At a Annual General Meeting of the Queensland Division of the IFA, President Rob de Fégely presented to renowned Queensland forester Dick Pegg a prestigious IFA President's Award. This was in recognition of outstanding professional service to the international domestication of tropical and sub-tropical eucalypts. This award recognised in particular Dick Pegg's achievements from 1982 to 1989 in establishing and leading Australia's input to the highly successful Dongmen forest farm eucalypt forest project, and his achievements more generally in assisting with eucalypt development in Guangxi province.
