Shropshire—Herefordshire.

[Nov.]

of the Theatre Royal, to Miss Cushing, of Norwich.—Mr. W. Bartlett, of Redditch, to Eliza, daughter of R. Smith, esq. of Elsham Grove. —Mr. T. Lane, japanner, of Birmingham, to the eldest daughter of Mr. P. Guttfle, of Hockley.—Mr. G. C. Lingham, of Birmingham, to Miss J. Tooke, of Hockley.—Mr. W. Jenkins, of Minworth Mill, to the eldest daughter of Mr. W. Cutter, of Minworth.

Died.—At Birmingham, S. and Mary, wife of Mr. J. Wright; at Moseley, Mr. G. Anstey, 70.—Mr. J. Clark, of the Green Man, 63.—Mr. J. Churton, vannish-maker.—Mr. Todd, wife of Mr. W. T. Butcher, at West Bromwich; her eldest daughter, Mrs. J. Wright, of Moseley, Mary, wife of Mr. J. Williams, supervisor. —Mr. W. Harrison, 74.—Mr. T. Taylor. —At Clifton, Mrs. S. Holloway, of the Swan Inn.—At Dudley, at S. Gulton's, esq., 53, Mrs. L. A. Patterson. —J. Dickinson, esq. of Summer Hill Terrace, at Moseley, from trade; he found materials for active in selling the testamentary affairs of the dead, and in the disputes of the living, in prosecuting parochial concerns, in administering to the wants of the sick, and in superintending the affairs of the Christian Society, of which he was a member.

At Hastings, Mr. W. Clegg.—At Knowle, Thomas Knight, second son of the Rev. Thomas Blayney, of Knowle, Warwickshire, and member of Worcester College, Oxford.

SHROPSHIRE.

In the late courts, the judges noticed a prevailing practice of committing prisoners to jail till the quarter sessions, though the necessity may be fancied to arise from trade, but found materials for activity in selling the testamentary affairs of the dead, and in the disputes of the living, in prosecuting parochial concerns, in administering to the wants of the sick, and in superintending the affairs of the Christian Society, of which he was a member.

At Hastings, Mr. W. Clegg.—At Knowle, Thomas Knight, second son of the Rev. Thomas Blayney, of Knowle, Warwickshire, and member of Worcester College, Oxford.

at Moseley, Esq. of Summer Hill Terrace, from trade; he found materials for active in selling the testamentary affairs of the dead, and in the disputes of the living, in prosecuting parochial concerns, in administering to the wants of the sick, and in superintending the affairs of the Christian Society, of which he was a member.

At Hastings, Mr. W. Clegg.—At Knowle, Thomas Knight, second son of the Rev. Thomas Blayney, of Knowle, Warwickshire, and member of Worcester College, Oxford.

SHROPSHIRE.

In the late courts, the judges noticed a prevailing practice of committing prisoners to jail till the quarter sessions, though the necessity may be fancied to arise from trade; but found materials for activity in selling the testamentary affairs of the dead, and in the disputes of the living, in prosecuting parochial concerns, in administering to the wants of the sick, and in superintending the affairs of the Christian Society, of which he was a member.

At Hastings, Mr. W. Clegg.—At Knowle, Thomas Knight, second son of the Rev. Thomas Blayney, of Knowle, Warwickshire, and member of Worcester College, Oxford.

SHROPSHIRE.

In the late courts, the judges noticed a prevailing practice of committing prisoners to jail till the quarter sessions, though the necessity may be fancied to arise from trade; but found materials for activity in selling the testamentary affairs of the dead, and in the disputes of the living, in prosecuting parochial concerns, in administering to the wants of the sick, and in superintending the affairs of the Christian Society, of which he was a member.

At Hastings, Mr. W. Clegg.—At Knowle, Thomas Knight, second son of the Rev. Thomas Blayney, of Knowle, Warwickshire, and member of Worcester College, Oxford.

SHROPSHIRE.

In the late courts, the judges noticed a prevailing practice of committing prisoners to jail till the quarter sessions, though the necessity may be fancied to arise from trade; but found materials for activity in selling the testamentary affairs of the dead, and in the disputes of the living, in prosecuting parochial concerns, in administering to the wants of the sick, and in superintending the affairs of the Christian Society, of which he was a member.

At Hastings, Mr. W. Clegg.—At Knowle, Thomas Knight, second son of the Rev. Thomas Blayney, of Knowle, Warwickshire, and member of Worcester College, Oxford.

SHROPSHIRE.

In the late courts, the judges noticed a prevailing practice of committing prisoners to jail till the quarter sessions, though the necessity may be fancied to arise from trade; but found materials for activity in selling the testamentary affairs of the dead, and in the disputes of the living, in prosecuting parochial concerns, in administering to the wants of the sick, and in superintending the affairs of the Christian Society, of which he was a member.

At Hastings, Mr. W. Clegg.—At Knowle, Thomas Knight, second son of the Rev. Thomas Blayney, of Knowle, Warwickshire, and member of Worcester College, Oxford.

SHROPSHIRE.

In the late courts, the judges noticed a prevailing practice of committing prisoners to jail till the quarter sessions, though the necessity may be fancied to arise from trade; but found materials for activity in selling the testamentary affairs of the dead, and in the disputes of the living, in prosecuting parochial concerns, in administering to the wants of the sick, and in superintending the affairs of the Christian Society, of which he was a member.

At Hastings, Mr. W. Clegg.—At Knowle, Thomas Knight, second son of the Rev. Thomas Blayney, of Knowle, Warwickshire, and member of Worcester College, Oxford.

SHROPSHIRE.

In the late courts, the judges noticed a prevailing practice of committing prisoners to jail till the quarter sessions, though the necessity may be fancied to arise from trade; but found materials for activity in selling the testamentary affairs of the dead, and in the disputes of the living, in prosecuting parochial concerns, in administering to the wants of the sick, and in superintending the affairs of the Christian Society, of which he was a member.

At Hastings, Mr. W. Clegg.—At Knowle, Thomas Knight, second son of the Rev. Thomas Blayney, of Knowle, Warwickshire, and member of Worcester College, Oxford.

SHROPSHIRE.

In the late courts, the judges noticed a prevailing practice of committing prisoners to jail till the quarter sessions, though the necessity may be fancied to arise from trade; but found materials for activity in selling the testamentary affairs of the dead, and in the disputes of the living, in prosecuting parochial concerns, in administering to the wants of the sick, and in superintending the affairs of the Christian Society, of which he was a member.

At Hastings, Mr. W. Clegg.—At Knowle, Thomas Knight, second son of the Rev. Thomas Blayney, of Knowle, Warwickshire, and member of Worcester College, Oxford.

SHROPSHIRE.

In the late courts, the judges noticed a prevailing practice of committing prisoners to jail till the quarter sessions, though the necessity may be fancied to arise from trade; but found materials for activity in selling the testamentary affairs of the dead, and in the disputes of the living, in prosecuting parochial concerns, in administering to the wants of the sick, and in superintending the affairs of the Christian Society, of which he was a member.

At Hastings, Mr. W. Clegg.—At Knowle, Thomas Knight, second son of the Rev. Thomas Blayney, of Knowle, Warwickshire, and member of Worcester College, Oxford.

SHROPSHIRE.

In the late courts, the judges noticed a prevailing practice of committing prisoners to jail till the quarter sessions, though the necessity may be fancied to arise from trade; but found materials for activity in selling the testamentary affairs of the dead, and in the disputes of the living, in prosecuting parochial concerns, in administering to the wants of the sick, and in superintending the affairs of the Christian Society, of which he was a member.

At Hastings, Mr. W. Clegg.—At Knowle, Thomas Knight, second son of the Rev. Thomas Blayney, of Knowle, Warwickshire, and member of Worcester College, Oxford.

SHROPSHIRE.

In the late courts, the judges noticed a prevailing practice of committing prisoners to jail till the quarter sessions, though the necessity may be fancied to arise from trade; but found materials for activity in selling the testamentary affairs of the dead, and in the disputes of the living, in prosecuting parochial concerns, in administering to the wants of the sick, and in superintending the affairs of the Christian Society, of which he was a member.

At Hastings, Mr. W. Clegg.—At Knowle, Thomas Knight, second son of the Rev. Thomas Blayney, of Knowle, Warwickshire, and member of Worcester College, Oxford.

1821.

W. King, esq. of Queen's College, 22. His horse had thrown him, and he was found suffocated in a ditch, covered with mud and water.

At Newобш, in his 30th year, Mr. J. Bellingham.

At Whitechurch, Julia, wife of H. P. Powys, esq.

A vessel denoted to WORCESTERSHIRE AND BERKSHIRE.

A well is now sinking in Windsor Great Park, wherein many curious minerals have been found. Among the fossil, among other fossils, a perfect specimen of an oyster shell was dug out, also a very singular example of its preservation. Its double double, which are about two inches long, have been broken off. The face of the shell is an ivory white. It is a tricolor, and bears a fine polish, also a brown substance, like the back of a small bird.

A new bridge over the Thames from Windsor to Eton, which has been for some time in contemplation, is now continued for, to be finished by November 30th, 1822.

At Windsor, 81, Mrs. Goddard, at Maidenhead, 37, Mrs. of Whitehall, at Marlborough, 7th year, Mrs. M. Dickman.

At Parnham, Miss Bartholomew.

At Abingdon, in his 75th year, Mr. J. Fetherby.

At Thatcham, in his 12th year, Stephen, eldest son of S. Priest, of Bristol. W. Y. Mills, esq. of Wadley House, justice of the peace for the counties of Gloucester and Berks.

At Notting Hill, 68, H. Robins, esq. of the Great Piazza, Covent Garden.—J. E. Lindsay, esq. of Coldharbour Lane, of Reading, magistrate and deputy-lieut. of Berkshire.

At Begow, near Herford, Mr. C. Macwilliam, of York-street, Portman-square, to F. Morin, 22nd daughter of Mr. Eliott, of 14, Drury-lane. —Mr. N. Packer, of Token House Yard, London, to Eliza, daughter of the late Rev. T. English, of Woburn.

At Cheadle, Ann, wife of T. Aldridge, esq.

At Woburn Park, 60, Mr. R. Salomon, minister of thirty years' residence in the parish of Cheadle, and present Duke of Bedford.

At Chalfont, St. Giles, 34, Mr. A.