

Descendants of Alexander Symes

Generation No. 1

1. ALEXANDER<sup>1</sup> SYMES<sup>1</sup> was born Abt. 1725 in Scotland<sup>1</sup>, and died 1787 in Ryegate, Caledonia, VT<sup>1</sup>. He married AGNES GARDNER<sup>1</sup> Jun 11, 1748 in Kilbarchen, Scotland<sup>1</sup>. She was born Abt. 1725 in Scotland<sup>1</sup>, and died 1790 in Ryegate, Caledonia, VT<sup>1</sup>.

Notes for ALEXANDER SYMES:

Alexander came to Ryegate, VT in May 1774 as part of the Scots American Company, and was the first who brought a family into the town. On the list of those coming at that time, he is put down as belonging to the "Barony Parish of North Kenmuir, Glasgow", and by trade a "gardener". Later research, in Scotland, found a burgess issued to Alexander Syme as a "millwright". Two of his five children came to Ryegate with Alexander and their moter, Agnes. Agnes maiden name was Gardner, perhaps explaining the idea that he was a gardener. Campbell, age 17 at the time, and Agnes, 22, were the children accompanying them. Agnes married James Henderson, in 1777, the first marriage in Ryegate. Alexander and Agnes are believed to have been original members of the Associate Presbyterian Church. Both were bried in the "Old Scotch American Cemetery" in Ryegate, but no trace of that cemetery exists today.

Records in Paisley, Scotland, show his name as "Alexander Syme" - old parish records of his marriage to Agnes Gardner, and the birth of their children. In the "History of Ryegate, Vermont", two different spellings are shown - "Sym" and "Symmes" - in addition to the local spelling at the time the history was published - "Symes". In financial documents, between Alexander and Scots American Company, executed in 1773, his name was spelled both "Syme" and "Sym", but his signature clearly seems to be "Syme".

Notes for ABIGAIL DOYEN:

"History of Ryegate, Vermont" refers to a brother JOHN living in Ryegate, but "History of Pembroke, New Hampshire" lists only three brothers, Daniel, James and Robert. Daniel, the oldest, married someone from Ryegate, so perhaps "John" and Daniel are the same person. However, it is more likely that "John" and James are the same person, since "John" is referred to in the "History of Ryegate" as Abigail's younger brother, and there are some name matches for children of "John" (in Ryegate history) and James (in Pembroke history).

Notes for REV. JOHN HENDERSON SYMMES:

Rev. John Henderson Symmes pursued theological studies in the Seminary of the Reformed Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia; united with the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, and became pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Columbia, Lancaster County, PA, in the autumn of 1833. In 1840, he became pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Lansingburg, NY, and in 1844 became pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Cumberland City, MD. In 1862, the War of the Rebellion having broken out, and nearly all the families of wealth and social influence taking part with the rebels, and Rev. Symmes not able to sympathize with them, the church in Cumberland was nearly broken up, and he resigned his pastoral charge. Being strongly urged to become chaplain of the Second Regiment of Maryland Volunteer Infantry, composed principally of men from Cumberland and the vicinity, he yielded and served in that capacity three years. In 1867 he became pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Conshohocken, PA, serving at least through October 1872. (Source: "The Symmes Memorial" - Appendix II)

She was born Apr 10, 1808 in Ryegate, Caledonia, VT<sup>5</sup>, and died Jul 26, 1881 in Ryegate, Caledonia, VT<sup>5</sup>.

Notes for ROBERT SYMMES:

From obituary in St. Johnsbury, VT newspaper, January 16, 1880:

Capt. Robert Symmes was born in Ryegate, April 6, 1796, of Scotch and Irish descent. He died in Ryegate, Jan. 5, 1880, of paralysis. He was for a long time one of the leading, active and influential men of his town. He joined the Covenanter church in 1820, and was a member several years. When the Light Infantry of Ryegate was formed (about 1826), Symmes was chosen the first captain - he had been Orderly Sergeant in the old militia company - he trained and drilled the men, but on account of the oath, he being a Covenanter, and also on account of an unpleasant scrimmage in a sham fight on Gray's Hill with the old militia and volunteer Co., he never took out his commission. He joined in the New Light movement, when the majority of the Covenanter church adopted the rule for voting, and was an Elder in their church many years. About 1855 he left that society and united with the United Presbyterian church in Ryegate, and was elected an elder and installed Oct. 16, 1856. He was for many years their leader in singing in the congregation. He was a farmer, and an excellent mechanic - in 1824 building with his own hands his dwelling house, which will compare favorably with farm house built at the present day (2004 - it is still in use). He was married Jan. 24, 1826, to Jane Hall of Ryegate, and has had 11 children, who lived to be men and women. Eight are now living, two sons and six daughters. He had a keen caustic tongue that would cut like a two edged sword, but did not descend to low abuse or slander. His tall form will now be missed from the active life which he improved so well.

Robert was a farmer and an excellent mechanic, building his own house in 1824 (still standing, and in use, in 2004). When he was building his house, Old Willie Nelson came along, and stopping to talk with him addressed him in his brusque blunt way, "Rob, you're a fule, you're a fule". "Oh, I know all that now" says Rob, "tell me something I don't know". The old man went on, "The birds first pair and then bild their nest, and when finished it suits both. Now you will go on and build your house and make it exactly right, as you think, and when you get married and bring your wife home to it she will look it over and find this and that wrong and she will say, 'Rob, take this out; Rob, take this down', and the other prizes handiwork, 'Throw it away, I don't want it'. And so it will be with your most cherished plans, whereas if you had married first you would get it satisfactory at the start, and save all remodeling".

And" said Mr. Symes half a centry later, "it turned out that the old man was right". Robert took a wife in 1826, two years after building the house. (From the History of Ryegate, VT_

She was born Jan 10, 1845 in Ryegate, Caledonia, VT<sup>11</sup>, and died Apr 20, 1921 in Ryegate, Caledonia, VT<sup>11</sup>.

Notes for JOHN HENDERSON SYMES:

Born John H. Symmes - changed his last name to "Symes" sometime after he was an adult, after he was married, and after military service in 1863.

From a Grand Army of the Republic personal war sketch, John said, "I took part in the following battles: Kinston, North Carolina, Dec. 14, 1862, Whitehall, North Carolina, Dec. 16, 1862, and Goldsboro, North Carolina, Dec. 17, 1862. My most intimate comrades in the service William Symes, Hugh Burke, Hollis Morrill, Leonard Arnold and Sergeant Kingsly. Oscarl Snell, Charles Ingram and Hugh Burke were my three bunk-mates, and only one came home alive. The most critical event that happened during my service occurred during the Battle of Whitehall. While supporting a battery, I heard a piece of a shell screeching through the air and I raised myself up to see where it was. When I lay down again, I covered the hole where it had gone into the ground. In the same battle, the color bearer was killed within four feet of where I lay." (Source: Records of Grand Army of the Republic, Wells River Chapter, in Baldwin Library, Wells River, VT)

On March 25, 1876 Robert and Jane Symmes entered into a lease agreement with their son, John H. Symmes covering "their farm in Ryegate which they now occupy and known as their homestead farm." The lease included "all the livestock, farming tools, and personal property." John was to "pay all taxes assessed on said farm and stock while in possession of the same." He was also charged with the responsibility to "use and improve the said premisses in good husbandlike manner." The lease specified that John should "provide for supply, support and comfortably maintain his parents during their natural lives, furnishing them from time to time with all needful and suitable food and clothing and all the comforts and conveniences of life suitable to their rank." And "provide them with suitable team or conveyance to church and to visit their friends as often as they may reasonably require, and shall entertain any friends who may visit them." Robert and Jane "reserved for their own use the north front room and bedroom off the same, also middle bedroom and closet. The building known as the shop may be used in common as repair shop and repository for tools." The lease also provided that John would have a lien against the estate to cover improvements to the property, increase in productivity of the land and expenses incurred in the medical care of his parents. An appraisal of the property valued the "homestead farm" at $2000.00, livestock at $450.00, supplies at $132.85 and tools at $337.88 for a total of $2920.73. Following the death of his parents, John H. Symmes acquired the farm in January 1882. (Source: Land Records, Town Clerks Office, Ryegate, VT)

Notes for ROBERT HARVEY SYMES:

George Hall Symes joined his brother, Robert H. Symes, as a partner in a bicycle business in Wells River, VT in 1900. The two brothers bought the first automobile that came into their territory, about the year 1904, and found that their experience as bicycle dealers and repairmen fitted them admirably to become dealers in the new "horseless carriages." They chose Reo, because of a relationship with Mr. Horace T. Thomas, chief engineer and vice-president of Reo, and a native of Ryegate, VT. It was in 1912 that they actually signed their Reo contract. Their history was one of consistent growth, ultimately purchasing a larger building on Main Street. They later enlarged this building, by adding a service station, equipped with lathes, presses, forge, welding outfit, and other modern service machinery. They continued to sell Reos, until they no longer manufactured cars (early 1930s). Symes Brothers garage remained a viable business in Wells River until 1945.

Their "firsts" included first car dealer in the area, first gas station in the area, and first driver examiner for the State of Vermont in the area. (Source: "The Linscott Reo-Gram", February 1924, in personal files of Horace Symes, Jr.)

Bert was an excellent machinist, and a gunsmith of some note. He reportedly made at least three rifles, barrel, all working parts and the gunstock. He made many gunstocks, for himself, and others, as a hobby.

He graduated from St. Johnsbury Academy, St. Johnsbury, VT. Later he moved to Burlington, VT where he was employed at the Burlington Grocery Co. as stock foreman. He married (2) HANNAH MABEL HOLMES<sup>20</sup> Jun 20, 1917 in South Ryegate, Caledonia, VT<sup>20</sup>, daughter of EDWIN HOLMES and CHARLOTTE MORRISON. She was born Mar 01, 1880 in Groton, Caledonia, VT<sup>20</sup>, and died Mar 11, 1970 in Wells River, VT<sup>20</sup>.

Notes for GEORGE HALL SYMES:

George Hall Symes joined his brother, Robert H. Symes, as a partner in a bicycle business in Wells River, VT in 1900. The two brothers bought the first automobile that came into their territory, about the year 1904, and found that their experience as bicycle dealers and repairmen fitted them admirably to become dealers in the new "horseless carriages." They chose Reo, because of a relationship with Mr. Horace T. Thomas, chief engineer and vice-president of Reo, and a native of Ryegate, VT. It was in 1912 that they actually signed their Reo contract. Their history was one of consistent growth, ultimately purchasing a larger building on Main Street. They later enlarged this building, by adding a service station, equipped with lathes, presses, forge, welding outfit, and other modern service machinery. They continued to sell Reos, until they no longer manufactured cars (early 1930s). Symes Brothers garage remained a viable business in Wells River until 1945.

Their "firsts" included first car dealer in the area, first gas station in the area, and first driver examiner for the State of Vermont in the area. (Source: "The Linscott Reo-Gram", February 1924, in personal files of Horace Symes, Jr.)

The first mechanized fire equipment in Wells River, VT was a 1923 Reo fire truck, presumably purchased from Symes Brothers Garage, the local Reo dealer. The truck served the village until 1945, and was re-acquired in 2001, restored and exhibited in area parades.

Birth records of the Town of Ryegate do not show George Hall Symes as the child born to John and Phebe Symes on June 13, 1870 - those records show the boy to be named Alexander Harvey Symes. Apparently the name was changed after being recorded at the Town Clerk Office.

George H. Symes was married the first time, to Gertrude Sweetman, in February 1902, in Minnesota, but they set up housekeeping in Wells River, VT where he was in business with his brother. Her parents later came to Vermont, and George and his father-in-law built a house in Wells River, completing it in 1914. Both families occupied the house until Gertrude died in 1916, leaving George with a 10 year old daughter; soon the Sweetmans moved back to Minnesota. In 1917 George married his brother Horace's widow, Hannah Holmes Symes, and the house became their home, now with four children. The house has always been in the Syme family, occupied in 2006 by Stephen Symes who has lived there since 1982.
