Tine	John	Mr. John Abraham Tine, of Daresbury Hall, Warrington, Unionist M.P. for the Wavertree Division of Liverpool from 1924 to 1931, died suddenly on Friday at the Palatine Club, Liverpool, at the age of 56. He was partner in the sugar firm of Sandbach, Tinne, and Co., Liverpool, and a director of their subsidiary companies in Montral and Trinidad; he was also a partner in Sandbach, Parker, and Co., Demerara, and a director of the Demerara Company, Limited. Born on November 27, 1877, the second son of the late Mr. J.E. Tinne, of Aigburth, Liverpool, he was educated at Eton, where he was in Mr. C.H. Everard's house, and Mr. C. Lowry was his tutor, and at University College, Oxford, where he graduated in 1900. He rowed in the Eton Eights, 1895-96, which won the Ladies' Plate and in the Leander crew of 1898 which won the Grand Challenge Cup. Tinne came of a family closely and long connected with the merchant trade, and was chairman of the West India Association of Liverpool, and was its representative on the Council of British Empire Producers' Organization, London. He was also chairman, and one of its foundation subscribers, of the Liverpool Citizens' Institute Association and the Merseyside Hostel at Hoylake; hon treasurer of the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine and the Blue Coat hospital; a member of the governing body of the Royal Southern Hospital; trustee of the Sailors' Home, a director of Liverpool Gas Company; and a J.P. for	1933	Sep	25
Tinne	John	The death occurred at Liverpool yesterday of Mr. John Ernest Tinne, father of Mr. J.A. Tinne, one of the Parliamentary representatives of the city. Born in 1844, Mr. Tinne, who was the son of Mr. John A. Tinne, of Demerara, was educated at Eton, where he was in Mr. F.E. Durnford's house. He will always be remembered as having been the first editor of the Eton College Chronicle in 1863, and when he went up to University College, Oxford, where he obtained classical honours, he started the Oxford Undergraduate's Journal. His brother, the late Mr. James C. Tinne, rowed in the victorious Oxford crews of 1867-8-9, and against the Harvard four in 1869. His aunt, Miss Alexine Tinne, who was murdered by the Tuaregs near Tripoli in Barbary in 1869, was known for her African explorations. Mr. Tinne's family and business have been connected with British Guiana for more than a century. In 1873 he went to Demerara and joined the firm of Sandbach, Parker, and Co., and in 1876 entered the Liverpool house of Sandbach, Tinne, and Co., of which he became senior partner. One of his partners, Mr. William Russell, who died in 1868, was the most successful planter of his day and was widely known in the West Indies as the "Sugar King". Mr. Tinne was a member of the British Guiana Court of Policy in 1878-9 and again in 1889, was first Chairman of the Botanic Gardens and of the Chamber of Commerce in Georgetown,	1925	Dec	4
