

HOTEL KATYDID.

The Lancaster Record B. M. Visits Col. Slaughter's Famous Green-Briar Springs and Grows Enthusiastic.

Attracted by his circular in which he so nicely depicts the wonderful light of the imaginary Katydid, from the cedar-clad hills of "Cold Dripping Springs" mountain to the famed marvelous city with its lofty "Green-Briar Springs" where for a moment it rested, then homeward turned, alighting by wayside near a cool, refreshing spring, to taste at its case the semi-inspiring liquid, on a spot where God in a happy mood had planned for the place this reputed little delectable (and ultimately linger—no concluded Col. Dan G. Slaughter knew about what he was talking, and, with an aim not solely to satisfy curiosity but to acquaint ourselves with its true merits of which he so modestly tells, and to drink of the springs' curative waters, we took in the place one-day and ran quite without fear of contradiction, "Green-Briar Springs" the coming watering place and summer resort of Kentucky, a romantic dwell for the poetical creation a magnificent abode for the ultra-fashionable, yet alike a seclusion, comparatively speaking, for those weary of the business hum, who seek solitude (but for all) and all, an anxious health-retaining, invigorating, and refreshing spot. Paradise is retained. "Drink ye and live."

Talk about your Arabian Nights palace (the quick growth of Middleboro, and you aim low at the subject you go wide of the mark; here are buildings—immense structures—whose despatch in erection can not be contrived. On April 13th, what is known now, to the remotest corners of Kentucky as "Green Briar Springs," these twenty acres were (but a vast forest, one solid undergrowth) (Briar field). To-day, what a regular hamlet. Situated one and a half from Crab Orchard it invites the masses to see for themselves. With its broad gravelled drives on either side, its immense central avenue, carpeted by Nature's own true blue, shaded dimly by the leaf-covered water maples, the design of which planning as they twine through these walks, bordered by Cupid ready to send an arrow home on the moonlight nights to give an effect that needs must please the most critical eye; here, fronting these strolling paths, stands "Hotel Katydid," painted with suggestive colors. The buildings present an oval-shaped front (the main one, on which is placed the observatory, is joined at each end by wings of the other buildings of same length, showing up the entire front to an advantage of four hundred feet. The broad verandas that completely encircle the stretch, in round numbers to the enormous length of 1,000 feet, nearly a quarter of a mile.

We were honored by being the first to partake of a bountiful dinner in the large dining hall, which alone measures 100 feet, being also used in time of emergency as an extra ball room. After slaying a quantity of the colonel's rich food, prepared as only Mrs. Slaughter knows how, we took in the place in proper style. The grounds (20 acres) have littleerto been known as the Kennedy Farm on which through listless ages, untouched by the polished hand of improvement, nor sipped by the thirsty lips of health-seekers, has rested the "Coolie Springs," which, though neglected, flowed on, hoped on, if not to win distinction, to feel more worthy it. But time reveals all things and with it the unquestioned curative powers.

CHALVATE WATER CURE'S DISCOVERY

The hotel grounds proper, about 5 acres are semi-circled by a ravine to whose grandly Italy's lowly hollows could not compare, and as one drives down these heaven-frosted walls where vines on ruthless ledges speak volumes to their credit, he can not hide the admiration that animates his soul.

It is from the opposite side of the left ravine from the hotel that the spring drips and drips from the tree-fringed cliffs, perhaps 125 yards from the (Sola) in rear of the grounds. But, for the benefit of those who do not care to ride over to the spring on the incline plane, (similar to one to Highland House, Cincinnati,) for it's an honest truth that this railway is a feature, he has built a pipe connecting the reservoir in the pavilion with the fountain head and by means of a hydraulic ram which throws the water 50 feet high, is enabled to place, continuously, this delightful beverage, whose deceptive taste renders it palatable in the extreme.

A lovely grove catches the eye, immediately in front of the buildings on the other side of the Broadway leading out from Crab Orchard, which is beyond conception. Next we visited the laundry, sufficiently large for a small village; thence to the culinary department where choicest viands and dainty sweets greet one's olfactory, arranged too with precise convenience.

Seven cottages that will adorn hilltop and vale are under course of erection and will be rented to those desiring. Every mail brings application upon application for admittance before July 1st.

When it is formally opened, Many families will begin that day.

THE BIG SOUND AND HALL COMES OFF NEXT FRIDAY, JULY 4TH.

When the colonel expects to entertain between two and three thousand people. Those wishing to bring their dinners on that day may do so. He has also taken a new lease on Old Dripping, where cottages will be rented to any who desire quietude (only one mile apart) regular stage line between the two places.

We can not close without telling the Record readers that Col. Slaughter has been his own architect in the erection of this grand hotel, having drawn all the plans, he has supervised the work of 25 hands. To be brief, he is a wonderful man and will some day make Green Briar Springs a world-renowned summer resort where hundreds will flock to drink this rejuvenating water. May the ever-wise bless him with a prosperous season, while he in turn, so beneficently blesses the sickly members of this work-a-day world.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

Water melons, first of the season, are on the market. They are being shipped from the South.

An ice famine has struck the town. To do without a while will put the people in notion to have an ice factory here another season.

A great deal of lightning and thunder and a big rain here Saturday evening. No damage reported so far except two horses killed in the country that belonged to E. H. Burk.

Somebody from the country said the thermometer stood in the shade Friday at 110°. Guess the statement was incorrect, but judging from one's feelings it was hotter than that.

Farmers had a good time for harvesting during last week, no rain falling until Saturday evening. The wheat crop, which has been about all cut, is reported tolerably good. The prevailing complaint is too much heat.

Keith Duke, son of Wm. Duke, died Saturday night from a stroke of paralysis, which he received a few days ago. He had been at home about a year from the West, having come home on account of bad health and has never been well since. Burial in the Danville Cemetery Sunday evening.

Mr. Walter Wallace and mother have gone to Cleveland, O. where they were called by the sad intelligence of the drowning at that place of Charlie Wallace, a brother-in-law and son. A letter from Mr. W., Saturday, said the body had not been recovered yet and that he had offered a reward for the finding of it.

Mr. John Owsley died at Steve Owsley's Friday night. He died of that terrible disease, consumption. He went to New Mexico early in the spring, thinking he would get relief, but returned to this place not long since and was very low up to the time of his death. His remains were taken to Lancaster Sunday morning for burial.

Mrs. Wm. Stanley was called to Midway Friday to attend her sister, who is dangerously sick at that place. Mrs. Boly Cotton, of Kirksville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Long, at the D. & D. Institute. Mr. Ed Camp, who has been clerking for the Welsh & Wiseman Co., has resigned his position and will go to Knoxville, where he has secured a good place. His father-in-law has recently moved to that place from Louisville. Misses Martha Batterton and Sue Belle Fible will start Wednesday to Old Point Comfort to remain for a while. Miss Alice Richardson, of Somerset, passed through town Friday to visit Miss Eddie Adams, at Bryantsville.

The official count of the population of the District of Columbia, as announced by the superintendent of the census, is 229,796, a gain of something over 52,000 in ten years. The population of Chicago, under the new census, is placed at 1,085,000, and that of the United States at 64,500,000. The complete official returns will all be in within 30 days. The population by the census of 1880 was 50,155,783.

A Serious Charge.

J. W. Hooper, J. E. Green, Samuel Reid, J. M. Cook, H. Brown, G. M. Givens and other petitioners.

GENTLEMEN:—You petitioned the last Legislature to take away a 1/2 toll-gate on the Danville and Hustonville Turnpike road, and stated that the consideration that authorized its establishment, which was the bridging of Knob Lick creek, and maintaining same free of charge to the public. For this fair statement we give you credit, but you follow up your fair statement with the charge that the directors built said bridge with money illegally and fraudulently obtained. This is a serious charge to make against gentlemen, all of whom are now dead and cannot respond to the grave charge. The board of directors at that time was composed of Samuel Warren, George W. Welsh, Jackson Givens, Green T. Jones, Martin McFerran, John Yeiser and I. P. Fisher.

The present board, or its majority had the pleasure and honor of a personal acquaintance and knowledge of the deceased board, and take great pleasure in testifying to its high standing and purity of character. They were incapable of perpetrating the fraud charged or any other wrong.

The present board has endeavored to give you a first-class road and are sure it has, regardless of cost. If, however, you cannot be satisfied with any director, buy the stock and manage it to your own liking. Your county is a heavy stockholder and you through your county participate in every dollar of dividend made. Should you get control of said road, we shall ask will be to keep it in first-class condition, as we have kept it. Recently we have as you all know placed substantial iron bridges across Clark's Run and Harris' Creek.

In order that you may know what you did say in your petition, we herewith furnish a copy. We are, however, charitable and do not believe you meant all you said, but like Dr. Bohon, signed the petition on the general idea of getting cheaper toll, without reading the caption of the petition.

By order of the Board. W. WARREN, Pres.

We, citizens of Boyle and Lincoln counties, being on or near to, and who are compelled to travel over the Danville and Hustonville Turnpike road, in going to mill, in going to depots, either at Danville, Hustonville, Milledgeville, Moreland, Shelby City or Junction City, would most earnestly request and urge upon the General Assembly to repeal the amendments to the charter of said turnpike road company, which said company was permitted to erect, a one-half toll-gate on said road, in consideration of building a bridge over Knob Lick creek, and to allow and permit said company to erect gates only 4 1/2 miles apart and charge toll at each gate as though five miles had been traveled. Said bridge was built with money which came into possession of said company by charging and collecting from the traveling public more and larger tolls than by its charter was legal or right or just. Said amendments and their operation work a great hardship upon the people who live on the road and are compelled to travel over it, and was obtained by fraud as hereinbefore set out.

This petition is signed by the gentlemen whose names head this article and many others, including J. W. Allen, M. M. Sandidge, J. G. Westherford, E. P. Owsley, S. G. Drye, G. F. Peacock, Dr. P. W. Logan, G. D. Smiley, L. B. Adams, John Dinwiddie, L. C. Carpenter, &c.

Forepaugh's big elephant, Columbia, fell from the train near Pittsburgh, Pa., and was killed.

The auditor's agent in Christian county has brought suit against Ex-Sheriff Boyd for over $3,000 he owes the State for taxes collected in 1888. Boyd is a republican.

The L. & N., is believed, at Atlanta, to have secured the lease of the Western & Atlantic road for 29 years at a monthly rental of $55,000, the minimum sum fixed by the new lease law of Georgia, to which the property belongs.

A Child Killed.

MT. SALEM.

John Riffe will open school at Richland Monday, July 7th. E. Tarrant will also commence teaching on the same day near Gilpin, in Casey county. James H. Thomas, late of Dunville, will teach at the Richard's school-house this year.

Virgil Coleman requests me to correct a misstatement going the rounds to the effect that there will be a 25 cents entrance fee charged at the grand picnic in Mac Royalty's woodland, near Middleburg, July 4th. It will be free to everybody and all are wanted to have a general justification. Music, speaking, fat man's races, &c., are some of the features. No dancing this year and no liquor allowed within 200 miles of the place. Church members and all classes need not hesitate to attend.

Though there is no general epidemic prevailing in the country, yet there is a considerable amount of sickness and complaining among the people. Three weeks ago Mr. Jonas Austin, living near this place, became overpowered with heat while laboring in the field. Since then he has been confined to his room, seriously ill. Also Mrs. Mina Lucas and her little daughter, Mary, have been sick for a few days, but it is hoped not seriously. People should be very cautious this sultry weather about taking care of themselves and their manner of living.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday we were over a large portion of the bottoms of Green river and Trace Fork creek, in Casey county. On the lower wet lands we found the corn very small and sickly looking and needing rain. Irish potatoes and other vegetables looked puny and unhealthy. Late Wednesday evening a heavy rain, accompanied by wind and electricity, went down the Green river valley, reviving the growing crops and other vegetation. At William Clayd's, between this place and Middleburg, the wind was alarming and disastrous, blowing down several of the majestic locust trees in his yard and frightening his family.
