

1934 Scrapbook #1, Image #115

CHASE NETS ONE MORE FOX

Several Thousand People
Participate In Hunt

Saturday

Mon. Dec. 3, 1934

Several thousand people, including scores from Berne and community, participated in a fox chase Saturday forenoon in Rock Creek twp., northwest of Bluffton, in Wells county. An area six miles square was covered by the hunters.

The chase netted one red fox. Reports are that one or two of the animals broke through the line and escaped, but these reports are unconfirmed.

The captured animal was sold to a Mr. Smith of South Bend, and netted $7. The money was turned over to relief work in Wells county. Jesse Ellenberger, well-known auctioneer, sold the fox.

Monday, December 3, 1934

CHASE NETS ONE MORE FOX

Several Thousand People
Participate in Hunt Saturday

Several thousand people, including scores from Berne and community, participated in a fox chase Saturday forenoon in Rock Creek twp., northwest of Bluffton, in Wells county. An area six miles square was covered by the hunters.

The chase netted one red fox. Reports are that one or two of the animals broke through the line and escaped, but these reports are unconfirmed.

The captured animal was sold to a Mr. Smith of South Bend, and netted $7. The money was turned over to relief work in Wells county. Jesse Ellenberger, well-known auctioneer, sold the fox.

Adam's County Historical Museum Scrapbooks

Transcribed by

Randy Gephart

September 27, 2012

Monday, December 3, 1934

DEATH MESSAGE RECEIVED HERE – LEAVES BY PLANE

W. B. Jordon, manager of the Smyrna, Tenn., Lumber Co., was a business caller at the office of the Nussbaum Novelty Company here Saturday. While here he received a telegram of the sudden death of his father at Smyrna. Mr. Jordon had been away from home about a week and his father had been well when he left.

A call was immediately put in to Fort Wayne where an airplane and pilot were obtained. Within a few minutes the plane was here and land...[missing sentence]. There Mr. Jordon boarded the plane and was flown to Cincinnati, where he transferred to the Nashville plane. He was scheduled to arrive at his home in Smyrna at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

DEATH MESSAGE
RECEIVED HERE—
LEAVES BY PLANE

Mon. Dec. 3, 1934

W. B. Jordon, manager of the Smyrna, Tenn., Lumber Co., was a business caller at the office of the Nussbaum Novelty Company here Saturday. While here he received a telegram of the sudden death of his father at Smyrna. Mr. Jordon had been away from home about a week and his father had been well when he left.

A call was immediately put in to Fort Wayne where an airplane and pilot were obtained. Within a few minutes the plane was here and land-
There Mr. Jordon boarded the plane and was flown to Cincinnati, where he transferred to the Nashville plane. He was scheduled to arrive at his home in Smyrna at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon

Adam's County Historical Museum Scrapbooks

Transcribed by

Randy Gephart

September 27, 2012

Monday, December 3, 1934

MOTHER DIES

Mrs. Teofilo Jauregui, aged 49, died Sunday night, Nov. 25, at her home in St. Mary's township, following an extended illness of tuberculosis. Born in Mexico, the deceased came to this country with her family several years ago. Surviving are the husband and six children, including Emanuel of near Berne. Funeral services were held at the St. Mary's Catholic church at Decatur.

Adam's County Historical Museum Scrapbooks

1934 Scrapbook, Image 115

Transcribed by Randy Gephart

September 27, 2012

NEUENSCHWANDER RITES FRIDAY

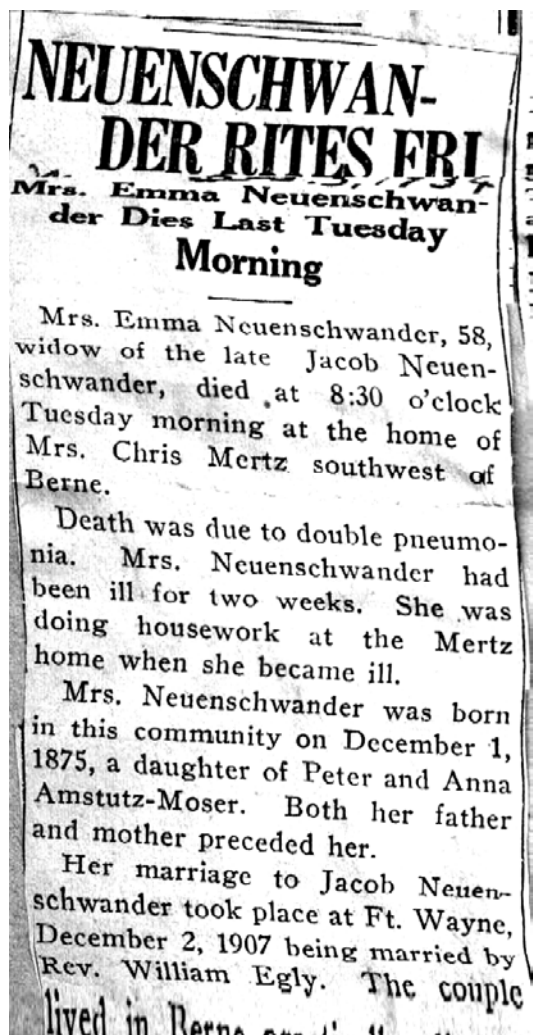

Mrs. Emma Neuenschwander Dies Last Tuesday Morning

Mrs. Emma Neuenschwander, 58, widow of the late Jacob Neuenschwander, died at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. Chris Mertz southwest of Berne.

Death was due to double pneumonia. Mrs. Neuenschwander had been ill for two weeks. She was doing housework at the Mertz home when she became ill.

Mrs. Neuenschwander was born in this community on December 1, 1875, a daughter of Peter and Anna Amstutz-Moser. Both her father and mother preceded her.

Her marriage to Jacob Neuenschwander took place at Ft. Wayne, December 2, 1907 being married by Rev. William Egly. The couple lived in Berne....

Adams County Historical Museum Scrapbooks

1934 Scrapbook, Image 115

Transcribed by Randy Gephart

THREE DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Two Indianapolis Doctors Victims in Crash Last Evening

Miss Elizabeth Gottschalk, R. N., of this place, who is supervisor at Riley Hospital, Indianapolis, and Mrs. C.E. Luginbill, R. N., and Dr. M. L. Habegger, of Berne, knew the doctors, having studied under them while in training.

Richmond, Ind., Dec. 6 [1934] – Three persons were killed and one injured Wednesday night when the airplane in which they were riding crashed in an attempt to land at the Richmond airport.

The dead were identified as Dr. A. M. Mendenhall, of Indianapolis; his daughter Evelyn, of Richmond; and Dr. John Carmack, of Indianapolis. Howard Maxwell, of Indianapolis, their pilot, was injured.

The Mendenhalls and Dr. Carmack had flown to Detroit Wednesday and were to have stopped at the Richmond airport before proceeding on to Indianapolis. They had asked Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hammer, of Richmond, to be at the local field and point their automobile in the direction of the wind, with headlights burning, so the plane could be landed. The field is not equipped for night flying.

The Hammers said they heard the plane, and before they could get their automobile turned to give the signal, the ship fell to the ground about 300 feet west of the flying field. The pilot managed to extricate himself from the wreckage and was brought to the Reid Memorial hospital here.

Miss Mendenhall was a newspaper columnist on the Richmond Palladium. Dr. Mendenhall was an obstetrician and formerly was head of obstetrics division of the Indiana University hospitals in Indianapolis. Dr. Carmack was head of the ear, nose and throat department at the hospitals.

Adams County Historical Museum

1934 Scrapbook, image 115

Transcribed by Randy Gephart

THREE DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Two Indianapolis Doctors Victims In Crash Last Evening

Miss Elizabeth Gottschalk, R. N., of this place, who is supervisor at Riley Hospital, Indianapolis, and Mrs. C. E. Luginbill, R. N., and Dr. M. L. Habegger, of Berne, knew the doctors, having studied under them while in training.

— 1934

Richmond, Ind., Dec. 6—Three persons were killed and one injured Wednesday night when the airplane in which they were riding crashed in an attempt to land at the Richmond airport.

The dead were identified as Dr. A. M. Mendenhall, of Indianapolis; his daughter, Evelyn, of Richmond; and Dr. John Carmack, of Indianapolis. Howard Maxwell, of Indianapolis, their pilot, was injured.

The Mendenhalls and Dr. Carmack had flown to Detroit Wednesday and were to have stopped at the Richmond airport before proceeding on to Indianapolis. They had asked Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hammer, of Richmond, to be at the local field and point their automobile in the direction of the wind, with headlights burning, so the plane could be landed. The field is not equipped for night flying.

(Continued from page 17)

The Hammers said they heard the plane, and before they could get their automobile turned to give the signal, the ship fell to the ground about 300 feet west of the flying field. The pilot managed to extricate himself from the wreckage and was brought to the Reid Memorial hospital here.

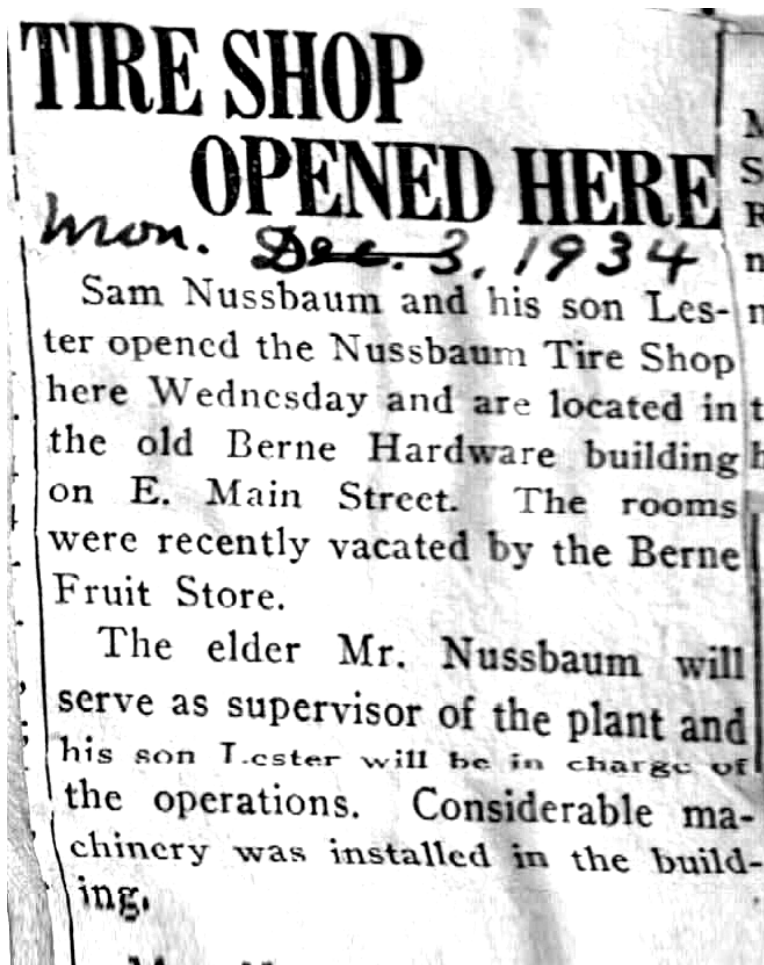

Miss Mendenhall was a newspaper columnist on the Richmond Palladium. Dr. Mendenhall was an obstetrician and formerly was head of the obstetrics division of the Indiana University hospitals in Indianapolis. Dr. Carmack was head of the ear, nose and throat department at the hospitals.

Monday, December 3, 1934

TIRE SHOP OPENED HERE

Sam Nussbaum and his son Lester opened the Nussbaum Tire Shop here Wednesday and are located in the old Berne Hardware building on E. Main Street. The rooms were recently vacated by the Berne Fruit Store.

The elder Mr. Nussbaum will serve as supervisor of the plant and his son Lester will be in charge of the operations. Considerable machinery was installed in the building.

Adams County Historical Museum Scrapbooks

Transcribed by Randy Gephart

September 28, 2012