

Florence, Ross Garth, Dr (from scientists for Sustainability, University of Melbourne website)

Graduated in 1952 from Australian Forestry School. Joined the Queensland Department of Forestry as a research forester, concerned mainly with native forest silviculture. Appointed to the Department of Forestry, ANU in 1965 where his main teaching and research interests have been in the ecology and silviculture of eucalypt forests, and forest policy and planning. After retirement in 1995 Dr Florence was appointed a Visiting Fellow to the Department of Forestry, ANU. He is the author of several publications including "Ecology and Silviculture of Eucalypt Forests" published by CSIRO Australia in 1996.