NEWSPAPER Issue of AUGUST 19, 1846

A poor unfortunate young man, apparently idiotic, yesterday was wandering about our streets in a very helpless situation. He calls himself Reuben WHITE and says he is from Pickens. We make these remarks with the hope that they may meet the eye of his friends who should promptly attend to him.

OBITUARY

Died, of a congestive chill on Monday the 10th inst., Maj. Archibald ARNOLD, in the 51st year of his age. Death is abroad in the land. Not a day rolls by but it burdens our records with narratives of tribulation and grief. None can foretell what a day or an hour may bring forth. Today we mingle with our friends and relatives in all the sweets of life's enjoyment, unmindful, that tomorrow may call us to pay the last debt of regard in following the once cheerful and gay, now in breathless sleep, with sorrow, to the tomb.

But a few days since, Major Arnold lived in the full enjoyment of earthly happiness. His cheerful manner and kind disposition were a rich boon to all who enjoyed his companionship. As a benefactor, he was liberal to the full extent of his means. The weary or distressed were never turned from his door uncomforted.

The coverture of his house was alike welcome to the stranger guest and intimate friend. In him, many will mourn the loss of an esteemed relative, many more, the loss of a friend, and all, the loss of a useful citizen.

As a husband, none but a faithful and devoted wife, but now a bereaved widow, can appreciate the loss. As a parent, an excess of kindness was perhaps his greatest fault; three children are left to feel its want.

Fifty- one years have marked the period of his earthly pilgrimage. Thus long has he been spared to the enjoyment of his friends and family. For many years he has lived a member and enjoyed the Christian privileges of the M.E. Church. He maintained a life, even in advanced age, for activity and business, which the young and vigorous might be proud to imitate, ever manifesting the greatest concern for the welfare of his household.

But death has snatched him from earthly care. Alas, he sinks beneath the stroke of time. That familiar face has ceased to smile; that cheerful voice no longer animates the prating babe or solaces the wife of its bosom. May Heaven sustain the family under this sad affliction. Heaven, husband the widow and father the orphans. Peace to thee, O shade of the departed! Rest, for the race is run, rest, for the strife is over. Tomorrow's sun may light again the busy theatre of life; but thou shall toil no more. God bless the living and the dead.

LAND FOR SALE

I will sell to the highest bidder at Abbeville courthouse on Sale Day in October next, the tract of Land on which I now reside. It lies 16 miles west of the courthouse within two miles of the Savannah River, and contains 385 1/2 acres, 200 in cultivation and the balance in well timbered woodland.
