OCTOBER EGS MEETING

Date: Thursday, October 10, 2013
Time: Welcome New Members 6:30 PM
 Meeting Begins 7:00 PM
Location: Bellevue Regional Library, NE 12th St. and 110th Ave. NE
 Bellevue, WA
Topic: DNA Testing and Interpreting Results
Speaker: Diane Harman-Hoog

Diane Harman-Hoog is a DNA Search Angel. She volunteers to help adoptees find their birth families. She was previously a Search Angel, but because of her background was recruited to work in the new field of Autosomal DNA matching. There were no directions on how to proceed so she has created the methodologies that are being used. She is also the leader of a team that writes tools to remove some of the tedium of doing these comparisons. She does the requirements for and testing of the products.

Diane came to this field as a professional genealogist. She is part owner of a company that makes affordable books for people that incorporate their genealogy and historical information. She is also part owner of the company dnagedcom which specializes in developing tools and methodologies for DNA searches.

Diane's family is from New England. The families mostly came over on the Mayflower or other early voyages and as soon as possible moved to and stayed in Maine until the end of the 20th century. (Continued next page)

Family names are Wiley, Dorr, Pierce, Clewley among others. The Holt family came over in the late 19th century with the Greenwood family to work in cloth mills in Maine. Her parents travelled all over New England creating the genealogy from original documents. Diane and her brother Bruce got the genealogy online and filled in the very few openings that were left.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Noah Hudson Butler - June 5 2013 – June 18 2013

How often have we, as family historians, said how sad it was that our ancestors lost so many children. It's easy to say and we really mean it but it pales in comparison to witness such a heart wrenching tragedy. This past June, my husband's nephew and his wife had a beautiful baby boy. He was perfect in every way except that his little lungs lacked the capacity to transfer oxygen to his blood cells. He was too small for a lung transplant and so he passed away in his mother's arms at 13 days. It was the first time she was able to hold him since his birth day.

He spent his short life hooked up to all manner of tubes attached to a machine which kept him alive. There was hope at first that his lungs might learn to do their job but it was found through a lung biopsy that was not to be. The family gathered and little Noah was baptized in the hospital with all of us huddled together in the small room. He was unhooked from his machines and slowly slipped away. It was profoundly sad to see the grief-stricken parents so devastated and inconsolable. Carol Pattison, EGS President

EGS MEETING LOCATION CHANGES

Please note that beginning in September, we will be having both our General EGS meeting and our EGS Board meetings back at the Bellevue Regional Library. The parking garage project is done so there is now parking available. The library is located at NE 12th St. and 110th Ave. NE, Bellevue, WA. We hope to see you at our September meeting!

101 BEST WEBSITES FOR GENEALOGY IN 2013

Each year, Family Tree Magazine bring you a list of the 101 best genealogy websites. This year, they are showcasing what's new: Many of their favorite sites boast shiny new records databases, new techniques for accessing data and new ways to share your family tree finds and benefit from others' research. A few recently launched sites have rocketed their way onto our list, too.

What's really new to the genealogy web is a proliferation of apps that let you access many of the 101 best on the go, on smartphones and tablets. They have also pulled together a special roundup of these ancestor-finding apps from our 101 honorees. You can find the listing at:

FREE GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH HELP

Genealogical research help is available at the Bellevue Regional Library, located at NE 12th St. and 110th Ave. NE in Bellevue. Eastside Genealogical Society volunteers are waiting to help your with problems and questions. They are available in room 6 on the second floor of the library, to the left of the reference desk. Hours are on the 1st and 5th Tuesday evenings from 7:00-9:00 PM and Wednesdays from 1:00-3:00 PM.

EGS BOARD SUMMARY APRIL–JUNE 2013

Treasurer's Report: $160 was collected for Cyndi's List with the addition of the $50 from EGS funds and total of $210 was sent to Cyndi to support a legal challenge.

Annual Audit: The board reviewed the bank statements from Chase and ING and confirmed the bank balances matched the balances of the EGS Financial Statements. Random expenses were questioned by different board members and the treasurer produced all supporting documents for these expenditures. When the membership chair provides the report of total dues collected for the fiscal year, Carol Pattison will compare that total to the 12-month income statement.

Annual Budget: Moved and carried to raise individual dues to $20, $30 for members requesting a printed copy of the newsletter, and family memberships to $25 effective Sept 1, 2013. The proposed 2012 -2013 budget was then approved.

Book Committee: Gloria Brown, an EGS charter member, donated boxes of books that Sarah will process and distribute to Bellevue Library, appropriate SIGs, and Fiske.

By-laws and Rules: The Board agrees that the Articles of Incorporation was a one-time document and EGS follows direction according to rules delineated in the By-Laws.

A committee is to meet over the summer to look at the By-Laws and suggest changes to create a separate document of operating rules.

Education: The EGS Education Committee met with Darcy Brixey regarding EGS classes at the library, starting with a genealogy weekend of three or four classes per day, for a maximum of two days. The library's computer lab would be scheduled for as much of the weekend as possible.

Membership: The current database is out of date and it's doubtful the system we have now will work with a newer computer and operating system.

Nomination Committee: Vice-President and Treasurer terms. Kay would be willing to be on the ballot for treasurer again. Also need a Historian.

Outreach: Issaquah Hobby and Craft Fair, May 4 at Pickering Barn. Sammamish Days, August 10 in Sammamish Commons. They waived the $50 fee if we put on some kind of program.

Probate records: The remaining probate records will be reviewed with the possibility of creating and publishing a second index.

Publicity: SIGs will be asked to handle their own publicity and EGS volunteers are needed to distribute flyers to local libraries.

Program Committee: June: Sarah Fleming - Non-population censuses; Sept: Darcy Brixey, Using Bellevue Library resources; Oct: Bob Barnes, Using library resources 2.

RESEARCHER USES DNA TO DEMONSTRATE HOW CLOSE EVERYONE ON EARTH IS RELATED

New research by Peter Ralph of USC Dornsife has confirmed that everyone on Earth is related to everyone else on the planet. So the Trojan Family is not just a metaphor. Turns out, we're also linked by genetics more closely than previously thought.

BYU-IDAHO INTRODUCES A NEW ONLINE DEGREE IN FAMILY HISTORY RESEARCH BY CAROL B. MOSS

Imagine being able to acquire a family history research degree online. Thanks to a productive partnership with the Family History Department and BYU-Idaho over the past three years, the university introduced this year a new online Applied Associate Degree (AAS) in Family History Research.

By completing rigorous coursework, students obtain knowledge and apply skills in family history research, and gain a strong professional foundation. Those who complete the degree are well along the path to eventually acquiring the professional accreditation of their choice. The courses emphasize research skills and methodology essential for professional genealogists. The program includes 18 courses that teach the following:

- Research methodology
- Internet and computer skills
- How to read old handwriting
- Professional research skills
- Genealogical report writing
- Research in specific geographic areas
- How to create and manage a small genealogy business

The courses follow the standard semester schedule, and include collaborative learning experiences with the instructor and fellow students. Each course in the program offers 14 weeks of instruction, including activities, assignments and discussions. Assignments focus on applying skills learned in readings and activities, and are primarily project-based. (These genealogical courses are not to be confused with the Religion Course 261 which offers the doctrinal background and beginning steps to work in family history.)

The idea for a BYU-Idaho family history degree program began a few years ago with President Kim Clark, in discussion with leaders of the Family History Department. He had a goal for an online degree that would develop strong research skills and create excellent employment opportunities for students. Family History Department leaders were confident it could be done.

A very capable team of Family History Library employees took on the task of providing the content for the courses. The content development project was managed by Carol Clark, with consultation early on from Linda Gulbrandsen, who was then manager of the United States and Canada Research Unit. The project management team consisted of Tammy Stansfield, who served as the genealogical expert, Valerie Hansen, Randy Hoffman, and Fred Graham. The team worked with Family History Library research consultants and contracted professional genealogists who developed the course content. Under the direction of the project management team, content specialists followed the BYU-Idaho learning model in developing content. As materials were developed, the online curriculum managers at BYU-Idaho developed the courses now offered through the degree.

BYU-Idaho's Applied Associate Degree in Family History Research has been an inspired addition to the university's degree offerings as we enter a new age of family history research. Greater record availability and access, along with collaborative pathways, have advanced in this day of internet research and social media applications. Alan Young, BYU-Idaho Online Learning Managing Director, has said, "We look forward with anticipation to our experiences with the students in this program as they add to their education and prepare for a family history career."

For further information on the Family History Research degree, see the BYU-Idaho web page: <http://www.byui.edu/online/family-history/aas-family-history-research> (Submitted by Carol Pattison, EGS President)

NEW ON THE BOOKSHELF

The following books, purchased by the Eastside Genealogical Society or donated, have been added to the genealogy collection at the Bellevue Regional Library. Look for these books in the Genealogy Collection on the second floor. Note: You can request that books in the Bellevue Genealogy Collection be sent to another King County Library for your use in that library.

Counting Canada. Dave Obee. Family Roots Pub., 2012. 224 pp. R929.371 OBE

Many in the U.S can trace their heritage to Canadian soil. Counting Canada provides an in-depth look at the history of the Canadian census and the available records. The guide is meant to help researchers "make the most of the Canadian Census."

Some Early Scots in Maritime Canada, 3 vols. Terrence M. Punch. GPC, 2011-2012. Vol. I: 180 pp.; Vol. II: 178 pp.; Vol. III: 177 pp. R929.3715 PUN

This collection of records is based on materials found in the Nova Scotia Archives and the Public Archives of New Brunswick, among others, and it draws together a unique collection of miscellaneous records pertaining to Scottish immigrants to the Maritime Provinces, naming several thousand people in the context of major life events such as birth, marriage, and death. In records ranging from newspaper announcements of marriages and deaths to cemetery records and censuses, and from ships' passenger lists to land records, it provides a tableau of source material which is as unique as it is indispensable. Thousands are named who would otherwise be undetectable in traditional record sources.

Volume III opens with maps of Ayrshire, Dumfries-shire, and Perthshire, the three Scottish shires that contributed significantly to Scots immigration into Maritime Canada. Next there is a comprehensive list of the 1,200 ships that are known to have sailed from Scotland to the Maritimes between 1770 and 1852. If a passenger list has been published for any of these voyages, it is indicated in the footnotes, but otherwise the ports of departure and arrival and the dates of the voyage provide significant clues to an immigrant's place of origin in Scotland and place of settlement in Canada. Names that suddenly make their appearance in Canadian records can then be matched with shipping records.

Scottish Highlanders on the Eve of the Great Migration, 1725-1774: The People of Argyll, vol 2. David Dobson. GPC, 2012. 111 pp. R929.209414 DOB

This series is designed to identify the origins of Scottish Highlanders who traveled to America prior to the Great Highland Migration that began in the 1730s and intensified thereafter. This is the second volume devoted to emigrants from Argyll and to a lesser extent the adjacent smaller counties of Dumbarton and Bute, locations from which many of the pioneer emigrants who settled in colonial North Carolina, upper New York, Jamaica, and the Canadian Maritimes originated. Many of the entries are based on documentary sources located in the National Records of Scotland and are fully referenced. In all cases Dr. Dobson gives each Highlander's name, a place within Argyll (birth, residence, employment, etc.), a date, and the source. In some cases we also learn the identities of relatives, the individual's employment, vessel traveled on, and so forth.

North America's Maritime Funnel: The Ships that Brought the Irish, 1749-1852. Terrence M. Punch. GPC, 2012. 171 pp. R929.2097 PUN

The Maritime Provinces of Canada--New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island--were a convenient destination for tens of thousands of Irish immigrants between 1749 and 1852. Functioning as the narrow end of a funnel through which thousands dispersed widely across the North American continent, the Maritimes offered easy access and cheap fares, beckoning emigrants from Ireland's catchment areas along the waterways of Dublin, London-derry, and Cork.

This book provides a chronological list of about 1,050 voyages between Ireland and the Maritimes, including names of the vessels, port and date of departure, port of arrival, number of passengers and (Continued next page) sometimes their names and destination, and adds a great variety of information concerning passengers and crew and the voyages themselves.

Tracing Your Donegal Ancestors, 2nd ed. Helen Meehan & Godfrey H. Duffy. Flyleaf Press, 2008. 160 pp. R929.107204 MEE 2008

Donegal has fewer records of value to family historians than most other Irish counties. Thus, it is important to use the existing records to their best advantage. Donegal families are a mixture of native Gaelic families, and of Scots-Irish families who came to Donegal from the 17th century onward. Common names in the county include O'Neill, O'Donnell, Bonner, Barr, Bradley, Duffy, Friel, Gormley, O'Kane, Gallagher, Harkin, McBride, McCafferty, McDaid, Patton, Morrissey, Ward and Sweeney. It is also one of the counties which experienced a high level of emigration to North America and elsewhere. This book sets out the records available for Donegal, where they can be accessed, and how they can be used to best effect in tracing Donegal families.

Tracing Your Dublin Ancestors, 3rd ed. James G. Ryan & Brian Smith. Flyleaf Press, 2009. 160 pp. R929.107204 RYA 2009

The 3rd edition of this comprehensive guide to family history research in Dublin City and County is totally updated and expanded with new illustrations and material. It describes how to best use the records available, and where they can be accessed. For each type of record it provides background information on how they were compiled and what information was contained, and on which categories of people. It also provides background on the social history of Dublin and how this history has affected the keeping and survival of records.

Tracing Your Galway Ancestors. Peadar O'Dowd. Flyleaf Press, 2010, 160 pp. R929.107204 ODO

A comprehensive guide to tracing families in the City and County of Galway. Galway is home to a diverse population whose culture and history has been shaped by the barren landscapes of its Western seaboard, or the rich farmlands at its Eastern end. In the center is the historic city of Galway, an ancient trading port and home to the 14 'Tribes' whose story is central to that of the county. Many have emigrated, particularly in the aftermath of the Great Famine. The population dwindled from 441,810 in 1841 to 214,712 in 1891. Genealogical records are also diverse, varying from sparse in the Western areas to extensive for Galway city. This book sets out the records available, where they can be obtained and how to use each to best effect.

Tracing Your Cork Ancestors, 2nd ed. Tony McCarthy & Tim Cadogan. Flyleaf Press, 2011, 162 pp. R929.107204 MCC 2011

Cork is the largest Irish county, with a population mainly of Gaelic and Norman origin. It has a widely diverse social mix ranging from the urban population of Cork city to the most remote agricultural communities. Common names in the county include Barry, Callahan, O'Callaghan, Buckley, Boyle, Casey, Collins, Crowley, Daly, Fitzgerald, Hogan, Keane, Kelliher, O'Connell, O'Keefe, O'Leary, O'Mahony, O'Driscoll, O'Riordan and Sheehan. The records for the county are equally diverse. This new and expanded edition sets out the records available, where they can be accessed, and how they can be used to best effect.

Great Migration Newsletter, vols. 16-20. Robert Charles Anderson. NEHGS, 2012. 200 pp. R929.374 AND [EGS previously purchased newsletter vols. 1-15]

Under the leadership of Robert Charles Anderson, the Great Migration Study Project aims to compile authoritative genealogical and biographical accounts of every person who settled in New England between 1620 and 1640. The Great Migration Newsletter has been a cornerstone publication within this project for the last twenty years and offers researchers essential articles on migration patterns, early records, life in seventeenth-century (Continued next page)

New England, and more. The articles in the Great Migration Newsletters are an extension of the material in The Great Migration books, which were all purchased by EGS and are available in the Bellevue Regional Library.

A Guide to Chicago and Midwestern Polish-American Genealogy. Jason Kruski. GPC, 2012. 108 pp. R929.107204 KRU

This new guidebook is the first comprehensive introduction to Polish genealogy in years. Since Polish-Americans proliferate in Chicago and the U.S. Midwest, they are the focus; however, much of the advice set forth here will apply to the majority of U.S. residents of Polish Catholic origin, as well as to records in Poland themselves. (Persons of Polish Jewish/Lithuanian/Ruthenian ancestry are not covered.) Since Polish immigration to the United States began in earnest following the American Civil War, and was heaviest during the last quarter of the nineteenth and first quarter of the twentieth century, this era is the chronological focal point of the work.

Jamestown People to 1800: Landowners, Public Officials, Minorities, and Native Leaders. Martha W. McCartney. GPC, 2012. 556 pp. R929.375542 MCC

This book gives us a detailed look at the people associated with Jamestown from its founding in 1607 to 1800. Based on government records and private archives, it provides historical biographies of several distinct groups of people: Jamestown Island landowners, public officials such as council members and burgesses, Native-American leaders, and African Americans associated with Jamestown.

It also covers more than a thousand people who did not own land on Jamestown Island but whose activities brought them to Virginia's capital city, including individuals who appeared before the General Court, Quakers who were jailed on account of their religious beliefs, Indians seeking justice on various matters, and participants in the popular uprising known as Bacon's Rebellion.

A Practical Guide to Jewish Cemeteries. Nolan Menachemson. Avotaynu, 2007. 248 pp. R393.108992 MEN

This book is the most comprehensive text on Jewish cemeteries to date, providing historic, legal, traditional and mystical information in easy-to-understand format. Information is sourced from Jewish theological schools of learning, site visits and experts from seven countries in forensics, genealogy and monument preservation. The text is illustrated with 107 photographs and diagrams.

Everything You Need to Know About How to Find Your Family History in Newspapers. Lisa Louise Cooke. Family Roots Publishing, 2012. 155 pp. R929.1072 COO

This book has step-by-step instructions, worksheets and checklists, and online resources for newspaper research.

If you have a suggestion for a genealogy-related reference book to add to our collection at the Bellevue Regional Library, or if you have one to donate, please contact Sarah Fleming at sarahrosefleming@earthlink.net or 425-957-1134.

- Hack Genealogy: Hack Genealogy is about “re-purposing today’s technology for tomorrow’s genealogy” and a little bit more. The genealogy community has historically lagged behind other communities and industries in the way in which it embraces technology to advance their work. Hack Genealogy is more than just a list of resources. Hack Genealogy provides information on emerging technology inside and outside the genealogy industry. Hack Genealogy wants readers to understand how others are using technology to succeed. The hacking of genealogy doesn't always have to involve high tech . . . it could involve something as “old school” as creating a better filing system for genealogy-related documents or what to pack for a genealogy research trip. Each and every day, genealogists are finding new and innovative ways to pursue their family history passion whether it involves a Smartphone or just smart thinking. Hack Genealogy is about sharing technology resources, discussing our personal interactions with technology, and moving the entire genealogy community forward in terms of how it embraces technology. Hack Genealogy is not merely about surviving . . . Hack Genealogy is about success and genealogical success in its many facets. Find out more at <http://hackgenealogy.com/hack-genealogy/>
- Genealogy Karma at Mocavo: Mocavo built Genealogy Karma to empower the Mocavo community and connect researchers around the country. Modeled after Random Acts of Genealogical Kindness, they hope to give something back to their community. You can volunteer or request help from someone for projects like taking a photo of a headstone, or finding a document in a local library. - Veteran’s History Project: Among all of the facts, statistics and other resources available to illustrate military action and service, personal reminiscences are some of the most interesting and rare. As veterans die, these private accounts remain only with family and friends, usually lost to everyone else. There are various initiatives to gather these accounts, and one of the largest is the Veteran’s History Project (VHP) (www.LOC.gov/vets/), an oral history project maintained by the Library of Congress’s American Folklife Center that focuses on veterans, medical personnel, USO workers and other military support employees who participated in war efforts during the period from World War I through the current Afghanistan and Iraq Wars. The Project includes audio and video interviews, along with corollary materials such as photographs, scrapbooks, letters, postcards, diaries and memoirs. Ten percent of the 74,000 interviews are currently available to view online for free. A database search provides biographical details about the individual providing the memories and a collection description for each oral history and its accompanying materials.

- Genealogy Roadshow on PBS: Genealogy Roadshow is in production now and will appear on PBS later this year. The program uses a team of professional genealogists to prove or disprove claims that various people have been told about their ancestors. Genealogy Roadshow is structurally similar to Antiques Roadshow and is modeled after an Irish TV program of the same name which is in its second season in Ireland on RTE Television. The program will feature genealogical authors, lecturers and researchers Joshua Taylor and Kenyatta Berry as the show’s on-air experts. Los Angeles-area broadcaster Emmett Miller has been named as the host of the series. The Genealogy Roadshow on PBS will be broadcast September 23 through October 14, 2013. ## THE EASTSIDE GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

PURPOSE:

The EGS provides members a forum for learning and the exchange of information related to genealogy. The Society obtains and provides resources for use by members, encourages genealogical research and education, and provides community outreach through programs, classes, seminars and library volunteers.

MEETINGS:

EGS monthly meetings are held on the second Thursday of each month (except July, August, and December) at 7:00 P.M. at the Bellevue Regional Library, NE 12th St. and 110th Ave. NE, Bellevue, WA. A get acquainted and ask questions session is open at 6:30 P.M.

MEMBERSHIP:

Membership dues are: Individual—$20, Family—$25, Lifetime—15 times annual membership. Membership includes online newsletter. To receive printed newsletter, add $10 to dues amount. To join the society, send your check with your name, phone number, address (nine digit zip please) and e-mail address (if applicable) to the address at the bottom of this page. Please mark "Membership" on your envelope.

NEWSLETTER SCHEDULE:

The Bulletin Board is published January, March, May, September, and November. Submission of news and articles to the Bulletin Board must be in writing and received by the 15th of the month for inclusion in the following month's newsletter. If you are unable to meet the deadline, please call Kim Nichols at 360-668-3937 to make special arrangements. Please mail submissions to: Kim Nichols, 12422 219th Place SE, Snohomish, WA 98296 or e-mail to: kimberlynichols7@frontier.com

Note: The EGS Board and the Bulletin Board reserve the right to limit and prioritize event announcements, space permitting, to non-profit organization items of genealogical interest. Neither the EGS nor the editors of the Bulletin Board accept responsibility for errors of fact or judgment in the material submitted to and printed in the Bulletin Board. If errors are brought to our attention, we will try to correct them.
