

JANUARY 20, 1864 CONTINUED FROM PAGE 362

Page 2:5 - FATAL ACCIDENT - On Wednesday the 6th inst. George MOORE, a workman at Ex-Senator Isaiah BLOOD's Axe Factory, Ballston Spa had his leg caught in the bands of the machinery by which the flesh was torn from the bone, from the ankle to the knee and in consequence of which he died the same evening.

JANUARY 27, 1864

Page 2:2 - DROWNED - About 6 o'clock last evening, Alexander TROTTER, a resident of South Troy, but employed as a carpenter at the Watervliet Arsenal, while crossing the ice from the West Troy shore, opposite the Clinton Foundry, fell into an air hole, and in spite of the efforts made to rescue him, was drowned. Thursday morning about 9 o'clock the body was recovered, as the clothes of the deceased had caught in the ice, and the corpse drifted only a short distance below the spot where the accident occurred.

Henry LADD, a freight conductor on the Central Railroad, was killed near Rochester on the 16th inst. while passing a bridge, he was struck and thrown with violence upon the tract, but discovered in time to rescue him from two freight trains which were then passing. He lingered four days, his funeral took place in Schenectady on Friday.

Page 2:5 MARRIED - In this Village on Tuesday 26th inst by William HOLLANDS, Justice of the Peace, Mr. Jas. H. CHAMPENOY & Miss Hattie J. HOLMES, both of Albany.

Page 2:5 - An inquest was held by Coroner BRENNAN upon the body of Johanna CROAK who was killed by the 2:05 train on the Albany division of Rensselaer and Saratoga Railroad Wednesday last. The jury rendered the following verdict: "That said Johanna CROAK came to her death ~~when~~ on the Albany division of the Rensselaer and Saratoga Railroad by coming in contact with a locomotive GEORGE H. CRAMER on the cars attached to it at the intersection of said Road with New York Central Railroad and we exonerate the Company and employees of said Road from all blame and responsibility in the matter.

FEBRUARY 10, 1864

Page 2:5 - DIED - In this Village on the 3d inst., Mary QUINLAN, age 13 years.

- In this Village on the 5th inst., Mrs. Margaret NICHOLS in the 73d year of her age.