Henry & Oliver CROCKER, aged 17 & 19 years fell from the mast of the Schooner HILANDER, Capt. NICHOLSON. They were scraping the mast at the time and sitting on what is called a triangle and had got about 20 feet of the mast scraped when the roap (rope?) attached gave way, precipitating, them headlong to the deck, a distance of 40 feet. William Henry the eldest fell on the deck of the vessel striking on his side breaking his shoulder and skull. He died in about 3-1/2 hours after. Oliver the youngest fell into the hold striking upon his forehead breaking his skull and one of his arms & also splitting his nose. He died in about an hour. Neither spoke after they fell. They have parents residing in Falmouth, Mass. and sailed from Barnstable. They are the only sons.

Cor. DeFREEST held an inquest on the bodies and rendered a verdict in accordance with the above facts.

Page 2:2 - DEATH OF MAJ. GENERAL WORTH - Maj. General WORTH of the U.S. Army is no more. Intelligence of his death was received in New Orleans on the 17th inst. He expired at Antonio de Bexar, a victim to cholera, on the 7th, deeply deplored by all the officers and men of the Army. He was a brave and accomplished soldier, and the records of his heroic deeds have and will long continue to, excite the admiration of his fellow citizens. He entered the Army in 1812 when scarcely 18 years of age and has served with distinguished gallantry through all our wars.

The War Department in Washington has issued orders to pay the usual military honors to General WORTH.

Page 2:3 - Our friend SILLIMAN one of the Editors of the Cohoes Cataract has robbed Albany of one of its fairest flowers. In other words he has married one of our Albany girls and has carried her off to Cohoes. May sunshine and happiness ever attend them (from the Knickerbocker)
