DIED LAST NIGHT

Nancy Ann Mallonee Died Last Night from Organic Heart Trouble

Had Three Children

Burial Will Take Place on Thursday.

Nancy Ann Mallonee, aged thirty-one years, three months and one day, wife of Melvin Mallonee, died at home in Washington township Monday night about 7 o'clock from organic heart trouble and lung affections. She was the daughter of Lewis Andrews and was the mother of three children, Edith, aged nine; Gallie, aged six, and Winifred, aged seven.

Her husband, Melvin Mallonee, is a school teacher by profession, being employed near the home. Of brothers and sisters she had several, some preceding her in death. Those living are Virgil Andrews, Amie, wife of Landon Smith, of Monroe, and a brother, Eli.

The time of the funeral has been set for Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock from the Washington church, four miles southwest of town, thence driving to this city where interment will be made in the Decatur cemetery. The Rev. Thompson will officiate. The pall bearers have not as yet been selected.
