Page 2:3 - DEATH OF DANIEL CARTHY - The decease of this old and esteemed citizen on Friday night last though, not unexpected, is an event greatly lamented. He leaves a large circle of relatives to mourn his loss. Mr. C. was afflicted for several years previous to his death with a dyspeptic complaint from which he never recovered and at last a dropsical affection terminated his well-spent life. He was distinguished for his amiable disposition, for kindness of heart; and he rendered himself useful to all who came within the circle of his influence. He was not the narrow mind that envied the good fortunes of others, but he seemed to rejoice at the prosperity of those that surrounded him. He was truly the venerated and loved center of a family circle, that appreciated the good qualities that shed a lustre over his life, and cheered the long period of his illness. To all indeed who were allied to him by the ties of family or kindred, he was an object of the highest respect & warmest attachment - the kindest of fathers and husbands, the best of neighbors and the most faithful of friends. Long will he be remembered by all who knew him. We sympathize deeply with his afflicted family, and grieve with the community around us, who have sustained an irreparable loss.
