

AUGUST 7, 1850

Page 2:3 - A young man named LEE committed suicide at Waterford last Wednesday morning at the Public House of Daniel MULLIGAN by cutting his throat with a penknife. While in the act, he was discovered by a young boy, but before proper assistance could be called, he had accomplished his purpose. He was from Boston and was a mechanic. He was in an entire state of destitution which may probably account for the rash act.
