Trace family's ancestry

Members of the Lafayette Genealogical Society offer free help researching genealogical information 1-5 p.m. the second Tuesday and fourth Saturday of each month.

Anyone interested may receive assistance.

Members of the society who are experienced in genealogical research will be available to assist patrons in the Genealogy section on the second floor of the Lafayette Public Library.

Anyone wanting additional information about the library's Genealogy Collection, should phone the Information Desk at 261-5787.

The Lafayette Public Library is located at 301 West Congress Street downtown.

Genealogical

Levi Cavasso was awarded a certificate and copy of "Les Memoirs de Lafayette" for designing the publication cover at the first annual holiday banquet of the Lafayette Genealogical Society. The banquet and installation of officers was held recently in Chez Pastor.

Certificates of appreciation were also awarded to Linda Knecht as past president, and Lucien and Melba Martin for their excellent book entitled "Remember Us."

Guest speakers were Lucien and Melba Martin, and Gloria Kerns, president of Folk Finders Inc. of Baton Rouge. She informed members of the upcoming National Genealogical Society Seminar to be held in Biloxi, Miss.
