Molina, Daniel E.

Mr. Daniel E. Molina, was born February 2nd, 1916 in Globe, Arizona and attended Miami High School and later Northern Arizona University. During WWII, Daniel worked with Douglas Aircraft in Northern Africa. Daniel then began a book and periodical distribution company in India in the mid 1940's. The company in India evolved into advertising, then into the first commercial radio station (100,000 watts) broadcasting from the Island of Ceylon (Sri Lanka) to the Indian continent. Daniel met his wife Maria in India in 1948 and began a family. Daniel and his family moved back to the U.S. in the late 50's and eventually settled in the Valley of the Sun. Always the entrepreneur, he and Maria opened a boutique on 5th Avenue in Scottsdale called Maharani Creations which grew thru the 60's, 70's and 80's into a thriving business of 9 successful valley stores. The stores were closed in 1994 when Dan and Maria decided to retire. Avid golfers, Dan and Maria are members of Arizona and Pinetop Country Clubs. At age 69, Daniel won the Pinetop Club Championship as well as the Senior Championship. Also at age 69

Dan shot his age on the golf course for the first time and has shot his age or better over 120 times. A kind, generous person and loving father and husband, Daniel's legacy includes 4 children, 7 grandchildren, his younger sister, and loving wife Maria. Sheer, Jane Evans

JANE EVANS SHEER Jane Evans Sheer, 59, prominent Paradise Valley businesswoman and devoted wife and mother, died of a sudden illness in a Buenos Aires hospital while traveling in Argentina on the morning of November 16, 2003. A nationally recognized executive in the retail, consumer marketing, investment banking, IT and telecommunications sectors, Jane was a champion of women's and minorities' rights in the workplace, and campaigned tirelessly to promote equality and diversity in the business arena. Born in 1944 in Hannibal, Missouri to a family of five, she went on to graduate from Vanderbilt University and studied French at L'Universite d'Aix-en-Provence in southern France. Her professional career began in New York with the I. Miller Company as an executive trainee and she quickly rose through the ranks to become its president at the age of 26. Jane's stellar career continued with high-ranking executive positions at such companies as Butterick-Vogue, Fingerhut, General Mills, Monet Jewelry, and U.S. West and she was most recently involved with three entrepreneurial ventures in the Valley. She likewise served as a director on the corporate boards of several multinational conglomerates, including Philip Morris/Altria, Georgia Pacific, The Equitable Insurance Company, Bank One Arizona, Hypercom Corporation, Mainstreet, PetsMart, and Kaufman-Broad Home. She also sat on the Vanderbilt University Board of Trustees and served as a former president of the Vanderbilt Alumni Association, and was a director of the LPGA and a past chairwoman of the international chapter of the Young Presidents' Organization as well as an active member of the World Presidents' Organization and Chief Executives' Organization. Despite her amazing professional success and incredibly busy schedule, she always somehow managed to balance her work commitments with her private life and was the best mother and wife a son or husband could ever wish for. Jane's indomitable optimism, "can-do" determination and pioneering spirit served as a tremendous inspiration to everyone she ever met and she will be most dearly missed. She is survived by her husband, George Sheer and son Jonathan; her mother, Kay Evans Pierce; her sister, Judy Thompson; her brother, Jim Evans; and several nephews and nieces. While no funeral services are planned, a celebration of her amazing and unique life is scheduled in January in Phoenix. Donations may be made to Homeward Bound, Phoenix, AZ. Jennings, Terry Marshall

Terry Marshall Jennings, a native son of Arizona, passed away May 13, 2003 in Point Loma, California. He came home to Arizona to be buried in the Alpine Cemetery overlooking the valley he loved and next to his beloved first wife of 43 years, Yolanda Jepson Jennings. Terry was born in Phoenix on November 27, 1931 to prominent local attorney Irving A. Jennings, Sr. and his wife, Emogene Mercer Jennings, a community activist and one of the first women to hold a seat in the Arizona State Legislature. He graduated from North Phoenix High School and attended the University of Arizona where he majored in agriculture and was on the cattle judging team. His first job was managing the Jennings Blue River Ranch. In later years he worked in the cattle industry and for the US Postal Service. From his earliest years his heart was drawn to the outdoor life of ranching and he spent many summers at the Orme Ranch in Mayer, Arizona working as a ranch hand. Terry found his true home in the White Mountains and Alpine where he met his wife, Yolanda Jepson. They were married in September of 1954 when he returned from serving in Korea with the US Air Force. They settled in Alpine and their children Tenney (deceased), Gail, Terry, Chad and Rebecca were all born in Arizona. The great loves of Terry's life were his family, his church and horses. More than anything, Terry loved his family and enjoyed spending time with them. He was an active member of the LDS church and was called over the years to many positions of service in the church. And, he spent happy days on horseback working and appreciating the glorious beauty of the White Mountains. In death, Terry joins his parents, first wife, brother Rick, daughter Tenney and numerous friends and relatives who have gone before and were no doubt delighted to welcome his cheerful spirit home. His memory and the lessons of life and love which he taught by example will shine brightly in the hearts of his dear second wife Carol; daughters Gail of Honolulu, Hawaii and Rebecca of Cold Springs, Minnesota; sons Terry and Chad of Orem and Pleasant Grove, Utah; sister Judy of San Rafael, California; brother Irving of Escondido, California; 12 grandchildren and many more people whose lives he touched. Bennett, Juanita

Juanita Bennett, 92, wife of former Phoenix advertising executive, the late Rhea Bennett, passed away Saturday, November 15, 2003 in Waco, TX. Born in Fort Worth, TX, on November 17, 1910, she attended North Side High School where she was editor-in-chief of the school newspaper. It was there that she met her future husband, Rhea Bennett, who was art director for the newspaper and yearbook. One day, long after high school, while walking in downtown Fort Worth, Rhea saw Juanita through her office window. He went inside to say hello. Old friends met again. They were married in 1937 and spent the next sixty-five years together. Hoping to better their opportunities, Juanita quietly wrote the Albuquerque Chamber of Commerce asking about local possibilities in advertising for Rhea. It worked. They soon moved to Albuquerque and there began a long and successful career in advertising for him. While in Phoenix, Rhea opened his own ad agency. Juanita was his girl Friday. The agency grew rapidly to become Bennett, Luke & Teawell (affectionately known as BLT), yet she remained as bookkeeper, enjoying the work. The early 70's saw the business sold and their return to Fort Worth. Juanita loved to read. She could always be found with a book nearby. She loved the theater and loved to travel. She did not love to cook. The Bennetts were well known at restaurants and cafeterias. Memorial services for both Juanita and Rhea on Dec. 6, 2003 in Fort Worth. Survivors are son, Brian, his wife, Ellis, their son, Andrew, all of Waco. Juanita was a helpmate, soul-mate, loving daughter, wife, and mother. She and Dad are together again. The Arizona Republic 11/30/2003.
