

Refugio Jauregui

By Noah Quinones

Refugio Jauregui was born on July 4, 1884. He married Rebecca Diedleng at an unknown date. They had nine children whose names were Ralph, Fern, Placida, Jenny, Mary, Merced, Arlene, Carmen and Roberto (1924-2008). Their other children's names were not well known because all of them except for Roberto lived in southern California. Refugio and Rebecca both worked in small factories along the coast, close by Los Angeles. They were all devoted Catholics. They had a big problem rationing food for such a big family because they didn't make much at their factory jobs. It is estimated that Refugio and Rebecca died around the 1950's, and are buried somewhere in southern California.
