

J. P. WARNICK

Harrison County's Prominent and Successful Contractor

MR. J. P. WARNICK, MISS LENORA WARNICK, MRS. J. P. WARNICK
And a View of the Fine Work Teams Used by Contractor Warnick

MR. J. P. WARNICK, the subject of this sketch, is a native of Guernsey county, the son of James and Sarah Jane Warnick, and was born on the farm in 1866. Mr. Warnick stuck the farm until 1895, making a success of agriculture as he has in life. When he discontinued that work, he moved to Cadiz, began the business of a general contractor and builder of bridges and macadamized roads. His work in Harrison county includes most of the fine steel bridges and concrete approaches that now span the many streams of the county.

The pikes and macadamized roadways lately constructed and which have been of such inestimable value to the people, making traffic a pleasure where it was once an expensive burden, as well as enhancing farm property, are the work of Mr. Warnick. One of the longest stretches of macadamized road is the eight mile one from Cadiz to Laceyville.

Mr. Warnick is busy all the time, and besides his large number of horses, rollers and crushers, employs from sixty to seventy men.

He is also an extensive buyer and seller of all kinds of horses.

The illustration will give you an idea of the magnitude of his appurtenances for business as well as fine likenesses of himself, his wife and his daughter Lenora, all residing in a handsome home on Warren street, Cadiz, Ohio.
