p. 2 Terrible Railroad Accident - A Bridge Gives Way and an Entire Train is Precipitated into Ashtabula Creek

Last Friday evening the passenger train known as the Pacific Express, bound west, met with a terrible fate at Ashtabula Creek, a short distance east of that station. The train was running slow on account of the deep snow, but had reached the Ashtabula Bridge, and entering upon which the forward engine had reached the west side when the bridge gave way and the entire train, consisting of 11 cars, four of which were sleepers, was precipitated into the river, a distance of at least eighty feet. By breaking of a coupling pin the lead engine escaped the general destruction. In a short amount of time the whole was a sheet of fire. The sound and light reflected in the sky brought men with ropes and buckets to the rescue. Those who could be picked up from the wreck, about 50 in number, many were fatally injured, were rescued before the flames reached them, and among these were the conductor and train boy. Over 300 persons were on the train and of these at least 250 perished. Citizens have thrown open their houses and the sufferers are receiving all the care that human interest can bestow.

The Associated Press Dispatch gives the following list of the saved and injured at the Ashtabula accident; in addition to those taken from the ruins and supposed to be identified:

C. S. Wilcox has been spending the holidays with his parents. He leaves for New Haven today.

Among those in town New Year’s Day were Geo. Paine, Will. Gray, and Frank Downer, all of Cleveland.

H. W. Avery and F. C. Moodey, who were in town on a visit over Christmas, left for New York on Tuesday.

Weather: And still the snow is coming—a little every day and a little more every night. Even the oldest inhabitant is beginning to get nervous over the situation. It is said to be at least 18” deep in the woods.

Dr. S. P. Huntington, an old resident of Painesville, who for years past has been living in Eureka, Kansas, appeared among his old friends some days ago. He will remain some weeks.

Among the victims of the late railroad accident well known in this locality was Garwood Stowe of Geneva, Superintendent of Water Works between Cleveland and Erie, and David M. Chittenden of Cleveland, General Passenger Agent of the road.

J. E. Cook of Peru, Indiana, arrived at home last week for the purpose of making his parents a visit and attending the marriage of his sister, which took place last week at the residence of his father, Jos. W. Cook.

The annual meeting of the Painesville Y.M.C.A. was held at the Methodist Church Monday evening. The election of officers for the current year resulted as follows:

Pres., E. S. Young
1st Vice Pres., W. C. Tisdel
2nd Vice Pres., F. A. Cone
Clerk, F. S. Bigler
Cor. Sec., E.P. Branch
Treas., S. R. House

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Woodworth celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Dec. 26. They were among the early settlers of this section. Mr. Woodworth was a native of Warren Co., New York, on the west of Lake George. At the age of 15, he moved with his father’s family to Harpersfield, where he lived on the farm until his marriage. Mrs. Woolworth, nee Sarah Kelsey, was born in Buffalo, N.Y., in 1804, and moved with her mother to Mentor, in 1808. The couple was married at the residence of Samuel Potter, near Unionville by Rev. Jonathan Winchester. The two non-resident daughters of Mr. and Mrs.

p. 1 Early Mormonism on the Western Reserve

For several years previous to the organization of the present Disciple church at Mentor, there was a large and influential Baptist Church in the place. This church had, in all, five different pastors, the last of whom was Elder Warner Goodel, one of the good men of olden times. Mr. Goodel’s death occurred in June 1826, and with it, ultimately closed the career of the society mentioned. The then famous Sidney Rigdon, a man of peculiar genius and power was called to preach the funeral sermon. The people were impressed with him and immediately hired him as their regular pastor. Rigdon at that time resided in Bainbridge, Geauga Co. He began to preach regularly in Mentor in the fall of 1826. He was an advocate of the doctrines of Alexander Campbell and after a time began to advance the principle of Campbellism through his preaching. He caused an entire revolution in the church, converting nearly all the members from Baptist to Campbellism. In connection with his charge at Mentor, Rigdon sometimes preached at Kirtland, the scene of a good deal of primitive Mormonism. He caused a division of the church at Kirtland, some members going over to Campbellism and others remaining Baptists.

Measuring his ground carefully, Rigdon occasionally branched off upon “common stock.” The idea was met with coldness at Mentor, but at Kirtland it kindled and blazed in one locality, Isaac Morley being the first converted. Morley was enthusiastic, as are all men in accepting a change in religious principles. He threw open his door in welcome to all who chose to enter and make his house their common home. Morley then lived on the farm now owned by H. Carroll. A large number of various people assembled there. Within a short time, several new buildings were erected on the place and the “family” numbered about one hundred members. While this fanaticism was ripening at Kirtland, there was a still deeper plot ripening at Palmyra, N.Y. An angel from Heaven, so the story goes, had appeared to Joseph Smith, a young man of that place and revealed to him the locality of a certain chest whose contents were also made known in the same supernatural manner. The chest was found and contained the so-called “Mormon plates” from which it is claimed the book of Mormon is translated. Rigdon during his time at Mentor was frequently absent. Upon his return to Mentor after an absence, he was a changed man in many respects. He displayed a great nervousness. In the early part of Nov., 1820, four strange men appeared in Mentor. Their names were Oliver Cowdery, David Whitmer, Zaibad Peterson, and Parley P. Pratt. They had come from Palmyra to visit Rigdon. The night was spent in consultation. Rigdon, accompanied by the four men, soon made a visit at the home of Morley in Kirtland, the seat of the “common stock” family. Here they made a beginning. Seventeen of the principals at once accepted the delusion and were baptized the same night. A meeting was called at Kirtland Flats the following evening. The community was excited and turned out in large numbers to hear not only what the Mormons had to proclaim but principally what Rigdon, their former leader had to say in explanation of his recent strange conduct. After the Mormons spoke, Sidney Rigdon rose to speak and tell why he became a Mormon. Tears ran down his face.

as he spoke and many cried in sympathy with him. The meeting had its effects; all the common stock family and many outside of it were immediately baptized into Mormonism, and here within a single week’s time, Mormonism got its first foothold upon the Western Reserve. The cause began to develop rapidly as people from other portions of the Western Reserve, attracted by a sense of curiosity came in rapidly. Many of them were easily converted and in a short time, the little village became a genuine Mormon settlement. The Mormons sent out persons designated as “elders” to expound Mormonism in every village and town for several miles around. In the spring following, other Mormons from Palmyra began to come on and continued to do so, until one almost wondered if the whole world were centering at Kirtland. Every available house, shop, hut, or barn was filled to its utmost capacity with people. Among those who came later were Joseph Smith Jr., the prophet and Brigham Young; both who were then young men. The former founded Mormonism, and the latter, after adding polygamy to it, still perpetuates it in the far away city of Salt Lake. The Smith family consisted of eight members—Joseph Smith Sr., his wife and six sons, all of whom arrived at the same time, taking up their residence near the sight of the present Baptist Church. The Prophet was the second son, Hyram Smith being his senior by several years. Kirtland, Dec. 14, A. D. Coe

Concerning the Building of the Temple in Kirtland

As soon as the Mormons were fairly settled at Kirtland, they began to make plans for the future. Their first and most important step was the erection of the Mormon Temple. The temple is constructed of stone. It is 80’ long and 60’ wide, and 50’ from the ground to the eaves. The height to the top of the spire is 120 feet. The Temple faces the East. On the front in letters of gold is this inscription: “House of the Lord, Built by the Church of Christ, A.D. 1834.” The Church was formed into a sort of hierarchy. There were two orders of Priesthood, the Melchisedek and the Aaronic. Of each of these orders there were four branches. At either end of the first and second floors of the building are four rows of pulpits ranging upward like stairs. Each row has four seats and bears initials indicating the rank of its occupants. The second and third floors were used several years for school purposes. The school was not designed strictly for children of Mormon parentage, many others both old and young have been allowed to attend it. The design and location of the building are claimed to have been given to Joseph Smith Jr. in a revelation from the Lord. The first stone of the building was laid July 24, 1833, by Jacob Bump, a Mormon mason of merit. Bump superintended the mason work and at last laid the final stone that made the walls of the building complete. The elders urged the members to be economical in order to give money to build the church. Many sold their wardrobes and unnecessary valuables, giving the proceeds to the church. The money was placed in a bank which the Mormons had established. This bank was located on the hill and was presided over principally by the Prophet. All Mormons upon coming to Kirtland, were beset to deposit their money in this bank; if they refused to do so the curse of God was pronounced upon them. A sort of Mormon “script” was issued, which though really valueless, was sometimes exchanged for gold. Mormons used this money among themselves. When the Temple arrived at completion, there were fully 2,000 Mormons assembled to give it a grand dedication. The building was used several years for religious purposes. The first and second floors of the Temple were divided into sections, curtained, with rollers of which some are now remaining in position, serving as partitions.
Jan. 18, 1877

Pioneers of Lake County
The following sketch relating to the years 1798 and 1803 has been received by the Painesville Library and Historical Society from Col. Hendrick E. Paine, now of Monmouth, Ill, dated Jan. 8, 1877.
In the fall of 1798 Capt. Edward Paine Jr.(1) came to Ohio. He spent the winter in and around what was afterwards Cleveland and Painesville, making his home with a White family near Cleveland. He was so well pleased with the country, that his father, Gen. Edward Paine (2), concluded to move his family to the Western Reserve for a home. In June, 1800, Gen. Paine visited Connecticut and purchased a large tract of land of Gen. Champion. While in Connecticut, he visited at my father’s (who was his nephew) and urged my father Col. Eleazer Paine (3) to come with him. Father concluded to come. He left home in Feb., 1800, and joining Gen. Paine at Aurora, N.Y. They started with sleighs expecting to come up the lake on the ice. When they got to Cattaraugus the found the ice unsafe. They built huts and left the family there to come on in boats when the lake opened. Gen. Paine and my father, with one or two others, came through with horses, and commenced preparing for the family. The family at Cattaraugus found themselves in the midst of a maple grove. They tapped the trees and made a large quantity of maple sugar. When the lake opened, they came up in open boats. Gen. Paine had four sons: Edward Jr., Joel, Harry and Asahel; each had a farm. The Joel Paine farm was afterwards known as the “Drake Farm.” (4) Two daughters and a step daughter came with them. Lydia and Sally were the daughters. Lydia married Samuel W. Phelps; Sally married my brother, Charles C. Paine. My father returned to Connecticut in the fall of 1800. The summers of 1801 and 1802 he spent in Ohio, returning to Connecticut in the fall. One trip he made in 13 ½ days; it was noticed in the papers as a remarkable quick trip. On June 1, 1803, he started with his family for his new home on the Western Reserve. My father and Capt. Skinner had purchased a large tract of land of Samuel Fowler, of Springfield, Mass. (5) When we got to Buffalo, father sold the wagons. He and the family came up on the lake. Capt. Skinner and I (then 14 yrs. old) (6) came up with seven horses on the beach of the lake. On the morning of July 6, the boat came near the shore, it was a row boat with Brother Franklin (7) standing in the bow. We had whisky on the 4th of July made at Thompson’s still, at the mouth of the Tiber. (8)
Jan. 18, 1877
The names of the families that constituted the “Settlement” as it was called: Gen Edward Paine, Judge John Walworth (9), Col. Eleazar Paine, Joel Paine, Capt. Edward Paine Jr., Jesse Phelps, Benj. Ellenwood, Jeremy Ellenwood, Benj. Bridges, Lemuel Forbes (10), Elijah Pollock, Joseph Rider (11), and Anson Session, a bachelor. Indians were all about us. The names of the chiefs were Old Seneca, Ogontz, and O’Mick. They were perfectly friendly. In the fall of 1803 my father and Capt. Skinner laid out a town and called it Grandon. It was situated between Skinner’s and Gen. Paine’s farm, along the river. That fall, M. S. Brown came in from Warren, bought a lot and commenced putting up a tannery. Before concluding this sketch, I must mention my old arm chair that Joel Paine made in 1800. He used a turning lathe, turned it with his foot. He gave it to me the day I was married at his house. His wife and my wife were sisters.

p. 1 Early Mormonism on the Western Reserve
Joseph J. Smith Jr., the founder of Mormonism, was born at Sharon, Vt. In 1805. When quite young he moved with his parents to Western New York, where he began his career as a laborer. They are said to have been believers in witchcraft and seemed constantly expectant that some wonderful event was about to occur. One thing remarkable, such things are remarkable, was their belief that the earth contains hidden treasures of gold and silver coins, in search of which they are said to have spent much time. They dug mostly at night. Nothing of importance is claimed to have been found, however, until in 1827, Joseph Smith announced the marvelous revelation concerning the “plates” of the “Book of Mormon” or the Mormon bible. As formerly stated, an angel from heaven appeared to Smith and revealed to him the locality of a stone chest containing gold plates 12” by 12” wide. There were 24 of them. Their surface was covered with hieroglyphic characters said to be of Chaldean origin. But three persons, Oliver Cowdery, David Whitmer, and Martin Harris, were the only ones permitted to see them. These men signed an article that an angel of God came down from heaven. Joseph Smith was the translator of the works. The Book of Mormon is a duodecimo volume, and contains 380 closely printed pages. It is divided into 14 books and gives in addition the “Record of Zeniff” and the “Words of Mormon.” The first book deals with the history of the early Indians said to have moved from central American up the Pacific coast. The second book purports to be the fulfillment of God’s law to Ephraim (Hosea 8th chapter, 11th and 12th verses). While translating the work to his scribes, Joseph Smith Jr. held before his eyes the two stones Urim and Thummim, without whose aid divine assistance could not be obtained. The stones were found with the plates. The other side of the story, as given by those who claim to know, whereof they speak, is that the Book of Mormon is based upon one written by Solomon Spalding. Mr. Spalding was born in Connecticut in 1761, and was a graduate of Dartmouth College. Failing in mercantile business, removed to Conneaut, Ohio and engaged in the iron trade. He departed from the role of an iron merchant and engaged in writing a book entitled the “Manuscript Found.” He designed this work to be a historical romance of the first settlers of America and endeavored to show that the Indians are descendants of the lost tribes of Israel. He was fond of reading the manuscript to his friends and thought it would eventually prove to be a fortune to him. Spalding again failed in business, and in 1812 moved to Pittsburgh. Before his death in 1816, he placed the manuscript in the hands of printers for examination. After that all traces of it were lost until the appearance of the Book of Mormon, which was at once recognized as the original work of Spalding, scripturally revised. Sidney Rigdon is the person who is said to have designed the entire scheme and it is claimed that when absent from his pulpit at Mentor, he was closeted with Joseph Smith in New York State, preparing this volume. Shortly after Rigdon’s return to Mentor, the Mormon book was first announced. Thus, we have endeavored to give fairly and plainly both accounts of the origin of the Mormon bible. Smith made various attempts to get the book into type. He finally applied to Martin Harris for assistance. Harris then owned a fine farm at Palmyra and subsequently owned one in Kirtland. He had previously been connected with five different denominations, being successively Shaker, Universalist, Restrictionist, Baptist, and Presbyterian. By this time, he was probably ready for a change and readily complied with the request. Through his aid 5,000 copies of the Book of Mormon were published. Harris died in Utah in the summer of 1875. He was about 94 yr. old.

Mrs. Mary L. Osborn, wife of Hon. S. S. Osborn, of Chicago, formerly of this place died. The deceased was among the old residents of Painesville, and sister of the late Mrs. D. D. Aiken. She had been an invalid for many years. The remains were to have been brought here for interment in Evergreen Cemetery last week, but due to the illness of Mr. Osborn, they were placed in a vault in Chicago until he recovered.

A Golden Wedding – From the Petaluma (Cal.) Argus of Jan. 5. Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Woodworth celebrated on Dec. 31 their golden wedding anniversary. There were present nine children, twenty-eight grandchildren, and one great-grandchild. The couple was married at Ashtabula, Ohio, Dec. 31, 1826. They moved to California, and settled at Stony Point in 1853. Mr. P. N. Woodworth is brother of Harvey Woodworth, of this place. It is something of a coincidence that their Golden Wedding anniversaries came so near together and were celebrated, one as above, and the other on the 26th of the same month.

Death of an Old Citizen

Died in Painesville, Ohio, Jan 26, Mrs. Charlotte White, age 80 yrs. She was born Jan. 21, 1797, in Chesterfield, Hampshire Co., Mass. Her father, Caleb Bates, and his family moved to this county in 1809; there were then but a few families in the county. She was married to the late Mr. Samuel T. White, Aug. 14, 1814, and raised ten children, eight of whom are now living. They commenced housekeeping on the place where both have died when it was an unbroken forest.

Golden Wedding, North Ridge, Painesville, Lake Co., Ohio – Just fifty years ago Jan. 20, in the town of Islip, Long Island, N.Y., Mr. Daniel K. Post and Miss Charity Barto were married. After a residence of 12 years on Long Island, they moved in the fall of ’39 to Painesville, and in the following spring took possession of the farm they have ever since occupied, just north of the Ridge on the Fairport Rd. Present at the celebration were seven children and fifteen grandchildren and lots of other relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Post have reared twelve children; four have passed on before them, and eight remain—all married but one.

Pioneer Matters
The Chillicothe Road – The late Rev. John Seward, in his Historical Notes says: Edward Paine laid out and cut out a road from Painesville to Chillicothe in the summer of 1802. Others have it that instead of Capt. Edward Paine Jr., it was his father Gen. Edward Paine who superintended the layout and cutting out of this road. This was a State or Territorial Road. If I am informed correctly, the northern termination of this road was Fairport or Grandon; from thence South through Champion, now Painesville to the north bank of Kellogg’s Creek; then a southwest course along Johnny Cake Ridge across the farm of the late Chester Hart, and north of the old chair shop of the late G. Newell, and down in to the valley of the Chagrin near the residence of the late Dwight Martindale; thence to the mills at Kirtland Flats. And at a later day, French kept a tavern at the foot of Clay Hill which I saw in 1822. From the Flats, it was south on or near the present road, through Kirtland, Chester, Russell, Bainbridge, to Aurora; about half a mile south of center of Aurora it took a southwest course to the center of Hudson. About half a mile south of Hudson it takes a southwesterly course to the Cuyahoga Portage, in Northampton, and then near the same course to what was known in early days as the forks of the White Woman. The Walhonding is the name now of what was called the White Woman, and what at that day was called Owl Creek, is Vernon River. And it appears it must be where the Lake Fork of the Molican joins Vernon river, or where the Hillbuck empties in. The Walhonding, Tuscarawas, lose their names of Roscoe, when it receives the name of Muskingum. Squire Sheldon’s family was the only family between Painesville and Aurora. Mrs. Sheldon used to say she was the best, cook, the best housekeeper, and the handsomest woman from 1800 – 1803 in Aurora. In Hudson, there were settlers and probably no more until they arrived at Wooster. I have also been told by the pioneers of the Reserve that 55 yrs. ago, Gen. Paine had the charge of the men that cut out the first road from Buffalo west on to the Reserve. This was in 1801, and Rev. Joseph Badger’s team, with his family, was the first team driven through to Austinburg, by Hosea Wilcox, in the spring of 1802. By C. C. Bronson

Isadore Joiner vs. Eugenia Joiner, Divorce. Dismissed

Kirtland
A pleasant little village in Northern Ohio is situated on the east branch of the Chagrin River, nineteen miles from Cleveland and five miles from Lake Erie. The first settlement was made about the year 1806, in the northeast part of the township, on what is now known as the Holmes farm. The place received its name from Judge Kirtland, who once owned large tracts of land within its limits. The first school house was a log building, and stood near the river. Stella Crary taught the first school ever opened in the place. She had ten or twelve scholars. The place was settled quite rapidly and with the incoming of the Mormons it grew very fast. The Mormons made their first settlement in 1830. In the year 1834 the Mormon Temple was built. There are two divisions to the townships, designated as the Hill and the Flats. The greater part of the places of business are situated on the Flats, while the churches, the temple, the town hall and the school building, are situated on the Hill. Kirtland, also, has as very good hotel building which is not at present open to the public.
Mar. 8, 1877

Obituary
Died at her residence in South Newbury, Geauga Co., Ohio, Feb. 28, Mrs. Lavina, wife of Erastus Hodges. The deceased was born in Munson, Hampden, Co., Mass., Jan. 20, 1812, and moved with her parents (Hamilton and Polly Utley) to Newburg, Ohio in 1818. In 1830, she married Mr. Erastus Hodges and moved to Concord, Lake Co., where she resided until 1851, when she returned to her old homestead in Newburg, to care for her aged parents. In 1856, her health failed, the disease finally terminating in abdominal dropsy. Between, May, 1868 and Feb.
Mar. 15, 1877
27, 1877, 86 operations were performed and an aggregate of 1,843 lbs. and 10 oz. of water were taken from her system. Though never a member of any church, she viewed the future without trepidation or fear, believing that to the pure and true, there is no occasion for apprehension and alarm. She leaves a husband and three sons.

Letter from Mrs. Flora Jackson (wife of Capt. Mason Jackson) dated Cheyenne Agency, Dakota, March 6, 1877: The winter has been very mild, for six weeks it has been like spring. We ride out through the Indians quite often. Last week I went with the officer who has charge of them, and called at the tepee of one of the chiefs, Bull Eagle. Mrs. Bull Eagle invited us in and all shook hands saying “how” which is the only English word they all can say. They shook up a buffalo robe for us to sit on and we made quite a long call. Bull Eagle was in the Custer fight last summer. He is a splendid looking Indian and his wife is very smart and pretty. They have one child, which they dress very fine—his clothes covered with beads and fancy work. They build their fire in the center of the tepee and all sit around it. You are obliged to sit down upon the ground or the smoke will soon make you cry. Last week, 225 Indians came in from the hostile camp. We are in hopes more will come in so that there will be no need of a campaign this spring. If there is one, our regiment will be sure to go.

The Late Mrs. Charles Willard
From the Muncie (Indiana) Times of the 15th instant. (Mrs. Charles Willard, was daughter of S. C. Warner, of Unionville, in this county, whose death we announced several weeks ago.) The Muncie article refers to her as Mrs. George Willard. She was a member of The Women’s Club of Muncie.

Milan – the people of Milan on the night of the President’s inauguration had a jubilee and illumination. The residence of Mrs. Charlotte Merry, age 96 yrs., was brilliantly lit during the same evening. She is the widow of Ebenezer Merry, who was one of the earliest settlers of this section of the country. He first settled on what is known as Hopkins’ Marsh in Mentor, and afterwards resided in this village. He aided in the survey of the Western Reserve. After his removal to Milan, he was elected Representative from Erie Co., to the Ohio Legislature. Mr. Merry was uncle to Mrs. Harvey Woodworth, of this place.

There was excitement and many surmises over the suicide of Samuel Austin, formerly of this village. He was always bright, happy, and successful and it was a painful shock to his old-school mates and acquaintances to hear of his awful death. The only sister, was at home; the aged father in the South. The funeral services were in charge of Knight Templars from Toledo and Painesville.

Frank Alberts, died last Friday, age 42 yrs. He was Principal of the Union School several years, many years ago. Nine years ago, he left for California for his heath. He died of consumption. His funeral was Sunday in the M. E. Church and largely attended. The Masonic fraternity performed the burial rites of the Order at the grave.

Geo. W. Harrington died suddenly at his home in Greene, Trumbull Co. He was among the old and prominent citizens identified with the history of that section of country.

Gen. and Mrs. Garfield were at their new home in Mentor last week to arrange some changes and improvements. They left for Washington Wednesday. It is understood that the General with the family will spend the coming season on the farm.

March 22, Mr. and Mrs. Olmstead Baker, of Perry celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary.

From Mentor: Mrs. Thos. Kneal was buried on Wednesday. She leaves a family of children all grown and married. She with her husband came from the Isle of Man, many years ago and settled at what is known as Kneal’s corners, and prior to that time as Joel Eastman’s corners.

Weather: It snowed Monday and far into the night, gaining a depth of half a foot.

Last Wednesday, Mr. Hodges, residing at Montville Center, was returning home with a load of wood when his team became frightened and overturned the sleigh; the horses breaking loose from the sleigh and running away. The frightened horses when reaching the Center, ran over a sleigh in which Mrs. Mowery was sitting in front of a store. The sleigh was overturned and Mrs. Mowery had her leg broken, above the ankle.

Last Thursday, Mr. Barnard Nellis was taken severely ill with pneumonia and after an illness of six days, died. He was a wealthy and much respected citizen of Ashtabula. He has been a director of the Ashtabula National Bank and for

Body Removals – Last Friday, under the supervision of Supt. A. Webster, the bodies interred in the County Infirmary ground were removed to Evergreen Cemetery where a lot has been purchased for the county. The old ground near the Infirmary has only been used for burial purposes for seven years. Fourteen bodies were removed. Two coffins were found empty; one in which the body of George Craig, colored, was buried a year ago last fall, and the other, that of a Mr. Strong, last fall. The empty coffins demonstrate the work of resurrectionists

The Gallows – On Monday the scaffold and fixtures of the gallows in use in Cleveland, passed over the P. & T Railroad to Youngstown to be used in the execution of Charles M. Sterling convicted of the murder and rape of Lizzie Gumbacher, in Mahoning Co., in Jan., 1876. Gov. Young granted a respite until April 21 for the hanging.

Sudden Death of Malcom Crofoot
South Bend Indiana Tribune, March 20
“Malcom Crofoot, a well know person of this city died this morning at the residence of Samuel Wilson, of congestion of the liver after an illness of only two days. The deceased was a resident of Niles for over 25 years, keeping a hotel there for a portion of the time. He has a sister living in Mishawaka, Mrs. Wm. Dawley, from whose residence he will be buried tomorrow. He was 64 years old.” The deceased was formerly a resident of this county, and son of Ben Crofoot, who for many years kept a hotel on the South Ridge Road, about 4 miles east of this place.

The relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Haskell met at their home in Perry, on March 21st, to celebrate the 5th anniversary of their marriage.

Willoughby
Graduates of the Union School: George Clement, Cushman Stevens, Sadie Greer, Lora Stockwell, Melva Shipherd, Raymond Penfield. There was a contest announced for the same evening. Speakers were: Geo. Collister, Miss N. Clark, Geo. Carpenter, H. Strait, Miss A. Hurd, S. W. Smart, L. W. Penfield, Miss J.W. Tryon, Miss Ida Hadden. L. P. Barber. All the participators did finely, yet there was no hesitancy as to whom belong the prize. Miss Ida Hadden’s declamation was beautifully delivered, every syllable distinct, every gesture perfect. Mr. Clement presented the volume “Thrift” by S. Smiles.

Mr. Charles Tryon surprised his friends by coming home with a lady whom he introduced as “my wife.” She was Miss Scoville, who attended school here several years ago. His father and brother came up from Columbus to grace the reception Friday night.

Married
In West Middlesex, Mercer Co., Pa., on the 21st instant, Chas. D. Tryon, of Kirtland, Ohio, oldest son of Hon. H. G. Tryon, to Miss Vina Scoville, of West Middlesex, Pa.

Died
In Willoughby March 16th, of consumption, Frank Albert, age 43 years. Frank was born in Concord Township, but his father moved to this place when he was about two years old. He acquired a fine education and for a period of years had entire control of the Public Schools. Some nine years ago, his health failed and he went to California where his father, mother, and brothers had lived for some years. He found complete relief from asthma, and after remaining a year, returned to his wife and children. But after a short stay at home the disease returned, and he was once more compelled to leave. Two years ago, he came home with the words “I have come home to die.” He was borne to his last resting place by the Willoughby Lodge, F. & A. Masons.

At Maroa, Macom, Co., Ill., Feb. 12, Mrs. Nettie Oglevio, age 32 years, daughter of the late Jaman Smith, formerly of Mentor.

At Greeley, Colorado, Dec. 25, of hemorrhage of the lungs, Mr. John Sanborn, formerly of Painesville.

Dissolution: George C. Curtiss and Ed. C. Smart have dissolved their partnership by mutual consent.

p. 2 Pioneer Notes from the Warren Chronicle

Miss Electa Brockway, the only survivor of her father’s family, now in her 83rd year, recalls many important items connected with the early settlement of the country. Scarcely, had the Indians abandoned their hunting grounds along the Mahoning, when her father reared his cabin in the wilderness but a few rods from her present dwelling. It was in 1802 when Ohio was admitted as a State into the Union. At that time the nearest inhabitant in the direction of Painesville was Mr. Thompson, of Middlefield, twenty miles distant, and just one of all the inhabitants then living in Warren survives, and that one is Mrs. John Harsh.

Geneva Times – a Few days since while Mr. W. F. Gardner and his brother were at work in the woods, the first named party had a narrow escape from death by a falling limb, which struck a glancing blow on the forehead, cutting an ugly gash in the scalp. The concussion broke a plate of artificial teeth, which he wore, into fragments.

Pioneer Matters
Trumbull Co. was organized on July 10, 1800 by proclamation of Major Gen. Arthur St. Clair Gov. of the Territory northwest of the Ohio River. Trumbull was the 7th county formed under the Territorial government, and this comprised the Western Reserve east of the Cuyahoga River and Portage path; for west of this line the Indian title was not extinguished until 1805. What is now known as the Court of Common Pleas was under the Territorial government, and called the Court of Quarter Sessions. The record says: “The Court of Quarter Session, August Term, 1800. The court appointed Amos Spafford, David Hudson, Simon Perkins, John Minor, Aaron Wheeler, Edward Payne, and Benjamin Davidson, a committee to divide Trumbull Co. into towns, viz: Youngstown, Warren, Hudson, Vernon, Middlefield, Richfield, Paynesville, and Cleveland.” At the February Term of the court of Quarter Sessions the Court appointed the following persons to execute the several offices annexed to their names in the town of Paynesville the ensuing year: John Walworth, Commissioner of Taxable Property for Territorial Tax.; David Abbott, Lister; Jesse Phelps and Jared Ward, Poor Masters; David Abbott and Edward Payne, Supervisors of Highways, Ebenezer Merry, Constable, John Walworth, Eleazar Payne, and Joseph Phelps, Freeholders to settle Accounts with Supervisors; Ebenezer Merry and Charles Parker, Fence Viewers; Edward Payne and David Abbott, Appraisers of Taxable Property; Calvin Pease, Clerk of Court of Quarter Sessions. At the February Term, 1802, Court of Quarter Sessions ordered that on the first Monday in April town meetings be held in each town; in Paynesville at the house of Ebenezer Merry—the Constables to warn the electors. The constable in Paynesville was Ebenezer Merry.

Scarlet fever is raging to some extent in our midst. The latest death is that of the daughter of J. T. Van Dooser, one of our merchants, and at one time a resident of Painesville. He is a brother of Mrs. M. H. Reynolds. Miss Van Dooser was sick but a short time.

Important to Colonists
The C.C.C. & I. Railway propose to send an excursion coach through to Kansas City without change, leaving Cleveland April 10. A feature will be the accommodations for making tea and coffee on the car, so that with a well provided lunch basket, families may go through without the expense and inconvenience of getting off for meals. Furthermore, the car seats will be so arranged to make comfortable bunks at night.

Mrs. Amelia Skinner, Cleveland

p. 3 Austin Avery, residing on Pearl St., died very suddenly last Wednesday night while sitting in his chair; it is supposed from heart disease.

Miss Josie Church, teacher, took advantage of a vacation in the Cleveland schools last week to make a visit home.

By the Madison Gazette we learn of the death of Mr. Truman Parker, of Red Wing, Minn., formerly a citizen of Madison.

April 4, Mrs. Jennie Clark left her aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orson Wilson, of Concord, to join her husband, D. A. Clark, in Murry Township, Clark Co., Iowa, with the intention of spending the summer and perhaps longer.

C. C. Bronson, of Talmadge, Ohio, with his wife, is visiting relatives in Concord and Mentor. Mr. B. was one of the pioneers of the Reserve having left Connecticut in the year 1819.

Rats – Mr. Reese Davis, of LeRoy, furnishes us with this rat story. During the past winter, the premises of one of his neighbors, Mr. Cyrus French, has been invaded by swarms of these pests. The came singly and in squads of a dozen or more, running on the fence rails like squirrels. They are ravenous and have even attacked the hogs, biting and lacerating their ears. Mr. French is 84 yrs. old, but has managed to destroy, chiefly with traps, a hundred or more rats. A singular fact about it is that his neighbors are only annoyed with the usual number.

Painesville in 1827 by E. H. Rosa

I am writing about the past to set the example so others will come forward and do likewise. My intention is to make a group of all the old substantial families who lived in Painesville and with whom I was acquainted; also the farmers of the township. It is impossible for me to remember all their given names, therefore, I will mention surnames.

Painesville Village: Latimore, Storrs, Arbuckle, Mathews, Rosa, Tracys Holbrook, Mrs. Phelps, Harris, Miller, Ford, Williams, Granger, Kingsbury, Hill, Kerr, Partridge, Howe, Gillett, L. Morley, King, Herding, Paine, Huntingtons, Blair.

Mentor Road: Durand, Peck, Jones, Mrs. Fosdick, Olds, Cowel, Sawyers, Rost, Cobb, Clapp, Parker, Kerrs, Corning.

South Ridge Road: Seeley, Emerson, King, Cone, White, French, Hartwell, Burridge, Robbins.

Fairport: Butler, Granger, Henry, Phelps (These were the principal businessmen in Fairport at that time.)

Chardon Road: Murrays, Wilsons, Old Log Tavern.

School Teacher: F. J. Huntington.

Magistrates: Wm. Holbrook, Edward Flint.

Blacksmiths: L. Richardson, Griffith.

Shoemaker: Sheffield.

Jeweler: H. Kingsbury.

Cabinet Makers: M. Harris, Otis.

Saddles and Harness: A. Wilmot.

Tailors: David Hull, Solomon Mencely, Beck.

Hatter: Partridge.

Wagons: Carlos Granger.

Carpenters: Jonathan Goldsmith, Edward Flint, McKnight, George Mygat.

Chair Maker: Wm. Croft.

Tanner: A. Arbuckle.

Livery: A. Shepard.

Printer (Telegraph) E. D. Howe
Tinner: L. Miller Sr.
Pottery: Merrill
Presbyterian Church: Rev. Lyman
Methodist Church: Rev. Green

Baptist Church: Rev. Rigdon (The history of Rigdon is too well known to need any comment from me.)

There were no public amusements. Formal dinners were not frequent, but there was much tea drinking, especially by the ladies. The young people were fond of dancing and promoted parties to that end. Bellows played the fiddle. There was not much driving, as the number of carriages was limited, and besides these only a few one-horse wagons were maintained. This was a sincerely religious community. The Sabbath was quiet, and there was a general observance of the duties of the day. The surplus produce was, of course, forwarded by vessels on the lake to Buffalo. Letters and papers were received through a daily mail east and west. The coaches carried passengers, and on the close of navigation were the only means of travel, causing a sensation as they rolled in and out of the village. In Sept., 1827, I visited Cleveland for two days. I visited every part of the village and could see but little difference as to the size of the two places. Cleveland had more pale faces. Almost all the men I met, especially along the high bank of the river, were Manxmen, and all were shanking with the ague. In this year, many Manx families settled in Painesville. Among them I remember the Kelleys, Laces, Corlets, and others, all good citizens and many of their descendants we meet on our streets at the present time, all well-to-do farmers. The trade was immense. It centered here from Geauga and a part of Trumbull and Portage. Dried apples and paper rages were the staples for exchange with Pittsburgh for glass and nails. There was a Mr. Kingsley who did the principal part of this business; John Sweeney did a little of it. The streets of Painesville at that time were State, Main, Erie, Washington (or Third), and High. Our representation in the State Legislature was the Hon. Samuel Butler, of Fairport, who is still living, age 80 yrs. There were four blast furnaces in operation: Geauga (located in Painesville), one in Concord, Railroad (in Perry), and Arcle (in Madison). These furnaces are all out of existence. The old Geauga Grist mill, which burned down many years ago, did the principal part of the grinding for all the surrounding country. It had a saw mill attached and stood at the foot of Main St. on the site now occupied by the Painesville Mills.

From the Journal, of Vineland, New Jersey
James Ivins, age 80 yrs., 12 days, was buried on the 7th instant at Upper Freehold, Monmouth Co., New Jersey. Mr. Ivins was formerly of Kirtland, in this county, and well knows to many of our citizens. He lived in Vineland for about 10 ½ yrs.

Willoughby
Dr. Hurlburt, formerly of this village is visiting to say farewell to his daughter, Mrs. Prof. Gist. He goes with his family to Iowa to engage in the practice of medicine.

Madison
Mr. John Church a much-respected citizen of Unionville died last week from the effects of a stroke of paralysis.
Mr. J. W. Stay and Miss Louie Stratton were married at the residence of the bride’s father last Wednesday. They returned last evening from their wedding trip to Buffalo.

Death of Miss Van Dooser
Rochester (Minn.) Post
Died on the 26th instant, Stella H., eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Van Dooser, age 16 yrs., 10 days.

Married
At Perry, April 6, Mr. David H. Van Valkenburg to Miss Matie Barnes, both of Madison, Lake Co.

Anything in the line of groceries you will find remarkably low at L. C. Stebbins & Son.
Apr. 19, 1877    Thursday
p. 3 An error occurred last week in the list of Mentor names given in the Pioneer article from E. H. Rosa. Instead of Cowel, read Cowce; and instead of Rost, read Root.

General Garfield and family arrived in Mentor from Washington and were the guests of Dr. Robinson. They will soon be settle in their new farm house.

We learn that Wm. G. Broughton was one of the boarders at the St. Louis hotel recently destroyed by fire. He had just retired to his room when the alarm was given and escaped comparatively easily.

H. B. French has just completed a thorough overhauling, refinishing and fitting up of his grocery and provision establishment corner of Main and State Streets. The whole front can now be thrown open to the walk, and has an awning for the hot season.

Albert W. Pancost, son of Dr. Pancost has been living in New Orleans a year, and writes home that strawberries, green peas, and new potatoes are in the market there.

The temperance movement here as elsewhere is meeting with great success. In Michigan, Wisconsin, and other sections of the West, it is known as the “Red Ribbon” movement, while in Ohio and father east it is denominated the “Blue Ribbon” or Murphy movement. It is strictly a moral persuasive effort, no direct or personal war being made upon manufactures or vendors of alcoholic drinks, but an appeal to the reason of the people.

Mrs. Vina Lovejoy, wife of Louis Lovejoy, of North Madison, and recently from Boston, Mass., died last Friday. She had suffered from gastric fever for many years.

Mr. Charles I. Maltby and Mrs. Ruby M. Alvord married yesterday.

Willoughby

An improvement is at once to be made to the Powell House, in the shape of a stoop to cover the entire front and ends—altogether 150 long. It will add much to the pleasure and comfort of the guests.

News arrived here last week of the death of J. B. Carroll, for many years a resident of Paradise Valley, Humboldt, Co. Nevada. He was a brother to Reese Carroll of this village and formerly resided here, but moved to California to 1852, and afterwards to Nevada. He was between 40 and 50 years old.

Much excitement was manifested Saturday by the rumor of a change of Postmasters of this place. It is said that G. S. Eddy has received the appointment and that it only needs the necessary bonds to be executed to give him possession. Deacon Bates has held the office for nearly 16 years. Eddy is a wounded soldier and a competent and deserving man.

Officers of the Willoughby Division of the Sons of Temperance: F. F. Allen, W. P.; Mrs. C. Conley, W. A.; L. H. Luse, R. S.; Miss Edna Post, A.R.S.; Wm. Slayton, F. S.; Mrs. Lucy Allen, Chap; Fred. Pioneer Matters
By C. C. Bronson

After visiting friends in Lake Co., and in my interviews with the pioneers, I find it necessary to make some corrections respecting the location of the Chillicothe Rd. Mr. J. Fairchild Smith, of Concord, said: “I came to Kirtland in March, 1819, at the time the trace of the Chillicothe Road was easily followed where it had been vacated, and our conversation about the inhabitants as they were located fifty years ago. From near the residence of Grandison Newell, it was on or near the present travelled road by one Billings Hawkins, and down the hill near the house of Nathaniel Wheeler, on to the interval land and intersected a road that ran from the mills at Kirtland Flats up the river without regard to the rich flat land bordering the river. And I notice this day the road is materially changed, running on land less valuable. From where the roads intersected as above stated, the Chillicothe Road ran a southerly course across the river, and intersected the present traveled road at the four corners at south Kirtland, at what in early days was known as the residence of one of the pioneers of Kirtland, Esq. Crary. It will be remembered by some of an article in your paper on the Company’s or Girdled Road; this road was not located west of Mr. Ferris; residence on the mountain, but there is strong presumptive evidence that the road for the mountain, by M. Carroll’s residence, and also, of the late Chester Hart, is on the Girdled Road. From thence to where it crosses the Chagrin “at the mouth of a large stream coming in from the east.” We may reasonably infer, that the Girdled Road ran from the Hart farm to Chagrin on the height of land north of the east branch of the Chagrin.”

It is amusing to hear the various opinions of the location of Perkins’ Camp. Some place it on the top of the hill, others further west. Moses Cleaveland, Joseph Perkins, and Daniel L. Coit, by their agent, Simon Perkins, deeded to Richard Gifford 61 ½ acres in Lot No. 4 in Concord, on the road cut out from the Cuyahoga to the Pennsylvania line, being the south side of the road, dated Nov. 10, 1803.

The first elections for the Northern District of Trumbull Co. was held in the open air in front of Gifford’s log cabin.

p. 3 The remains of Mrs. B. Nettleton, sister of James Smith, formerly of Mentor, arrived at this station Saturday and were taken to Mentor for burial. The deceased died at the residence of her son, residing in Pennsylvania. She was about 52 yrs. old.

The planing mill of Childs & Nichols in Kirtland burned down on the 24th.

Mrs. Satira M., wife of Dr. A. D. Hammond, died quite suddenly last Monday. She had an attack of heart disease which terminated in brain paralysis causing her death. She was 50 yrs. old. The funeral services will be held at the family residence, No. 277 State St., this Wednesday.

Death of Mrs. Tear

Mrs. Ann Tear died at the family residence in Painesville, April 7, age 86 years. For more than a year, she had been a great sufferer from injury occasioned by a fall and most of the time confined to her bed.

George F. Rideout, of Bowdoin, Maine, on his way to California, shot himself while on the westbound train some distance east of Painesville station. When the train reached the station, the man was taken to a hotel and Dr. Beardslee dressed the wound. The ball entered the body below that heart and lodged in the side. The man had an emigrant ticket and a small amount of money, seven to eight dollars.

Death of Rev. Dr. Carlos Smith
Mr. Geo. W. Steele received a card from Akron announcing the death of Rev. Carlos Smith, for many years was pastor of the Congregational Church in this place. He died Sunday and was 76 years old.

Death of an Esteemed Citizen
Mr. Joel D. Wilder, died at Concord, April 24, age 75 years. He was a native of Barre, Mass. After his marriage, he moved to Oneida Co., N.Y., from whence he removed to Kirtland, Ohio., in 1854 where he resided until 1861, when he removed to Willoughby where he has since resided. Since the death of his wife, in Feb. 1872, he and his daughter, Miss Hattie E. Wilder, have kept house, except when he has made an occasional visit to his daughter Mrs. G. N. Tuttle, and his son, Mr. Henry Wilder in Concord. When making such a visit to his daughter’s, he was taken with inflammation of the stomach, of which he died after a painful illness of more than two months. Besides the children above named, he left one surviving son, Mr. Abel M. Wilder, of Kendall, N.Y. and two daughters, Mrs. E. Taylor, of Lansing, Mich., and Miss Nettie R. Wilder, of San Francisco, Cal.
Dr. Charles Wilder, a well-known and highly esteemed physician, who died in Battle Creek, Michigan, some year ago, was a son of his.

In Evergreen Cemetery, Painesville, is the beautiful family monument of Messrs. Collins Morse and C. H. Allen. It is of fine Quincy granite, neither the darkest or the lightest the of that soft granite shade, devoid of metallic glitter, which is so attractive to both sight and sense. It was designed by and is from the monumental works of Messrs. Churchill & Hitchcock, at Quincy, Mass.

Concord
If any of your readers have a desire to see lemons growing on the tree, they can be gratified by calling on Mrs. W. J. Haskell, three-fourth of a mile east of Wilson’s Corners. The tree is now in blossom with six full grown ripe lemons hanging on it. These lemons are larger than we usually buy, the largest on measuring 9 ¾ inches by 8 ¾ inches round. It seems strange to see it in blossom with ripe fruit on it, but that is the nature of the orange and lemon trees, to have fruit in all stages of growth and flowers at the same time.

p. 2 Ann Eliza’s Case
Salt Lake, April 27 – A decision in the famous Ann Eliza case against Brigham Young, was reached today by Judge Schaeffer, that the defendant and plaintiff, were married April 18, 1867, de facto but not dejure; that at the time of the de facto marriage, the plaintiff was competent to enter into a valid contract of marriage, but the defendant was not, because he had a lawful wife then living. The person, Sidney Rigdon, who performed the marriage ceremony between defendant and Mary Ann Angel in Kirtland, Ohio in 1834, had no license authorizing him to perform such ceremony; none was needed to make the marriage valid; the plaintiff and defendant cohabitated together as husband and wife several years after their de facto marriage; the defendant deserted; ill-treated and neglected the plaintiff, but such de facto marriage was induced and effected by undue influence and coercion. In conclusion, the plaintiff is not entitled to a decree of divorce, that the alleged marriage was and is polygamous, and, therefore, null and void; that during the time the plaintiff was with defendant as a polygamous wife she was serving him as a menial servant and would be entitled to reasonable compensation for her service, but having received in this instance, in the form of alimony pendent lite, more that such services are shown by the proof to be reasonably worth, she should go hence without further compensation.

Mrs. T. B. Wells and children are on a visit of several weeks to Quincy, Illinois, the former home of Mrs. W.

John Hinckley, an old resident of Madison Township, and about 90 years of age, died at his residence on the South Ridge last week.

Dr. Youmans, formerly of this place, now of New Castle, Pa., preached at the M. E. Church last Sunday.

E. T. Frisbie and wife, who for some two years past have resided at Auburn, N.Y., have returned to Painesville and are again settled in their old home on Bank Street.

Eli S. Young’s name should have appeared in the list of those who signed the Temperance Pledge of this town.

A case of smallpox was reported in Unionville last week, a Mrs. Lee, a lady quite advanced in age. She took it by visiting friends in Geneva at whose house, Miss Banning the late smallpox patient of that town, was then nearly recovered. The necessary precautions against its spread in Unionville have been taken.

We are in receipt of the Monroe (Wis.) Sentinel of the 25th ultimo, in which Miss Lizzie Blinn, formerly of Painesville, is highly complimented for her performance at a concert given in that place. She teaches at the Blind Asylum.

Prof. C. C. Bailey, for some time past connected as a teacher with Cobb’s Commercial College in this place, has moved to Bezonia, Michigan to engage in both the mercantile and farming businesses.

During the storm Saturday afternoon, lightning struck the barn of E. B. Metcalf, in Kirtland, and also, those of John Jones and P. T. Safford, in Madison, causing the partial destruction of the former and the total loss of the two latter.

Died – Charles E. Searl died at his residence in Perry, April 29th, of typhoid fever, after an illness of two weeks. He was formerly a resident of this place but for some years resided on a farm near the town line between Perry and Painesville townships. He leaves a wife, two daughters, and an adopted son. He was 55 yrs. old. His remains were interred in Evergreen Cemetery.

B. F. Pratt, who has been studying for some months at Dr. Trall’s Hygienic-Therapeutic College, Florence Heights, New Jersey, returned to Painesville a few days ago accompanied by a lady companion (see marriage notice), also, a student and graduate of the same institution. It is their intention to travel and lecture on the principals of Hygienic Medication, and will possibly open an office in this place.

H. B. French has sold his grocery business and stock to Messrs. W. F. Smith and L. A. Trumbull. The business will continue at the same stand in the name of L. A. Trumbull & Co.

Mrs. Marion J. Bittle
Last week we briefly mentioned the death of Mrs. M. J. Bittle, a former resident of Painesville and a correspondent of the Telegraph which took place on March 10th. She leaves a husband, Elder L. F. Bittle, the present a pastor of a Disciples congregation at Somerset, Pa.

T. G. Hart, F. E. Warren, and F. J. Jerome were admitted to practice law at a session of the District Court in this place.

Mrs. Ann Eliza Young, one of the wives of Brigham Young, spoke on Mormonism at Child’s Hall last week. She said they are victims of a false religion.

Suicide in Concord
From the best that we know, Wm. Brown and his wife have lived very unhappily since they were married some four years ago. They had parted once or twice and got together again and quarreled worse than before. They had a big quarrel Friday night; the matter came to blows and then a separation. Saturday, she returned with help and removed her part of the things, which so worked on his mind, that this morning he was found in his house hanging by the neck. Mr. Brown was 25 yrs. old and the father of two children.

Madison
Mr. John Hinckley, for many years a citizen of Madison, died last Wednesday, at his home on the South Ridge. He was about 90 yrs. old.

Mrs. J. W. Wafum left town last week to join her husband at Spring, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Lee, an elderly lady of Unionville, died of the small pox Saturday. She contracted the disease while visiting her brother in Geneva, at whose house Miss Banning was recovering from her sickness.

Prof. Kinnison, of North Madison, is teaching at Monroeville, Huron Co.

Middle Ridge, May 1, 1877
The Angel of Death has again been among us and removed one of the little ones we all loved. Mattie May, youngest daughter of W. H. and Martha Genung, age nearly 8 years, died yesterday. She had been ill about two weeks with scarlet fever.

Cleveland – The city was visited on Saturday by the heaviest hail storm in years; hail stones as large as hickory-nuts fell incessantly for ten or fifteen minutes making much noise.

A Bad Accident – Mr. Charles King met with a terrible accident Wednesday afternoon while using a Buckeye roller in a meadow. The couplings to the roller broke, throwing him under the heels of the horse where he was kicked insensible and from appearance considerably mangled by being dragged along by them. He regained his senses enough to disentangle himself and even drove the team a short distance making his way to a house in the vicinity. He has several gashes on his head, bruises over his body and it is thought his back is injured. He has been more or less deranged from the first and his recovery is doubtful.

Child Lost and Found

A six-year-old, the son of Daniel Dougherty, wandered away from home Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. When the father came home from work at night and learned the child was lost, he with some neighbors commenced searching.
May 10, 1877

Mr. Henry and Theodore Lapham found him upon the Headlands Road and upon questioning him concluded that he was lost. They took him home and gave him some supper, warmed him and put a thick coat on him, as the child was dressed very thinly, and then started for town, making inquiries if anyone had lost a child. Soon those who were looking and those who found the child got together and the child was returned home to his mother.

Birthday Party

Mrs. A. J. Goldsmith, on Mentor Ave., celebrated her 90th birthday, April 29, 1877. She has lived at her residence on Mentor Ave. for 66 years. One of her gifts was a basket of flowers from the conservatory of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Steele. Mrs. Goldsmith has been the mother of ten children, has twenty-seven grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren. Three of her children lie near their father, while the eldest lies in Cleveland, Ohio with her husband, the late Chas. W. Hard. Six living children were present—J. Gillet Goldsmith of San Francisco, Cal., being represented by his wife who is here with her niece (Miss Collins). Five children out of ten; and one grandchild (Miss J. F. Blythe, of Cleveland), out of seven from the family of Mr. Heard, represented their mother. Early in the day, with slate and pencil, our grandmother wrote the following address to those present which was replied to by the eldest grandchild:

My dear ones all—both great and small
Today assembled here,
Cannot expect one of my age
To make a speech or pen a page
To please the listening ear;
But thank you all for kindness shown
Leaving me not, this day alone
In solitude to pine.
But all—so many coming here

This last day of my ninetieth year
To tell me they are mine.

April 29, 1877 A. J. Goldsmith

Reply

Dear Grandma: In behalf of thy children and children’s children, I have been selected to make a reply to thy loving address, and I cannot think of anything so appropriate as the words of the Holy Scriptures: “The Lord shall bless thee out of Zion; and thou shalt see the good of Jerusalem all the days of thy life. Yea, thou shalt see thy children’s children.” “The Lord bless thee and keep thee. The Lord make his face to shine upon thee and be gracious unto thee. The Lord lift up the light of his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace.”

The slate is to be placed in the hands of an engraver, framed and handed down in the family as a precious heirloom, and if carefully engraved, it will show the children of future generations a wonderfully steady hand for a woman of ninety years, as it does not bear the marks of feebleness. The evening passed in singing and quiet talks, everyone missing Mrs. Almira Abels, grandmother’s youngest sister and only surviving member of her family—now 84 years old who was unable to be present. Grandfather was one of the first to respond to the call for troops and enlisted in the company of Capt. Parker, Aug. 22, 1812. Grandmother came to Painesville from Hinsdale, Berkshire Co., Mass, in the year 1811 with her husband and two children. A history of her journey and other incidents of interest she is now writing for the Historical Society of this city.

In Memoriam
Captain Harvey Huntoon, died on the 17th instant. He was born in Wendell, N. H., Feb. 9, 1797. At the age of 12 yrs., his parents moved to Manchester, where he remained with them four years. He returned to his native town in 1813, and after a few weeks moved to Burlington, Vt., and enlisted for “during the war” which was then in progress; and at the close of the same received an honorable discharge. Again visiting his native home at the age of 19, he married Naomi Young. Of the several children born to them only two remain. His wife still lives on the old homestead in that part of Concord Township which is known as the “Huntoon Settlement,” and where in 1822, with their family of two children, they started a pioneer life. The year previous to their removal from N. H. (1821), their second child, then quite young, was carried away by a tornado, an account of which appeared in the papers of that day and was afterwards published in the “General Class Reader,” a once popular school book. The body of their little one was found some days after washed up on the shore of Sunapee Lake. Three of their family who had attained maturity preceded their father to the spirit world, Corbin, George, and Martha, the first of whom died in 1844, the second in 1851, at sea on his way to California, and Martha the youngest a few years later. Capt. Huntoon was prominent in the organization of light infantry known as the “Lake County Guards,” of which he was chosen Captain. Major Jackson Huntoon conducted the music and used on this occasion the heavy G fife which his father, Major Corbin Huntoon, carried through the entire War of 1812, and which is still bent from having been slept upon in his knapsack. He was buried in the shade of one of his grand old apple trees.

P. 1 Pioneer Matters
Ebenezer Merry – The Marsh Settlement
One of the first settlers of Lake Co. and we might say of the Western Reserve was Ebenezer Merry. He was born in East Hartford, Ct., July 21, 1773; his father removed to Kinderhook, N.Y., where he spent his childhood. At the age of 12, or in 1791, his father moved to Avon, then known by the general term of the Genesee country. But “westward still” was his motto; and in 1798, he pushed his way on to the Reserve, or as it was known at that day “New Connecticut.” He stopped in the town of Mentor. This town was surveyed into tracts by order of the Conn. Land Company, by one of their surveyors, J. Milton Holley, in 1796. He commenced clearing land and keeping bachelor’s hall on Tract 12. This tract in equalization was deeded to Samuel Parkman, containing 1105 acres. It appears that Charles Parker and Ebenezer Merry each sowed a piece of wheat in the fall of 1798. This was known at this early day by its location as the Marsh settlement. The winter of 1799 and 1800, Mr. Merry returned to his father’s residence in Avon, N.Y. Here he met Miss Charlotte Adams, her father had moved from Utica with his family to Avon in Feb., 1800. Mr. Merry was visiting his father, Ebenezer Merry Sr. to spend the winter and, as he said, “to also get him a wife.” They were married May 5, 1800 and on May 14th, they left Avon, on horseback for Ohio. They were accompanied by Hosmer Merry, a younger brother, and after passing Buffalo, by Judge E. Austin, of Austinburg, and a Mr. Wright. The road was but an Indian trial, and the streams were crossed by fording and sometimes in a canoe, while the horses swam over. One night they stayed at an Indian’s, and once in a lonely camp in the woods; but they generally found shelter in the log houses of the scattered settlers. This romantic bridal tour was completed in twelve days, arriving at the Marsh settlement in Mentor, on May 26th, 1800. At their arrival at the Marsh settlement, there were three families, viz., Charles Parker, Jared Ward, and Moses Parks. Written by C. C. Bronson

It is well known that the marshes and streams of the Reserve in the early days sent forth malaria that caused a sickness that hardly any escaped. The Marsh is in the northeast part of Mentor extending from Black Brook to where it empties into the lake at the west end of the Headlands. Long and continued sickness of the families at the Marsh compelled them to abandon their home and cleared land, and seek a healthier local. In the winter of 1801-02, Mr. Merry moved his family to the farm now owned by Mr. Isaac Sawyer, on the east line of Mentor. In 1801 David Abbot petitioned the Court of Quarter Sessions for a committee to lay out a road from Abbot’s Mills at Chagrin east to new Jerusalem. This road, I believe, generally conceded to be the South Ridge road, so long the great travelled road west and east. On this road, Mr. Merry settled. The Court of Quarter Sessions, in May, 1801, appointed for the town of Painesville (which was all of Lake Co. with the exception of the town of Madison) John Walworth, Commissioner of the Territorial Tax on Land; David Abbot, Lister of Taxable Property; Ebenezer Merry, Constable, Jesse Phelps and Jared Ward, Poor Masters; David Abbot and Edward Payne, Supervisors of Highway; John Walworth, Eleazer Payne and Jesse Phelps, Free Holders to settle accounts with Supervisors; Ebenezer Merry and Charles Parker, Fence Viewers; Edward Payne, and David Abbot, Appraisers of Taxable Property. The place for town election of Painesville was at Ebenezer Merry’s house in Mentor. This house is described as being on the road or path leading from the Oak Openings, the present village of Painesville to Chagrin (now Willoughby). Written by C. C. Bronson

p. 1 Pioneer Matters – by C. C. Bronson

I neglected to mention in its proper place, that the Electors of the town of Painesville met at the house of Ebenezer Merry, in the Marsh Settlement in October, 1801. All but two voted in favor to form a convention for a State Government. The two opposed were Jesse Phelps, who when Geauga Co. was organized was one of the Associate Judges, and Charles Parker, who was elected the first Sheriff of Geauga County. This was the first meeting for the transaction of business in the original town of Painesville every held. At the same time and place a military election was held for a choice of officers to command the first and only company of militia in the then town of Painesville.

Edward Paine Jr. was chosen Captain; Charles Parker, Lieutenant; and Ebenezer Merry was chosen Ensign. From a historical communication from Abram Tappan, of Unionville, in 1850:

If I have correct information, Esq. Merry sold his farm to Benjamin Sawyer, in 1814. He left Mentor Nov. 1, 1814, with his family for Milan, in Huron Co., Ohio with two teams—one of horses and one ox team, arriving in Milan, Nov. 8. An incident on the way: Mrs. Merry who was in the back wagon, observed Mr. Merry and the driver of the foremost team examining a bridge which lay before them as though doubtful of its strength. Several of the children were seated on the wagon, and she called to the men to take them from the wagon, but seeing the determine to drive on, she sprang to the ground and ran after them. Her urgent entreaties prevailed and they reluctantly took them down. It was well they did so, for before the team was half way across, the bridge gave way. By hard urging the oxen got over, taking the forward wheels of the wagon with them, the wagon went down about 16 feet bottom side up. “Well, coolly remarked Mr. Merry, women’s fears do good sometimes, don’t they.”

Ebenezer Merry, after his removal from Mentor to Milan, did much to help along the settlement, built a saw mill and grist mill in 1817, which was of great benefit to the settlers. He was elected Representative from Ashtabula, Geauga, and Huron Counties in the 17th General Assembly of Ohio, taking his seat Dec. 7, 1818, also a seat in the 18th in 1819. Ebenezer Merry, Esq., died at his house in Milan, Jan. 2, 1856, age 72 yrs. Both in Western New York and in Ohio he was thrown, in the early period of his residence, into frequent contact with the Indians, whose confidence he always won by his kindness and affectionate treatment. As an instance of this, since his removal to this State, the Seneca Chief Red Jacket, on his way West to attend an Indian Council, turned aside to spend a night beneath the hospitable roof of his ancient friend. (Was this treaty the one held at Fort Industry on the Maumee in 1805; if so this celebrated Indian chief lodged in Mentor. –C.C.B)

The “Home for Aged Women” is now ready for occupancy, and will be an important and much needed addition to the charitable institutions of the city. Its object is to provide a home for the most helpless and pitiable class of persons in the world—aged, poor, and friendless women. The conditions of admission are these: The applicant must reside in northern Ohio, be a Protestant, pay a fee of $150, and be of the age of 60 or more years. While the wisdom of imposing an admission fee may be questioned, the general value of the institution cannot admit of a doubt. The newspaper men of Cleveland seem to have lost all regard for the Sabbath and hereafter both the Herald and the Leader will be issued on every day of the week; this makes six Sunday papers.

p. 1 Pioneer Matters, by C. C. Bronson, June 8, 1877
I think it is an admitted fact that the first marriage on the Western Reserve was at Cleveland. Rev. John Seward, for thirty years’ pastor of the Congregational Church in Aurora, left among his papers the results of interview with Judge Amzi Atwater, one of the surveying parties of 1776, and 1777, and from 1800 until his death a resident of Mantua, Portage Co. He related to Mr. Seward “that early in the spring of 1777, Lorenzo Carter and Ezekiel Hawley arrived in Cleveland. A young woman accompanied them from the state of New York, who in the course of the summer was married by Seth Hart, the agent of the surveying party, and an authorized preacher of the gospel. This is supposed to have been the first marriage on the Reserve, according to the usages of civilized nations. In Whittlesey’s History of Cleveland, in the statement of Alonzo Carter he says: “In July, 1777, our hired girl was married to a Mr. Clement from Canada. They were married by Mr. Seth Hart, who was a minister, and an agent of the land company.” Mr. Seth Hart was a graduate of Yale College, of the class of 1784, and died in 1832. This without any doubt was the first marriage on the Connecticut Western Reserve—and we may regret that we do not have the names of the parties in full or the day of the month preserved. It is equally plain that the marriage of James Hamilton and Parthena Mingus was the second marriage on the Western Reserve, and the first in Mentor, and in the old county of Geauga.

Pioneer Times

In the sketches of Bloomfield, Trumbull Co., Early Days, we find the following:

Many incidents are related by the children of the first settlers now living in the township, some of which I will relate. Mr. Ferry came on evening to Mr. Howe’s for the purpose of getting some veal. But as Mr. Howe and he were both very fond of music they became engaged in singing and the night drew on. Finally, late in the evening, Mr. F. started out to find his way home, with his veal upon his shoulder. He had gone just a short distance when he was alarmed by the howl of a wolf, and then of another wolf, until a considerable pack was evidently on his track. He attempted for some time to reach home but finding that this was likely to be impossible, he climbed a tree and remained there until the danger was past.

At another time, the same pioneer, being out until night overtook him, was very closely pursued by the wolves, and finally climbed a tree quite near his own cabin, and several men who were at that time boarding with him, came running to his rescue with their rifles.

Something rather peculiar occurred here in the early times in regard to the hogs. The pioneers invariably allowed their swine to run at large during the summer and fall for the purpose of obtaining their keeping from the roots and nuts of the forest. Late in the autumns as many as could be found, would be confined in rail pens to be fattened. But each year some would escape, and so it came about that in the course of several years quite a large number of wild and ferocious hogs were roving through the woods. With their long legs and huge tusks of several years’ growth, they were really the most formidable animal the forest afforded with perhaps the exception of the wolves and bears. Occasionally there would be a hunt of these Ohio wild boars, and quite often the boars would turn upon their pursuers, who would have to climb trees to escape their fury. N. B. Ferry tells me that quite often in search of the cows, his dog would start one of these animals, which by his squealing would attract others until in a short time there was a force of them to turn upon the dog and himself. The dog would use every force within his power to escape his pursuers, the young man was usually obliged to climb a tree or a high root. Mr. Howe had a bear kill a calf and after several days of setting traps finally brought it down. The bear weighed over 400 lbs.

A memorial resolution is published by the Thompson Div. No. 179, S. of T., June 12, 1877, on the death of a member, Clarrie Long.

What our Forefathers Did for a Living
There are many trades no longer practiced. Half a century ago, bellows making was a thriving trade. Every house had its pair of bellows and every mansion had a pair hung by the side of every fireplace. But as stoves and grates took over open fireplaces and coal was substituted for wood, the demand for bellows diminished until the business as a trade quite died out. The same is true of flint cutting. Flints were once necessary, not only for firearms but for tinder boxes, and a tinder box was as necessary for every house as a gridiron or skillet. Everyone who looks back to childhood for forty odd years ago, must remember the cold winter mornings when the persistent crack of the flint against the hard steel sent up from the kitchen the odor of igniting tinder and sulphur which pervaded the house. There used to be a man who called at our door with brimstone matches for sale, three or four times a week. Both these things have completely vanished from New England. Gone are the pin makers who made pins by hand, taking a dozen to cut, grind, point, head polish. This is now done by machines. Nails used to be made one at a time on an anvil. Now from 10 to 1,000 nails per minute are made by machines. In the days of President Madison and Monroe, and even later, straw bonnet making was practiced in every middle-class house where there were growing families. At my grandfather’s around the huge fireplace, we boys, who crowded upon the settee, used to pass winter evenings splitting straw, while the lades were plaiting them. Then bonnets covered the head with a margin of a foot or two to spare, under which dimpling smiles and witching curls nestled in comfort.

Elgin, Illinois – June 18, 1877
A few Lake Co. residents are located here. Benjamin Cox, at one time a resident of Painesville and son of Mrs. Lydia Colby lately deceased of Painesville; he has been here a good many years and is reported to be wealthy. Horace French is also independent, has been a resident of this place for 24 years. Silas Gates lived in Painesville for one year some 35 years ago. The late Roswell Smith, who died two years ago, and was known by the old settlers in Arbuckles’ and Latimore’s time, was a brother-in-law of K. E. A. Bell; the family consisting of two daughters and one son reside here still. I, also, find a Mrs. Vandusen here, sister of our townsman, J. R. Hall, who I think never lived in Lake County.

p. 3 D. C. Beard, of New York, civil engineer, son of J. H. Beard, the artist, was in town last week.

Mrs. M. A. Croswell leaves tomorrow for Howell, Michigan, to spend a few weeks with the family of our former townsman, Mr. W. H. Gaines.

Orrin M. Thompson, telegrapher, son of D. Thompson, is spending a few days at home. He is assistant train dispatcher and stationed at Louisville, Ky.

G. W. Stevens, of Norfolk, Va., arrived in town on Monday, called here by the extreme illness of his father, whose death occurred Sunday.

Patrick Shannon, a coal heaver at Ashtabula Harbor, was run over by a freight train last Friday and instantly killed. Being busy at work himself and the noise of shovels about him, he failed to hear the approach of the train.

Jas. Shelfer and wife started last week on a visit to England of several months’ duration.

Among our marriage notices of this week is that of Thos. H. Marshall (son of S. Marshall) formerly of this place), to Miss Margaret Louise Davis, of Davenport, Iowa.

Death of an Old Citizen
Dessalines Stevens died at his residence on State St. last Sunday, age 72 years. He is an old resident. For the past six months or more he had been suffering with pulmonary illness of which he died.

p. 1 Pioneer Matters
Mrs. Charlotte Merry, by C. C. Bronson
This venerable pioneer is still living in Milan or was a few months since, at the age of 97 years, or will be Aug. 17, 1877. She was a pioneer bride of 19, settling on the heavy timbered land in the north part of Mentor. Mr. and Mrs. Merry were the parents of nine children, six of which were born in Mentor, viz: Sarah, Mary, Julia, Martin, Samuel and Lucy. Elizabeth, Ebenezer, and Charlotte, were born in Milan. In 1856, the fourth daughter, Mrs. Lucy Pier (who with her husband had emigrated to Texas 21 years previous) paid her first visit to her old home. During her stay, there was a family meeting. Mrs. Merry, her sons and daughters, their wives and husbands were all present, except Mr. James B. Pier. In all that long absence but one link had been broken. The above are mostly extracts from an autobiography of Mrs. Merry, written by Seth Jennings and is found in the 9th Vol. of the Fire Lands Pioneer, 1808. Is Mrs. Merry, the only pioneer of Lake Co. living of the year 1800?

Trip Through Arizona, May 25, 1877
(From a letter from Seth Marshall Jr. to his mother, Mrs. Seth Marshall of this town.)
I have just returned from a trip through the Territory of Arizona. We left Los Angeles on July 5, 1877

March 7, glad to get out of the city, as the small pox was raging at the time we were there. Our rig consisted of a covered wagon and four horses. We took nothing but what was necessary for the trip, as the journey was to be a hard one. We took provisions, blankets, mining tools and arms. Almost the whole country is one vast desert of sand, covered with a thousand varieties of the cactus, some of which are very beautiful, and especially when in bloom, but after passing over a few hundred miles of sand your interest in them weakens. The grandest specimen of all is the Pillar cactus, which grows erect in the shape of a round column. I have seen them as large around as the locust tree in front of the house and forty feet high. Although growing on the dry deserts they are filled with sap, and many a man’s life has been saved by cutting into them and getting the juice to drink. Our first camp was at El Monte, eighteen miles from Los Angeles. One of our party (Webster) was a good bread maker and general cook, so he took charge of that department, the rest of us taking charge of the horses and acting as general aids, the most disagreeable part I found was washing the dishes. We had fresh bread every day, but bacon and beans were the staples. Quail and rabbits were very plentiful, so occasionally we would make a stew. Every morning we had black coffee and at night plain tea. I walked most of the distance traveled as the roads were very heavy, and the horses had to go slow. We made early starts so to get as far on our way as possible before it got so terribly warm. The nights were invariably cool. We all had canvas sheets to spread on the ground under our blankets which kept them clean. As a protection against snakes, centipedes, scorpions & c. we each had a hair rope which we laid on the ground around our beds. The ropes are made of coarse horse hair and are very rough. The theory is that the ends of the hair sticking out from the rope prick the snakes so that they avoid them. Our second camp was at Cocomango Ranch, which place is quite celebrated for its fine vineyards, and wine cellars, which are filled with native wines made from grapes grown on the ranch. The old Mormon settlement, San Bernadino, we passed through on Sunday. We passed by several orange groves. We picked some oranges and bought them from the old Mormon who owned the place. We passed through San Gorgonia Pass and White River, making a camp at each place reaching Aqua Caliente (Warm Spring) the sixth night out. I took a mud bath in the spring, which forms a sort of basin where it boils out of the mud. At our next station “Indian Wells”, we bought our first water, 12 ½ cents for each animal. We were allowed all we wanted to use ourselves free of charge. It is the custom all through this desert country to charge for water where it is only found in wells. Our eighth camp was at an Indian ranch, about twenty miles from Dos Palms. The water we found strongly impregnated with alkali. Although the town was only one day old when we got there were many stores, two hotels and three or four saloons. Some of the buildings were put together with hooks and eyes, and others were made in part or all of canvas. Our course from here to Ehrenberg, on the Colorado River, lay through a sandy dry waste of country with long drives between water. At one place the well was dry. It was quite deep and we could get a little out with a tin cup as the water was too low for a pail. Our horses were nearly exhausted so it was out of the question reaching the next water. I went down the well and succeeded in getting enough water to last us until we reached the next station. We did not waste it in washing our dishes I assure you. After supper, each one laid his plate away for the morning. Whenever we were short of water we always voted enough for our cook to wash his hands in before making his bread. On the fourteenth day out from Los Angeles, we reached the Colorado and rested a day. We passed through Wickmberg, Phoenix, and Salt River Valley, reaching Florence after a trip of 25 days. After two days’ rest, we started for our destination passing up the Gila through San Carlos Reservation, and then north toward Camp Apache. Within 35 miles of Camp Apache,
July 5, 1877
we were attacked by Indians during the night. We kept them off until daylight, and went back to Florence. There I took the stage for Yuma, leaving the rest of the party at Globe to prospect.

p. 2 Madison Gazette
We are indebted to L. D. Brockway for the following snake story: Recently there was some company at the house of Mr. L. E. Neff, Perry, and his little boy, age about 3 years, went into the parlor bedroom to get a new pair of shoes to show his friends. He made some outcry and his mother going to see what the trouble was, found a black snake under the bureau that measured 5 feet in length.

“What has become of the honey bees?” asks a correspondent. Really, we do not know. We supposed there were enough about the country. But we do know that there are as many in town as we need. We learn that for a few years past the crop of bees has been rapidly lessening; whether from cold winter, or drought, or lack of care, or all combined. We had supposed, however, that farmers or bee raiser had grown tired of bee husbandry and let it die out.

Judge David Paige

Description of his funeral. He had a coffin of black velvet with heavy silver trimmings.

Judge Paige came to Madison, Lake Co., from Vermont in 1832, and moved to Painesville about 20 yrs. ago. He was one of the early directors of the Lake Shore Railway Co. When Lake was first set aside as a county, he was chosen Associate Judge, and served until the law providing for the office was abolished. Judge Paige was a lifelong Democrat. He was 71 yrs. old. He leaves a wife and four sons, two of the latter residing at Painesville and two in Akron.

p. 1 Pioneer Matters

On the return of Ebenezer Merry with his young wife, in May, 1800, they were accompanied by a younger brother, Hosmer Merry. He was born at Kinderhook, N.Y., in 1733. At the age of 11 years, his father moved to Genesee Co. At the age of 17, he with his brother, Ebenezer, started for the (then) far west, stopping at Mentor, Ohio, at which place there was then no town. When he was 21 he returned to Genesee Co., remaining about a year at which time he returned again to Mentor. Feb. 28, 1807, he was married to Miss Sarah Frost, who was born in Watertown, Ct., Oct. 18, 1787. In Dec., 1810, he came to what is called Milan at this day, locating on a farm one and a half miles below the village, on which he built a log house. He moved his family there in Feb., 1811. They remained there most of the time during 1812 and 1813, seeking refuge and protection in cases of alarm in the block house at Camp Avery, which was some two miles from his farm. In 1812, he was drafted for 6 months. He entered his team and went as a teamster, and as such was engaged in transporting supplies for the army and was frequently at Fort Croghan. He and several others took supplies by boat to the fleet on Lake Erie; they could see the red uniform of the British about the American vessels. They were hailed from the fleet and were assured Commodore Perry was victorious. In the spring of 1833, he moved to Oxford Township. His first wife died August, 1825,
July 26, 1877
leaving six children viz: Ebenezer O., Henry F., Fanny, George A., William W. and Betsey P., all of whom are now living except Betsey who died Sept. 2, 1843. He was married the second time in 1826 to Sarah Reed, who at this date is still living in Milan. By her, he had two children, Mary A. and Stephen. He was Justice of the Peace of Oxford Township at the time of his death which occurred Aug. 23, age 52 yrs. Hosmer Merry was probably a resident of Mentor from 1800 to 1820 or 1821, with the exception of one year.

Mr. Adam Acheson Jr. – Obituary
From the Erie (Pa.) Dispatch, July 28
The remains of Mr. Adam Acheson Jr., who died at Oconomowoc, Waukesha Co., Wis., on the 24th inst., arrived in this city yesterday by rail in the custody of his brother-in-law, Mr. Thomas Wilkins. Mr. Acheson was the last remaining son of our well known and esteemed citizen Mr. Adam Acheson Sr. He was born in this city in 1850, and was, therefore, 27 yrs. old. He was unmarried and highly respected, and for years held the position of cashier in the office of the Lake Shore Railroad Co. which he was obliged to relinquish about six months ago due to failing health. He took a trip to Oconomowoc, Wis., where consumptives frequently derive benefit. He was a member of the Odd Fellows. Mr. Adam Acheson Sr. was for several years a well-known and esteemed resident of Painesville.

Death of Hon. Uri Seeley
In the death of Mr. Seeley, we lose an old and respected citizen, having settled on the place where he lived and died more than 60 yrs. ago. His death took place at his homestead, located some two miles east of the town on the south Ridge Rd., in Freidan Aug. 10. His age was 86 yrs.
At one time, he was Sheriff of Geauga Co., embracing what is now Geauga and Lake, at that day a very important office, from 1824 to 1828. In 1831-32, he represented the district in the Senate of Ohio. In 1835, he was appointed by the governor of the State one of the Commissioners to run and establish the disputed or contested boundary line between Ohio and Michigan, which at that time threatened to involve the states in a general civil war. He was among the first anti-slavery men of Ohio, one of the “Old Liberty Guard.” The deceased leaves a second wife, his first wife having died a number of years ago, and children as follows: Boudinot Seeley, an only son, and three daughters, Mrs. Parthena J. Keith, Mrs. Lavinia Gould, and Mrs. Elizabeth Turney, all of whom were present at his

A Bad Accident
Last Saturday, Thomas Osmond, of Burton had a frightful accident on the Chardon Road some two miles south of this place. He had a full load of lime which he got in Painesville; while on the hill the horses became frightened and dashed down the hill, the front wheels striking the culvert at the bottom with such force that the wagon body was throw some twenty feet on top of Mr. Osmond. The horses ran on until they reached Mr. Palmer’s residence. The alarm was given and several persons proceeded along the road until they reached the wreck, where they found Mr. Osmond. He was insensible with his head and face badly cut and almost buried in the fine lime dust which seemed to be burning his flesh and eyes. At this time Mr. A. G. Smith, of this place, and others who happened along, assisted in getting the man to Mr. Palmer’s. He was able to be removed to his home in Burton the following day.

4th. Mrs. Birge was the daughter of the late
Solomon Porter and the wife of the late Judge
Isaac Perkins were her sisters. Mrs. Margaret Harrison, of Philadelphia, wife of Mr. Apollos
Harrison, is a daughter of Thomas Belden, and a half-sister of Mrs. Birge, and she is now the only one living of Mr. Belden’s sons and daughters.
Aug. 23, 1877
The brothers were Thomas, Luther, Horace and Henry. A certain interest in the post office building was left for her use by her husband, Judge Birge, who died in 1863. It now goes to the step-daughter of Mr. Birge, Jane E. Phelps, wife of Rev. Alanson Phelps, of Painesville, Ohio. She leaves no children.

From the Far West
R. T. Greer wrote a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Greer, of this place, from Pueblo, Col., dated Aug. 8, 1877. He writes they all arrived there well and shall go on from there to Fort Garland, then to Del Norte, Silverton, Lake City, and back to Pueblo again. Across the plains, they could see Pike’s Peak from 150 miles away. They followed the old Santa Fe route across the plains. It was only the last few days that they had trouble finding water they could use. Where they are now camped, there is a nice spring. The water is very cool and pleasant. They passed a good many people on the plains going back to Kansas, Missouri and some to Arkansas. They were on foot, on horseback, in carts, and some in wagons drawn by cows.

Murderous Assault on a Woman 80 Years of Age
A revolting attempt was made to murder Mrs. Mehitable Paige, residing at Adrian, Michigan, by her son-in-law, W. M. Godly. Both the victim and the accused were formerly residents of Painesville. Mrs. Paige was the widow of John Paige.

From the Detroit Post — Wm. A Godley, a well-known drummer in the boot and shoe trade, and a resident of this place, was arrested this afternoon for the intent to commit murder on his mother-in-law, Mrs. Paige, age 80 yrs., by beating her head to a pumice on a large stone in the cellar. Her groans attracted the attention of neighbors, who found her, and suspicion fastened upon him and he was arrested at the Central Hotel in the act of blacking his boots, on which blood was discovered, as also on some portions of his clothing. It is not supposed she will live through the night. Mrs. Godly was downtown and no one was in the house but he old lady. The old lady owned the house where she lived, and had some money at interest, which he has tried to get possession of for some time. On Monday, Mrs. Paige was still living but not conscious.

p. 1  The Pioneers
The annual meeting of the Cuyahoga Co. Pioneers was held in Solon last Wednesday. The audience was estimated at over 5,000. A large number of relics were displayed among them a linen towel, spun and woven by Miss Polly Ellsworth in 1788, at Meriden, Connecticut, and a cane cut from the first fort built in the United States in 1585 by the first settlers of the United States on Roanoke Island. Solomon Walker, 82 yrs. old, of Newbury, Geauga Co., was one who told stories. He helped build all the first bridges in Auburn Township. Next to speak was Solomon Miller, of Mayfield, 93 yrs. old, the oldest man present. He told a story about a wolf. Mr. Basil Thorpe lived in the county the longest. He lived in Ohio 78 years. Next was Mr. Hunt, who has lived on Tinker’s Creek for 62 yrs. Nelson Eggleston was called and said that his father and mother were pioneers of this section; and he often heard her tell a story of getting lost in Streetsboro Swamp when he was a boy. Her horse broke loose from where he was tied and came and stood over her all night long while the wolves howled and the storm raged. N. B. Sherwin, of Cleveland, said that he was not a pioneer, but he would like to relate a story given him by a pioneer mother. She was located in Orange, almost within the sound of his voice. She felled trees, and planted, and reaped and kept her family together, and said to me that she felt more than paid for all she had done. One of her sons is now among the leading men of the nation. That woman was the mother of James A. Garfield. Who will say that this spirit that was there imparted to him by his mother has not shown itself in his life, and made him, to a large extent, what he now is.

The blockade of Erie St. has been removed and it is now a macadam street; yet it is more than that. The bed of the street was covered with large stone, a foot in diameter, before the macadamizing commenced, and the covering of small stone is equal to any of the street of Eastern cities.

Weather: The melancholy days are upon us, if drizzling rain, moaning wind, and dark grey weather mean more than falling leaves and first white frosts. It is just the style to sneeze, and very fashionable to snuffle and quite impossible to say cinnamon, and the victims of hay fever are numerous “tears in their eyes,” & c.

There was considerable excitement over the first report of the assignment of Dodd & Son, Woolen Factory. The anxiety has not grown less as the real standing of the firm came to light. Even if the creditors are paid 50 cents on the dollar, which is doubtful, the loss to over a score of creditors will be heavy.

Madison, Middle Ridge, Sept. 10, 1877
We have quite a heroine here in Madison, in the person of Miss Dell Bates, a little maiden of 5 years, the daughter of Mr. J. D. Bates. She had been left in the wagon to hold the lines while her brother took a package of groceries which had broken open into the house. He had so sooner set foot in the house than the horses “lit out.” The little one not being able to hold the reins, climbed behind the seat and held on watching the horses race over a large stone heap, a ditch three feet deep, turned a corner on two wheels, ran over a hitching post, and finally about a mile from home hit a gate post which threw one of the horses, enabling another brother on horseback to catch up. She greeted him with “I ain’t hurt a bit.” This seems the more wonderful because barrels of phosphate were rolling about in the wagon.

Mr. James Patchin and Miss Addie A. Pope, of North Madison, have married.

p. 3 Wm. H. Wheeler, of LeRoy, was adjudged insane last week, and the necessary steps taken for his admission to the Insane Hospital at Newburgh.

Last week Mrs. J. M. Turney and Mrs. O. B. Gould, daughters of the late Hon. Uri Seeley, with their children, left for home; the former to Brooklyn, N.Y., and the latter to Franklin Furnace, Scioto Co., Ohio.

N. K. Hubbard and family who have been spending the season in Painesville, left for their home in Fargo, Dakota, last week via the lakes to Duluth and then by rail. Mr. Hubbard has been improving of his lameness, and it is hoped may soon entirely recover from it.

J. W. Alexander and family returned to their home at Parker’s Landing on Monday. Their summer visit in Painesville has been a pleasant one to themselves and friends.

On Monday, Mrs. and Mrs. W. L. Bacon received a dispatch from Gross Isle, announcing the sudden and dangerous illness of their daughter, Minnie, who had recently gone there on a visit. Mrs. and Mrs. B. left for the Isle the same evening.

Jas. Shelfer and wife returned last Saturday from a three months’ visit to their former home in England. Mr. S. may now be found at his furniture rooms near the Court House.

C. D. Ferguson, of northeast LeRoy, having sold his farm to Horatio Osborne, has moved to Painesville. He has purchased the Ben. Stuart brick house and property east of the river, to which he will move in the spring. He has, also, purchased a house and lot of H. W. Tibbals, on Casement Ave., and a farm in Geneva.

Mrs. John Paige who was attacked by her son-in-law at Adrian, Michigan is improving, but at her advanced age it is not expected she will fully recover her bodily or mental strength.

The little daughter of Dr. Sherwood, of Unionville, Clara R., age 10 yrs., died of typhoid fever, from which her father has been so long a sufferer. We learn that a younger daughter is very ill with the same disease.

Details of the fatal accident of last week where Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Lockwood, of Geneva, were killed by a train. Her son, W. R. Lockwood, of Painesville, was immediately notified and went to the depot. Two other sons, conductors on the Lake Shore were telegraphed, and arrived soon afterwards. Mr. John Lockwood, a nephew of the deceased, was in Painesville and visited the scene of the accident soon after. The five sons and only daughter, Mrs. Tenney, of the deceased were at the station to accompany the lifeless remains of their parents’ home.

The high tight rope man, Prof. Dare, was in town Friday and gave two exhibitions. The rope spanned Main St. midway between St. Clair and State, and was nearly 45 feet above the ground. He did a great variety of suspensions and posturing which were well done. By the means of loops attached to the bottom side of the rope, he “walked” backwards and upside down across the street.

Ashtabula News

W. J. Goodrich, of Munson Hill, informs us that Mrs. Lydia Bell, of Lenox, was 98 years old last April 6, and is wonderfully well preserved and active. She reads the Bible without spectacles, and can repeat chapter by chapter from memory. Within the last two months she has ridden over 100 miles in a common platform-spring wagon, in visiting relatives and friends. Mrs. Bell was one of the pioneers of Lenox Township. Peace and happiness be with her.

We learn that Dr. Spellman, of Rome, died last Monday and was buried yesterday.

While Robert Rennick, of Saybrook was riding on horseback last Sunday, his horse fell, and Mr. R. was thrown violently to the ground, breaking his left leg between the knee and ankle.

From the Far West – G. A. Shepard, Co. H., 2nd Inft. USA; Spokane Falls, W. T., Aug. 13, 1877

We left Lewiston, Idaho, on the first of the month and reached here three days ago after a march of 125 miles. We camped on what is called Clear Water River, as beautiful a stream as I ever saw. There is plenty of game, prairie chickens and wild ducks in great numbers and some deer. Our march was along the line between Washington Territory and Idaho. We saw some of the best country ever and some of the poorest. It is being settled very fast, but I hardly think I would like to live here. The people that come here and take up land, never get money enough to get away. There are over 500 infantry and two companies of cavalry, 250 men, which compose the left wing of General Howard’s force in these parts. We are waiting for the council or pow-wow to come off that takes place tomorrow, and then we will know where we will be sent to next. The chiefs are all here except Moses the chief of the Columbians, and it will not be very pleasant for him if he does not come. He has some 500 warriors and refuses to go on the reservation. The settlers cause a great deal of the trouble. The Indians get settled on good land, and along comes a white man and wants good land, too, so he gets on their reservation and gets killed, and that means war. And some of the

p. 3 Weather: During the greater part of the last ten days the weather has been very near perfection—neither hot nor cold, with balmy air and the softest sunshine.

Dr. H. H. and Mrs. Jackson, of Chicago, have been at the Cowles House during the past week. Dr. J. was formerly a resident physician of this place.

Gen. and Mrs. Casement left for Kansas on Monday to be absent about three weeks. Mr. Geo. W. Steele joins them for the trip today at Toledo—having a Kansas farm in the same section as Mr. Casement’s.

A convention of physicians of Ashtabula Co. was held at Ashtabula last week for the purpose of organizing a Medical Society, at which a constitution and bylaws were adopted and officers chosen. (Officers names not printed.)

Mr. Erastus Hodges, of Newbury, Geauga Co., showed us a memento of Jan. 1, 1829 which was a “ball ticket” as they were then called, inviting him to a dance to be held at J. Card’s Assembly Room, Chagrin. At 4 o’clock p.m. The managers were S. Wilson, W. Goodman, E. A. Ward, E. Young, S. Corning, and E. L. Goodman. What was Chagrin is now Willoughby. Messrs. J. Card and S. Corning were afterwards residents of Painesville, the former for many years keeping the old Stage House at the foot of Main St. Mr. Hodges is an old resident of the county and a citizen of Concord over 20 yrs. before moving to Newbury.

Meeting of the Pioneers
The Pioneers of Lake Co. assembled on Wednesday of last week in the beautiful grove of Alfred Morley, near the Flats in Kirtland. A large concourse, from 1200 to 1500 and representing every township in the county, was present, in addition to a goodly number form Geauga and Cuyahoga Counties. At 11 o’clock the meeting was called to order and “Old Hundred” was sung. The roll of officers was announced: President, Alfred Morley, Kirtland Vice Presidents, Harvey Morse, Kirtland; Calvin Ingersoll, Mentor, George Tiffany, Chester; E. G. Bunnell, Willoughby; Lyman Nye, Painesville; Asa Turney, Madison; W. B. Tuttle, Concord; Moses Thompson, Perry; John Prentiss, LeRoy; E.J. Ferris, Chardon; Secretary, L. H. Luse, Mentor.

After dinner, the list of names was read of those who were present last year over 60 yrs. of age, and as the names were read those present answered with their names and ages when called.

p. 3 Mrs. R. M. Wilson, of St. Louis, Michigan, recently made a short visit to her friends in Painesville and vicinity.

Dr. Geo. H. Wilson leaves today for Ann Arbor, Michigan for a second course of studies and lectures in the Medical department of the University at that place.

Mrs. Ann Maria, wife of Orrin Skinner, died in Painesville, at their residence on Nebraska St., Sept. 16, age 37 yrs. Mrs. Skinner had been an invalid during the past five years suffering from slow consumption.

Married in Painesville, Sept. 20, Mr. Frederick A. Preston, of Evansville, Indiana, and Miss Mary Charline Willard, of this city. The wedding took place at the residence of the bride’s mother at 11 o’clock a.m. The bride’s dress was rich silk, with the finest point lace. A wreath of simple white flowers, with solitaire diamond earrings the wedding gift of the groom, were the only ornaments. The wedding breakfast was served in fine style. The bride’s brother, Mr. C. A. Willard, presented the couple with exquisite fine German Lithographs in oil, in frames of walnut and gold. Valuable silver was the gift from the mother of the bride and relatives of the bride and groom. The couple left right after the wedding breakfast on an extended wedding tour. They are at present in Montreal and will visit the Thousand Isles and many eastern cities.

The Doran Brothers have opened a Marble and Monument Establishment in Franklin, Pa. and will complete their removal from Painesville the coming week. Messrs. Kleeberger & Morley take the business location made vacant by this change, and move their marble establishment from the foot of Main St. to the Doran Block on State St.

We made a visit to Mr. H. C. Jewell who lives on the high point of ground a few rods up from the swing bridge over Grand River. He has been for years an almost helpless invalid, his lower limbs, left side and arm, paralyzed. Yet, we found him very cheerful and seemingly happy. His room overlooked a yard of flowers. Mr. Jewell passes much of his time reading and keeps well posted on what is going on in the world. He was a soldier in the late rebellion, where he received his spinal injury that has made him an invalid.

Died
In LeRoy, Lake Co., O., Sept. 15, John Prentiss age 80 yrs., 4 mos., 15 days. He was born in New Boston, Vermont, April 30, 1797. In 1799, he moved with his father’s family to Acworth, N.H., where he resided until 1818, when he came to Ohio, making the journey on foot. He located at Warrensville, Cuyahoga Co. He next year he returned to N.H., making part of the journey in the “Walk-in-the-Water.” The first steamboat on Lake Erie. The next year, he came back to Ohio bringing his brother, Luther, with him, who now resides in Warrensville, near where they located. On Dec. 3, 1821, he married Mahala Huntoon, sister of Captains Scribner and Corbin Huntoon, late of Concord in this county. He moved to Concord a few years after his marriage. In 1827, he moved to LeRoy on a piece of new land which constitutes the farm on which he died, and which has ever since been his home. He was one of the pioneers of this county and was a man of great on the Furnace Hill on the east side of the bridge. He had a wagon load of wood, and in going down the hill the team could not hold it back; and from appearances, when near the foot of the hill, the man was thrown off the wood with a large part of the wood on top of him. He lived but a few minutes after being found. He was a relative of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brown on Elm St. with whom he was temporarily residing. He was about 65 yrs. old and leaves a wife and several children in New York.

Death of Warren H. Youmans

Warren H. Youmans died on the 16th ultimo. On the day of his death, Mr. Youmans was in his usual health and visited a neighbor’s, returned home and ate dinner. Shortly after dinner, he responded to a knock on the door and as his visitor came in remarked that he felt dizzy and laid down on the lounge. He remained in a stupor and died within a few hours. He was about 62 yrs. old and leaves a wife and two sons. He had been a subscriber to the Telegraph for 46 years.

Hall & Stebbins, not knowing what the rules and regulations were on entries for premiums at the late Fair, carried their flour in sacks instead of barrels, and were told by Mr. Stone, the Secretary that it would make no difference; and the committee appointed for that purpose gave us a premium on White Rose, Amber, and Graham. The sacks and sample boxes contained one barrel of flour, or a little more. Now, we wish to know by what authority a self-constituted committee had to change the action of the awarding committee appointed for that purpose by the Board?

Ravenna Democrat
Brainerd Selby, of Paris, was elected a Justice of the Peace in that township in 1837, forty years ago. He held the office till 1843, when he retired from it. Eight years thereafter in 1851, he was again elected Justice of the Peace and has held the office continually, by repeated elections ever since. Eight years late in 1851, he was again elected Justice of the Peace, and has held the office continually, by repeated elections ever since—making an aggregate of 32 years in the office. Mr. Selby is a public spirited and useful citizen and as such enjoys the universal respect of his fellow citizens.

Warren Tribune

Our Johnston correspondent informs us that the town is in mourning for three residents who have recently died. Mr. Ebenezer Jackson died suddenly last week of congestion of the lungs. He had resided in the town about 70 years. Last Sunday, Isaac Mowrey Jr. died; and on Monday Homer D. Hine, of the firm of Hine & Milliken died. His disease was bilious typhoid fever.

p. 3 Hon. G. W. Scofield, wife and daughter, of Warren, Pa., are making a short visit to their friends in Painesville.

Rev. W. H. Haskell, now stationed at Talmadge, has been making his relatives and friends in Perry a week’s visit.

Geo. M. Barber, formerly of Palo, Iowa, has changed his location, his present address being Iowa City, in the same state.

Mr. J. B. Martin, for some time past he attentive and obliging clerk of the Stockwell House, is soon to leave for New Philadelphia, his former residence.

Capt. Geo. E. Paine celebrated his 50th birthday last Saturday, his birthday being on Sunday, the 7th.

J. H. Tryon, of Kirtland, received four premium cards at the Pennsylvania State Fair held in Erie last week for his grapes; and one for best Display of Peaches.

Dr. D. M. Young has made a fine addition to his residence on the corner of St. Clair and Jackson Streets, a tower with a large tank on the top with windmill power to raise the water. It will supply four handsome fountains, as well as convey water to all parts of his house and grounds.

In the Country
A description of a journey to Little Mountain and of its scenery by Cleveland visitors.

To Messrs. Hall & Stebbins, in reply to your article of October 3rd.
I will say, if you did not know the rules and regulations in regard to entries for premiums, I fail to see whose fault it is but your own—I certainly handed into Messrs. Stebbins & Son, one or more premium lists, containing a full statement of premiums offered and rules and regulations. You say you asked me if it made any difference if the flour was in sacks or barrels. I shall not deny it; if so, it was done in the rush of entries Thursday forenoon when I had not time to give a thought, and it would not be strange that I made the reply you say I did. I certainly do not wish to shirk any responsibility that belongs to me. The books will show that I did not make your entries, and I have not the faintest recollection of being asked the question. The question as to what constitutes a barrel of flour, came up as it did, and I think very foolishly. It was difficult for the committee to decide what was best and right in the matter, and their decision was made with an earnest desire to do right, and if possible, give satisfaction to both parties, and they acted according to their best judgment. This committee was not (as you please to style it) as self-constituted committee, but regularly appointed at a meeting of the official board, held in the office on the last day of the fair, as is done at every fair of the society, and is made a matter of record, and appointed for the express purpose of examining entries and awards, and settling all matters of difference or mistake in regard to either; and if the parties in this matter had been more anxious to settle it fairly as were the committee, it would have been done without ill feeling. And now, Gentlemen, permit me to say, that in making this matter a matter of publicity you have not only injured yourselves, but have done injustice to the regularly constituted committee, every man of which, I am sure had the kindest and most friendly regard for you and best wishes for your success in business. Respectfully, C. R. Stone, Sec. Lake Co. Agr. Society.
Oct. 11, 1877

Oct. 18, 1877 Thursday p. 2 Joseph’s Capture
Immediately following the battle last week, Indian Joseph was compelled to surrender to General Miles instead of escaping and joining Sitting Bull in his retreat, as was doubtless his intention. The Indian Bureau and War Dept. at Washington were well pleased with the result and with the conduct and efficiency of Gen. Miles. A Washington dispatch says: General Sherman will be uncommonly pleased, as Miles is his nephew and favorite subordinate. It is reported that the moral effect of Chief Joseph’s surrender on Sitting Bull will make it easy for the commission now on their way to him to bring him to terms; whereas, if Joseph had escaped capture and joined the British Territory, it would have been a taunt in the mouths of the Indians. The question now troubling the official mind is what shall be done with Joseph? He will be a subject of discussion at the next Cabinet meeting, when it will be decided whether he shall be made an example, as was Captain Jack of the Modoc war. The remainder of the band of Nez Perces will be marched back to their agency, where their guns and ponies will be confiscated, and they will be held as prisoners.

Married
In San Francisco, Sept. 25, Mr. Seth Marshall Jr., formerly of Painesville, and Miss F. Marie Skelton, of San Francisco.

p. 3 Mr. Seth Marshall Jr., our former townsman, married a lady of San Francisco. See marriage announcement.

The death of Mrs. Jennie C. Mathews, on Washington St., has necessitated the breaking up of the family. Her mother, Mrs. Comstock and her daughter, Edith C. Mathews, have gone to Warren to reside with Rev. N. P. and Mrs. Bailey; while her son, George, goes this week to Cincinnati with his aunt, Mrs. I. A. Ogborn.

Death of Another Early Settler
Captain Isaac Baxter died at his residence in Mentor, October 5, age 87 years. He was one of the early settlers of that township, and the oldest one left at the time of his death. He was a native of Berkshire Co. Mass. Where he was born Aug. 20, 1791, and at the age of 23 emigrated to Ohio, and in the township where he resided up to the time of his death. May 20, 1820, he married Miss Sally Goodell, daughter of the late Elder Warner Goodell, then presiding over our pastor of the Baptist church of Mentor. The deceased survived his wife over four years; she having died May 14, 1873. During the past 14 years, Mr. Baxter has been mostly confined to the house, or seldom leaving its immediate vicinity.

The Story of Henry Rauch who was Buried Alive in a Forty Foot Well for Eighteen Hours
Henry Rauch and another man were working on a well on Stephen Mathews place. Henry Rauch descended in a bucket with the purpose of repairing the well. When he got to the bottom he heard the sound of the stones giving away above him. He held on to the rope, but knew he was stuck. There was a small air space available to him where he held on the rope. He was eventually dug out, but has been unwell since Sunday; however, his physician thinks with good care, he may recover speedily.

Thursday

p. 1 A Reminiscence
S. Newton, of Boardman, Trumbull Co., writing to the Youngstown Tribune, Oct. 4 says:
On October 4, forty-three years ago today, snow fell fourteen inches deep. About one-half melted as it fell, wet and very heavy. Winter apples were not yet gathered. About noon the snow and apples began to beak the trees. For two hours, we had lively times propping up the trees with rails, pieces of rails, or anything we could get hold of. Large branches of oak trees were broken down in some places till the woods looked as ragged as a fresh “slashing.” After that we had some warm weather. Wheat and grass had a remarkable growth that fall.

p. 3 Hubert M. Camp, son of H. C. Camp, of Concord, and Clark H. Nye, son of G. W. Nye, of the same town, have gone to Oberlin for a course of studies in that popular college.

Mrs. G. R. Beardsell (daugher of the late Dr. E. L. Plympton) has been visiting friends at her former home, Madison, in this county for some weeks. She returns to her present home, Hudson, Michigan, this week.

Mr. Albert Morley, one of Painesville’s old and esteemed citizens, passed his 80th birthday last Sunday. He is in the enjoyment of excellent health.

A. E. Fenton, from Bristol, Trumbull Co., the recent purchaser of the J. H. Avery property on Mentor Ave, removed to town last week with his family and are getting settled in their new homestead.

C. Harrington, of Colebrook Ashtabula Co., has recently purchased the pleasant homestead of Mr. T. W. Creaser, on Mentor Ave. Mr. Creaser, we understand for health reasons, will seek a home in a more southern climate.

Mr. David H. Gray, since the death of his wife, has been temporarily residing with son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Babcock on Mentor Ave. As this removes him too far away from his farm, it has been arranged to permanently unite the families in the old homestead on Jackson St., which it is expected will be done the present week.

Another of our Painesville boys leaves home this week to seek his fortune elsewhere. Harry F. Barstow goes to New York to take a position in the office of the Howe Sewing Machine Co.

Fatal Accident
Mr. William Doncaster, an old and esteemed resident of the northeast part of Hampden Township, Geauga Co., met with a sudden and violent death. He left his home with a horse and buggy for Chardon to meet a son at the P&Y depot whom he expected from Kent on the evening train. On the arrival of the train, he was holding the horse’s head, to await the arrival of his son, when the horse became so frightened at a passing team, that he reared, throwing Mr. Doncaster to the ground and trampling upon him so that he became insensible. His son arriving at the depot, proceeded up the street to meet his father, and on arriving at the place of the accident found him insensible. His consciousness soon returned, however, but his injuries were fatal, causing his death that same night. He was nearly at the close of his 69th years. He was father of J. W. Doncaster, of Paine Hollow, in LeRoy.
Oct. 25, 1877

The deceased has been a resident of Painesville from her childhood, and previous to taking the veil as a Sister of St. Joseph’s Order, four years ago, was known as Ellen Murphy, daughter of Richard and Elizabeth Murphy of this place. The remains were taken to Cleveland for burial.

A Terrible Death
A Lake Shore brakeman, A. B. Peters, was run over and mangled by the cars at the Collinwood yards. He was a resident of Willoughby where he leaves a wife and two children. A special train was run from Collinwood so the railroad men and families could attend the funeral.

Obituary
Died in Painesville, Sunday morning, Mrs. Margaret B. Root, age 82 yrs., widow of the late Col. Lyman Root, who died in this place in 1864. She was subject to severe bilious attacks and began to complain of the first symptoms of one on Sat. evening, the 20th. The Tuesday morning following she was unable to leave her bed. Mrs. Root was born in Granville, Mass., and with her husband and children, Matthew, Emeroy, and Martha, moved to Painesville in the spring of 1834. Matthew and Martha still survive her. Her husband and the gentle Emeroy had died before her. Mrs. Root lost her mother at an early age and was a mother to her younger sisters, and when her father married again and other sisters were added to the number her loving heart had room for all. Chief among her blessings were the presence and ministrations of her devoted and loving daughter, Emily, Matthew’s wife. She also has adopted children.

Geneva Times
Freddie, two and a half years old son of John Parmele, who lives a little north of East Trumbull, was fatally burned last Thursday. Little Freddie had gone downstairs and his mother was upstairs for a few minutes and heard him scream; found his clothes on fire. He died on Saturday. A few years ago, another child about the same age as Freddie was drowned. Mrs. Parmele is nearly insane with grief.

Ashtabula News
John Ramage Jr. of this place some two or three weeks ago, in the midst of sickness at home, fell from a tree and broke his arm. Four days later he was called to mourn the death of his mother, and now our columns contain the announcement of his father’s death.

Warren Tribune
James Bell, who was injured on the Mahoning Road, near the covered bridge above Leavittsburg, five or six weeks ago, died of his injuries last Sunday. There is some strange mystery about this case. He was found on the road with a single hurt on his head, and it was supposed that he was struck by a passing train; but it could have been foul play.

Death of a Former Old Citizen
In Tully, N.Y., on Nov. 5, of congestion of the lungs, Theodosia S. Minor, age 74 yrs. Mrs. Minor resided in Painesville from 1819 until 1842, and was known here as the widow of Capt. Abram A. Skinner, oldest brother of R. W. and Augustus Skinner. Her second husband, D. K. Minor, Esq., having been connected with a number of newspapers as editor, and one time at an early date with Horace Greeley, and we think originator of the American Rail Road Journal. When she was Mrs. Skinner she occupied the house now occupied by M. H. Colby. She was aunt to Homer H. and Augustus Hine, of Painesville and of Mrs. H. B. Payne, of Cleveland. She left two children, Mrs. W. H. Gifford of Syracuse, N.Y., by her first marriage, and Miss Florence Minor, of Tully, N.Y., by her second marriage.

Obituary
Died at her home in Painesville, O., Nov. 9, Emily M. Tucker. Miss Tucker was born in the town of Sterling, Windham Co., Conn. While yet a child she moved with her parents to Washington Co., N.Y. In 1853, she came to Ohio residing for a time in Columbus, Lorain Co., until about twelve years ago she, with her mother took up residence in Painesville. Last April, after a long sickness, Mrs. Tucker passed away. Miss Tucker having cared for her night and day for months exhausted her physical energies, and from this she never recovered.

Chardon Republican –
Last Sunday Geo. F. Center, of this place who had been painting some number days at the new house of Patrick Murphy in Montville, went out hunting with Mr. Murphy’s son, Eddie, about 16 yrs. old. On his return, he put his loaded shotgun on a workbench; some of the neighbor boys coming in, Eddie, took up the gun pointed it at one, Dick Fitzgerald, and 12 yrs. old and fired. The load entered his chest and killed him almost instantly.

To the Memory of Mrs. Charles H. Frank; from one who knew her from early childhood as Susie M. Lines, daughter of O. J. and Gracie Lines. Susie was 23 yrs. old when her mother died; she took her mother’s place in her father’s house to three younger sisters, making a pleasant home for them. In Feb., 1868, she married Charles H. Frank, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Frank, of Kirtland. She had glossy black hair and wore rich white silk en train, with ornaments of pearls and a coronet of orange buds and blossoms, and a flowing veil of misty tulle. For nearly three years previous to her death, she was with her husband at the State Reform School, Lancaster, Ohio. Mrs. Geo. E. Howe, her husband’s aunt, was Matron of the Reform School, and Mrs. Frank was Assistant Matron. She exhibited the first signs of ill health last year when she developed what proved to be Saccharine Diabetes. She came home and spent some time with her father and mother Frank. The remainder of the time she passed with her oldest sister, Mrs. Wood. The week before her death she went to church and various outings. On Friday, her husband received a letter that she was improving, on Saturday a telegram, “Come Susie is failing!” Mr. Frank with his sisters, Mrs. S. B. Lockwood and
Nov. 15, 1877
Mrs. George Worth Howe, started at once and reached here Sunday. Susie recognized them all, embraced her husband, and when she saw her little niece Gracie Howe, whom she almost idolized, she exclaimed, “Oh, that blessed baby.” Mrs. T. R. Green, her sister, who resided in N.Y., did not reach here until Monday, too late to hear a spoken word or see a conscious look. Mrs. Frank passed away in peaceful slumber. She was arrayed in her bridal dress with lovely white flowers, as she lay in a full-length casket of glass, shrouded with misty tulle. She had said she wished to be buried in Evergreen Cemetery. Recovery
The terrible well accident by which Mr. Henry Rauch so nearly lost his life is still fresh in the minds of our reader. Since his almost miraculous escape or rescue, Dr. Stebbins, his family physician, has given his case the closest care and attention and we are very glad to say that there is now scarcely a doubt but that eventually he will be restored to sound health. His former strength and activity is returning. Henry Rauch prints a card thanking the public for their assistance and sympathy to him.

Weather: The first real snow of the season set in on Thanksgiving, falling slowly through the night to the depth of four or five inches. Saturday, it snowed slightly nearly the entire day and increased Sunday until there was a depth of 15 to 18 inches on the level. Tuesday brought rain and the prospect of a speedy disappearance of the first snow.

Six years ago, Stephen Jenks Jr., formerly of Thompson, Geauga Co., was tried and convicted to shooting a man at Orleans, Indiana. He was sentenced to life imprisonment but had escaped. After 6 years, he has been recaptured hiding in the forests of Michigan, and on the ground of insanity is to have a new trial, to be held at Goshen on the 12th instant. Messrs. D. W. Mead and S. L. Malin, of Painesville, and Sidney Bostwick, of Thompson, have been subpoenaed as witnesses. During the past week, depositions in the case have been also been taken at Thompson.

Terrible Murder
An atrocious murder was committed in Cleveland last Sunday, by a man named Charles R. McGill. The victim was Mary Kelley, accounts differing as to whether she was his wife or his mistress. McGill said they were married seven years since. She had left him and after a long search, he found her in Cleveland and attempted a reconciliation. She still refused. He asked how much money she had, and she told him she got hold of a lake man on one evening last week and had made fifteen dollars. He was so upset by that, he vowed to kill her and drew his revolver and shot her as she lay on the bed next to him. He emptied his revolver into her, reloaded and emptied it into her again.

As we have met on my birthday for a social visit, I thought I would write a few lines in memory of the same. We have been blest with health the most of the time, which is one of the best of blessings our Heavenly Father could bestow upon such unworthy people; and while life is spared let us strive to spend the remainder of our days more to his honor and glory than we have done, knowing we will be called to give an account at last of our life spent here, and may it

A Former Resident of Perry

We had today a very pleasant call from Hon. Frederick Fowler, of Hillsdale, Mich. He was a native of Perry, born on the North Ridge, where his father, Richard Fowler, settled at an early day being among the earliest pioneers of this section of country. Some 43 years ago, the family moved to Hillsdale Co., Michigan. Mrs. Fowler is traveling with him.

A Reunion of the surviving pupils of Judge Lester Taylor, now 82 or 83 yrs. old was held in Mentor on the 13th ultimo. Judge Taylor taught a winter term in 1819 in this township, about one-fourth of a mile east of the Avenue House, in a hewed log building about 20 x 30 feet on what was then called Booth’s Corner. The school had 90 scholars. His former students present were:

Daniel Sawyer
Isaac Sawyer
Martin Sawyer
William Rexford
Edward Ingersoll
Calvin Ingersoll
Henry Clap
Sophia Munson
R. P. Harmon

Each of the men were called on who shared stories. Elijah Rexford gave an account of his first school house, and 8 x 10 cabin in Kirtland, infested with mice and chirping squirrels, which would attract the attention of the scholars by protruding their noses through the cracks of the puncheon floor until they were driven out by the rat snakes, the most unwelcome intruders of all.

Also, to practice good manners, the boys were required to bow and the girls to curtsey upon entering the school room or to those whom they chanced to meet on the road. At length, it was urged that the boys by doffing their hats, and the girls by their awkward curtseys frightened the hoses in the streets; consequently, this excessive politeness was gradually done away.

p. 1 Mormon View on Dancing
John Taylor, President of the Twelve Apostles of Mormonism, has recently published a bulletin on the subject of dancing. The Council unanimously agrees that our parties never be continued after midnight. Bishops shall always attend to preserve the utmost order and decorum, and to permit no disreputable or immoral persons to mingle in the society of the saints. In relation to round dances there has been among all correct feeling people a strong prejudice against them, and they tend, though not always intentionally so, to demoralize our youth. We do not wish to be too restrictive in relation to these matters, but would recommend that there be no more than one or two permitted in an evening.

Geo. W. Allen (George Washington Allen) who left Painesville 24 yrs. ago and now lives in Grand Rapids, Michigan, sends a letter to the editor recalling the old days. His first school days were passed in Painesville with Flavius Josephus Huntington as teacher. “The school house stood where the Stockwell House now stands. The Masonic Hall was on the second floor of the same building. The old brick school house on St. Clair St. was being built at that time and when completed we moved into it; we thought it a magnificent structure. It was only one story high and I think it was the first brick building erected in Painesville. The Phelps house on State St. was built soon after.”

Last week we received the sad intelligence of the death, on the 16th, of the last member of a family of twelve children of our venerable grandfather, who closed his pilgrimage in Ashtabula Co., O. a few years ago in the 102nd year of his age. Aunt Polly, as we have always called her since our earliest recollection, was the mother of one of your former citizens, Hon. S. C. Osborn, and was 94 yrs. old.

At Mineral Ridge, Trumbull Co., last Friday, John Miles and Thomas Charters were discussing military tactics in a saloon over a bottle of ale. Charters having a double-barreled gun in his hand was explaining a movement, when the gun was accidentally discharged, and the contents lodging in the heart of Miles, who died instantly.

Mr. C. R. Knowles, of Brooklyn, N.Y., died last week. He had been quite ill and nervous for some days, and on the 25th left the house without the knowledge of the family. His body was found in the river on Monday. Mr. Knowles was a former resident of Chardon, and had a large circle of friends in Painesville. It is supposed the deceased was insane.
