

John Franklin Kennedy

Proprietor of One of Cadiz's Well Known Dry Goods Stores--A Place Where You will Always Find the Best Goods at the Fairest of Prices

Mr. Kennedy is a native of the county and has grown up among the people whose confidence he has as man and merchant. He early showed a disposition toward commercial life, and twenty-five years ago became identified with the dry goods business, being associated with W. W. Wright and other prominent firms. In that time Mr. Kennedy has been a close student of his calling, and has become an expert buyer and dealer in this particular business. In 1899 he established his present store on Main street and now has one of the best stocked emporiums in the county, embracing a complete line of dry goods and fine carpets. His place is one of the busy ones in the city, and his trade reaches to all parts of the county.

Mr. Kennedy is prominent in the religious and commercial life of the city; is an Odd Fellow and a member of the First Presbyterian church.

Leading Marble and Granite Works in the County

MR. W. W. WEBER, Proprietor

Mr. Weber has had 28 years experience in the monument business, which enables him to be an expert judge of workmanship and material. He does only first class work and has never had a complaint against any of his work. He carries the largest stock in Eastern Ohio, and, having interests at the quarries, can sell cheaper than other firms. He defies competition on equal grades of work. His patrons are his only agents. You are always welcome to inspect his stock. Estimates cheerfully furnished.

Switch Board

One of the most progressive and enterprising business organizations of this county and one deserving special mention is the Harrison County Telephone Company.

This company is owned wholly by people within the county, not a share of stock being owned outside, with the exception of one or two who have moved and carried their stock with them. This is something few counties in the state can say, and a fact of which every one should feel proud.

They opened their leading exchange for business June 1, 1901, with 80 telephones in service. On September 1st of the same year they opened their Jewett exchange with 35 telephones in service, which was the first exchange to be installed there. Upon request of a number of citizens they extended their lines to Scio and opened an exchange there on January 1, 1903, with 75 telephones.

Besides equipping the above named towns with their excellent service they have extended this service to the rural districts and was the first company to offer the farmer telephone service within his reach. This brought the people of Harrison County together with rates prohibitive to none.

Their lines today cover the district in which they operate so well that nearly every farm house as well as those in town can have a telephone if they so desire.

They now give service to one thousand subscribers and every year shows an increase. On several occasions they found it necessary to discard a part of their office equipment and install new with a larger capacity in order to meet the demand for their service.

Within the last year they have done away with aerial wire in a part of their outside construction and replaced this with lead covered cables, which is endorsed by all engineers as the best for telephone service; and in order to keep the service up to the highest standard possible they have made arrangements to equip their entire system with the same construction.

So well has this company looked after the interest of the people in the county that they did not content themselves with local service alone, but built toll lines connecting most all towns in the county and giving the same excellent service as their local lines.

They have also made arrangements with the United States Telephone Company and others for long distance service to all the principal cities and towns in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana and other states, giving service to about 300,000 telephones in the state of Ohio alone, and about 3,200,000 in the other states.

The worthy men who are at the head of this company and have labored to bring this wonderful invention into the homes with the assistance of the stockholders are:

R. Cunningham, W. W. Wright, M. Schreiber, C. M. Osburn, M. Moorhead, S. M. Sawvell, H. M. Thompson, E. E. Tope and J. Smith, who are the directors.

The present officers are: R. Cunningham, president; W. W. Wright, vice president; J. F. Smith, secretary; and J. M. Schreiber, treasurer. The people have not only provided a ready messenger night or day to neighbors or nearby towns, but made arrangements whereby you get in instant communication the thousands of telephones and other states; and should be called the Harrison County Telephone Company, run by the people in the county to best meet their needs. The policy of this company has always been: telephone service within reach of all and best service the rates will provide.
