Archibald David Currie was born October 3, 1832 in Dallas County, Alabama, a son of Daniel Curry (1801-1851, an emigrant from Scotland) and Mary (Goodwin) Curry (1807-1872). By 1850 the family had immigrated to Texas and settled in Rusk County. In 1851 they removed to the (present-day) Omen Community in Smith County, Texas.

Archibald married Sarah Ann Harrell Patterson in Smith Co., Texas on September 7, 1859. Sarah Ann was born November 9, 1826.

Archibald served as a Confederate soldier in Co. E, 14th Texas Infantry, Capt. J. J. Flinn's Co., Clark's Regiment. He enlisted March 22, 1862 at Tyler, Texas, for a term of twelve months and traveled eleven miles to the rendezvous. Currie was 4th Sergeant of the company by October 31, 1862, at which time he was sick in the country near the camp. He was with his regiment at Pine Bluff, Arkansas in February, 1863. He told pension authorities that he had served two years in the Confederate army.

He was a member of Sansom's Chapel Methodist Church in Bedford, Tarrant County, and was a member of Robert E. Lee Confederate Veterans Camp in Fort Worth. Sarah Ann Currie died in Tarrant County on June 12, 1890. She was buried in Smithfield Cemetery.

Currie applied for a Confederate pension in 1900 while living at Ben Wheeler in Van Zandt County, Texas. He said he had moved to that place about 1898. Currie died in Grayson County, Texas on January 25, 1909.

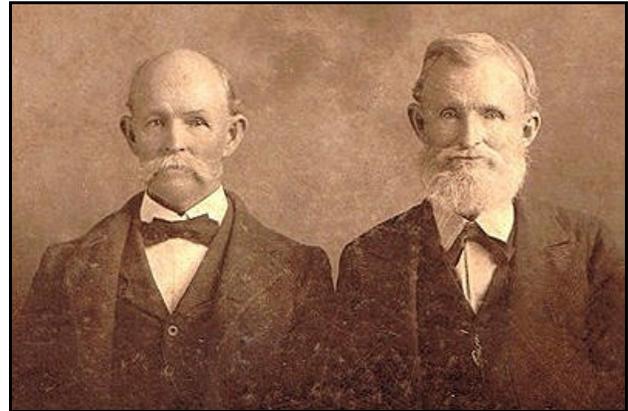

His widow, Mrs. N. A. Currie, applied for a Confederate pension in 1925 while living at 225 Thornton in Tyler, Texas. She said she married Mr. Currie in September, 1891 in Smith County, Texas. In 1928, she said she was seventy-two years old and a native of McNairy County, Tennessee. She had been a resident of Texas fifty-five years. Mrs. Currie died July 20, 1936.
