

Henricks, Roslyn (from Timberbiz website)

Graduated BSc (Forestry and BA (Visual Arts) from the Australian National University.

Recipient of the 2009 World Forest Institute Fellowship, in Portland, Oregon, USA. Has been working as a Project Forester with Green Triangle Forest Products in Mt Gambier, SA. Her study at the WFI will work towards improving public perceptions and encouraging sustainable timber communities by understanding and shaping aesthetic values in plantation forest landscapes. It will add to an information base for planners responsible for sustainable forest development in Australia as part of the 202 Vision. In addition, the study will assist forest managers address recognition of aesthetic values under the Australian Forestry Standard and Forest Stewardship Council.