

LOCALITY.

Indiana, a western county, is bounded on the north by Jefferson county, on the east by Clearfield and Cambria, on the south by Westmoreland, and on the west by Armstrong. It lies between 40 degrees and 23 minutes and 40 degrees and 56 minutes (nearly) north latitude, and one degree and 49 minutes and two degrees and 14 minutes (nearly) west longitude from Washington City. True meridian at Indiana one degree and 20 minutes variation west.