Page 2:3 - FATAL & HORRIBLE ACCIDENT ON THE CENTRAL RAILROAD - The Albany Transcript says that Christopher REILY, a young lad of 12 or 13 years of age, met with a horrible death Friday morning a few minutes past 10 o'clock. He was crossing Montgomery Street, a few rods above Spencer Street, in the act of passing behind a train of cars going west, when another train coming east struck the unfortunate boy on the head with such force as to dash out his brains killing him instantly. He was a son of Widow REILY and was reported to have been a very promising youth.
