Page 2:3 - MURDER - Two men, one named Martin WALLACE, and an Irish companion, both laborers, left Buskirk's Bridge Tuesday evening to go to Eagle Bridge. They had been drinking pretty freely. During the evening WALLACE's companion was found dead on the highway. He had undoubtedly been beaten to death with a club. Officers were immediately sent after WALLACE, supposed murderer, and at a late hour he was arrested at Wait's Corners, some two miles north of Eagle Bridge. He was traveling towards Canada. The gloves of the murdered man and $15.00 in money were found in possession of the prisoner. The name of the murdered man is Barney MCINTYRE.
