

SEPTEMBER 25, 1839 CONTINUED FROM SHEET 15

DIED - In the City of Troy on Monday September 16 Mary Ann only daughter of Joseph HENRY & Ann Maria BUTLER aged 2 yrs & 5 mos. (A poem signed J.H. BUTLER which mentions she was the only child)

OCTOBER 2, 1839

Page 2:5 - DIED - At Stillwater, Saratoga County on the 22nd Miss Maria J. LIVINGSTON sister of the late Col. James LIVINGSTON in the 80th year of her age.

2:1 - An early marriage and happy couple - The Richmond Enquirerⁿ noticing the decease of Mrs. J. POLLARD late wife of Robert POLLARD of that City mentions the remarkable facts that Mr. P was but 18 and Mrs. P. 15 at the time of their marriage and that they lived happy together for the long period of sixty-five years.

OCTOBER 9, 1839

Page 2:3 There is an article about the murder of a Mrs. PEAK by her father Mr. Wood (from the Philadelphia Gazette)

Page 2:5 - MARRIED - In this Village Oct 1 by John HASTINGS, Esquire, Dr. George W. GOODELL to Miss Cylinda CHASE both of LeRoy, New York

OCTOBER 16, 1839

Page 2:4 - DEATH OF JUDGE BUEL - The painful and unlooked for intelligence of the decease of this upright and honest man reached the City yesterday afternoon by the same boat which brought hither his remains. He died on Sunday evening at Danbury, Conn. after a short but severe attack of bilious colic. In Judge Buel this community is called to mourn a highly respected member, and the State an eminently useful citizen. In him, agriculture loses a fast friend and intelligent advocate. His loss will be deeply and generally felt (Albany Advertiser of Oct 8)

OCTOBER 23, 1839

Page - FUNERAL OF THE LATE JESSE BUEL - To these manifestations of public respect for the memory of Mr. BUEL we have to add that on Wednesday afternoon his remains were deposited in the vault of the Albany Cemetery. Previous to the commencement of the funeral procession an immense concourse had assembled at the mansion house of the deceased. Here a very appropriate, eloquent, pathetic and impressive address was delivered by the Rev. B.T. WELCH followed by a fervent prayer from the same gentlemen. These ceremonies were rarely if ever performed in a better manner; in the effect we trust, was salutary upon the minds and hearts of all present. Many a glistening tear bore testimony to the pathos of the pastoral address. The procession then commenced, and from the house of the living to that of the dead a distance of more than a mile, the road was literally filled with carriages. Thus was this good man's descent to the tomb, accompanied by the strongest testimony of the respect and affections of his fellow citizens